Hornet's Nest Ready for Enemy Aircraft

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Times Staff Reporter

SEATTLE, Washington—Should enemy aircraft ever attack the North American continent they will be in for a warm welcome.

Canadian and American newsmen received that assurance today on being shown some of the latest defence equipment now being manufactured at the Boeing Airplane Company's plant.

We are here as guests of the North American Air Defence Command (NORAD)—an organization set up to control all North America's air defence forces in wartime, with Canada and the U.S. participating as equal partners.

And NORAD officials are sparing no effort to show us how the newly-integrated Canada-U.S. air defence system would operate in an emergency.

There is, for instance, the BOMARC IM-99 pilotless interceptor, now entering on a new operational phase.

The BOMARC is the first unmanned interceptor scheduled for operational use in the North American Air Defence system. It is capable of carrying a nuclear war head and of knocking down enemy bombers flying at extremely high altitudes.

The missile has already made spectacular interceptions of drone aircraft in a continuing series of firings at Patrick Air Force Base, Florida, and it will soon be tested under actual operational conditions.

It is described as the longest-ranged supersonic ground-to-air missile in the NORAD arsenal.

It has a wing span of 18 feet, weighs about 15,000 pounds and stands at 47 feet before launching. It is powered initially on take-off by a rocket engine but, once speed is attained, two air-breathing ram-jet engines take over.

The ram-jet engine differs from the regular jet engine in that it has no spinning turbine blades to compress the atmosphere before it is put in motion.

Compression for the ram-jet is supplied entirely by the high-speed impact of the engine's intake.

Importance of the Bomarc in the NORAD scheme of air defence was highlighted recently by an announcement from U.S. Air Force headquarters.

It disclosed that, in spite of a current military austerity program, $139,000,000 has been earmarked for quantity production of the Bomarc.

First step in the new program is the construction of a tactical Bomarc launching site complete with all equipment and communications necessary to put the ground-to-air supersonic missile on a ready-to-fire basis.

Through practical tests NORAD will determine the tactical suitability of the ramjet-powered interceptor, its launching, guidance, support and testing equipment.

The base will also be used to train NORAD personnel in operation of the missile from field assembly to firing.

Three key staff officers from NORAD headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colorado, gave newsmen an operational briefing to show how the combined Canada-U.S. group would swing into action in event of an enemy air attack.

Air Commodore A. D. Ross, commander 5th Air Division, Royal Canadian Air Force, Vancouver, presented a report on the Canadian portion of NORAD.

New UN Session Gets Underway

Smith Plans Early Statement On Policy of Canadian Gov't

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Another General Assembly of the United Nations—the 12th since the world organization was created after the Second World War—was called today for another session of dealing with global problems on a parliamentary level.

Sidney Smith, Canada's new external affairs minister, was on hand for the opening session.

After his arrival from Ottawa late Monday Smith conferred with Canadian delegation members.

Smith plans to make a major Canadian policy statement before the assembly early in session.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker is expected to arrive some time next weekend to make a brief appearance in the assembly and the external affairs minister's speech more than likely will be timed to coincide with this visit.

Among the first matters for consideration by the 12th assembly was election of a new president to succeed Prince Wan, Sir Leslie Munro, 56-year-old New Zealand journalist, was expected to win the post by a narrow margin despite strong last-minute opposition by supporters of Lebanon's Charles Malik.

In previous years the presidential election was a formality, with the candidate having been settled in advance in an unofficial system of "turns" for various groups.

This time the Soviet bloc, which earlier had expressed no opposition to Munro, was reported using its influence for Malik in exchange for Asian-African support in the election for the new members of the Security Council. The Russians want Czechoslovakia to get the non-permanent seat opening now, while the United States has been backing Japan, a new Asian UN member.

Malik's other supporters pointed out that he would be a good choice since the Middle East still a major subject during the coming session. He is himself a Middle East leader, but has never been hostile to the West and has had personal contacts in the U.S. ever since his college days when he starred in American intercollegiate football.

AFL-CIO Set To Oust Teamsters

NEW YORK (AP) — The AFL-CIO ethical practices committee was reported today to have set the stage for possible suspension or ouster of the teamsters' union from the merged labor federation.

The committee was said to have authorized drafting of a report declaring the truck union is under corrupt influence in violation of the anti-racketeering provisions of the AFL-CIO constitution.

The committee was reported to have upheld charges of racketeering, misuse of union funds and other corruption at a closed meeting here Monday.

This development was reported shortly after Senator John McClellan (Dem., Ark.), chairman of the Senate committee investigating rackets in labor and management, announced in Washington that the committee plans to resume its investigation of James R. Hoffa, a vice-president of the teamsters. The hearing were scheduled to start Sept. 24.

Libel Jury Out

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jury buckles down today to the task of sifting a verdict from an avalanche of scandal - saturated testimony in the Confidential magazine criminal libel trial. The case went to the jury late Monday afternoon.

BIG STORM THREATENS LOUISIANA

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Louisiana coastal residents were warned today, for the third time in three months, to prepare for possible evacuation in the face of a tropical storm moving northward through the Gulf of Mexico.

The U.S. weather bureau said that tropical storm Esther, packing 50-mile an hour winds, was centred about 270 miles south of the west Louisiana coast. It was moving northward at a forward speed of 10 miles an hour.

Mothers Act To Forestall Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—A Little Rock lawyer sought a delaying action today that could block federal intervention in the city's embittered integration dispute for up to three months.

Attorney Griffin Smith, Jr., representing the Central High School Mothers' League, mailed an appeal to the eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis against a forthwith integration order handed down Aug. 30 by U.S. District Judge Ronald Davies.

Even though Smith said he plans to carry on "as soon as possible," he legally has 90 days from the time his appeal is filed to state his case in the appellate court.

Thus Smith's appeal could forestall any federal action to force Governor Orval E. Faubus to remove national guards troops from Central High, until the higher court hears the appeal and makes its decision.

DIEFENBAKER NOW 'RT. HON.'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Queen has approved an order entitling Prime Minister Diefenbaker to be styled "the right honorable," his office said today.

Word had been received from London Monday that she had approved the order, a result of Mr. Diefenbaker's appointment to the Queen's Privy Council, announced by Prime Minister Macmillan of the United Kingdom Sunday.

Petes Fail in Bid To Block Playoff

Long Branch Pontiacs will arrive in Victoria to meet Victoria Shamrocks Wednesday night in the Mann Cup Dominion boxla finals, Canadian Lacrosse officials reported at press time today.

Confirmation of the Long Branch replacement for Peterborough Timbermen stalled a last-ditch effort of the Petes to block the series

Tommy Gordon, secretary of the Canadian Lacrosse Association announced the Pontiacs would open a best-of-seven series for the Mann Cup at Memorial Arena at 8.30.

Gordon said that confirmation of the Pontiacs' arrival had come from Chuck Rowan of Dundas, Ont., second vice-president of the CLA.

Pontiacs will replace Peterborough Timbermen, suspended indefinitely when they refused to play the scheduled opening game of the original series here Monday night.

Peterborough refused to play in Monday night's opener against the Shamrocks because scoring star Bobby Allan was ruled ineligible.

Pontiacs finished only two points behind the Petes in the Ontario Senior Lacrosse League this season.

Allan was declared ineligible because he signed two player forms this year—one for Nanaimo and one for Peterborough.

The game was cancelled and 3,300 fans went home angry, disappointed and confused.

Peterborough officials and players were suspended indefinitely.

While CLA officials here finalized plans for Long Branch Pontiacs to replace the Petes, Peterborough officials in the east started a move to block the Long Branch club from participation in the series.

The Petes, stranded here, were keeping telephone lines between their hotel and Peterborough sizzling and declining comment on their next actions.

In Peterborough, club directors were up in arms over the suspension of the eastern champions.

A spokesman for Peterborough directors said they had been informed that Fred Conrad of St. Catherines, vice-president of the Ontario Lacrosse Association had agreed to call an OLA meeting on the matter.

Long Branch manager Frank Ruse told CLA officials he was delighted at the opportunity to play.

CLA president Ted Blair and other CLA officials in Victoria were also attempting to decide on punishment for the Petes.

Blair stated Monday night that he favored life suspensions from lacrosse and all amateur sports for club officials and most of the players. It is believed a few of the younger players may escape suspension because they had no active part in the team's decision.

The Peterborough club took the view that CLA officials should have asked the CLA for a replacement rather than contacting the Pontiacs directly.

CLA officials said Peterborough had been told that Allan was ineligible to play last June and again on Aug. 12. Allan was reported to have signed

Pull Out Armed Guards Mayor's Plea to Faubus

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Little Rock Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann formally appealed to Governor Orval Faubus today to withdraw armed guards from Central High School in the interest of "compliance with law and order."

The mayor's statement came in the wake of these developments in the clash over integration of the races:

1. The U.S. district-attorney's office disclosed it has drawn up a list of "about 200" names of persons who may be subpoenaed to appear at Friday's hearing on a petition for a preliminary injunction against Faubus.

2. Representative Brooks Hays (Dem., Ark.) came from a conference with the governor and said they would go on with their talks later today. Asked about the possibility of a settlement of the controversy before Friday, Hays said: "I don't think I am in a position to discuss that."

Hays is the Arkansas Democrat who helped arrange Saturday's meeting between President Eisenhower and Faubus.

The contingent of guardsmen, who have kept Negroes from entering the 2,000-pupil school at Faubus' direction, was reduced to about a dozen today.

Negro Pupils Enrolled In Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (CP) — Negro students enrolled in the first grades of previously all-white elementary schools went back to classes today under protection of a federal court injunction and vigilant city police.

There were no incidents whatever, in contrast to disorders at the start of mixed first-grade classes last week which were climaxed by a school dynamiting.

Sharply-increased attendance was recorded at the six integrated schools, where last week's violence kept hundreds of children at home.

Back in operation was the Hattie Cotton school, where a dynamite blast last Tuesday caused heavy damage. Classes were being conducted on a morning and afternoon schedule in undamaged or hastily-repaired classrooms. The one Negro enrolled there did not show up today.

WIRE BRIEFS

Bomber Crashes, Crew Sighted

HALIFAX (CP)—A United States B-47 jet bomber crashed today into the Gulf of St. Lawrence, about 100 miles northeast of Sydney. RCAF search and rescue officials said the crew of the bomber escaped.

Search and rescue officials here said five life rafts were dropped to the three men. They said they did not know immediately how the airmen will be picked up in the cloudy, windswept gulf, about 100 miles northeast of Sydney.

Jet Decision Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservative government is considering whether to cancel or stretch out production of the Mark VI version of the CF-100 jet interceptor, usually reliable sources said today. Decision is expected in two weeks.

Russ Jets Too Noisy

LONDON (UP) — The British government asked Russia today to keep its TU-104 jet airliner away from London airport during the night because it makes so much noise.

Asiatic Flu Spreads Through British Navy

LONDON (AP) — Outbreaks of suspected Asian flu spread today through the Royal Navy and threatened to close schools and industry in some parts of Britain.

Four ships scheduled to take part in the NATO Exercise Strikeback stayed behind when the rest of the allied fleet sailed for the rendezvous point.

The navy's worst outbreak was at HMS Ganges, a training establishment near Ipswich on the English east coast, where 631 cases were reported.

The illness also struck at crews of three destroyers in the Firth of Clyde, Scotland, and one at Chatham, in the Thames Estuary.

At the north Midland city of Derby 60 bus drivers were down with flu. At one Derby school, 129 children were ill.

1 Lost in Ship Blast, Tacoma Homes Rocked

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—With an earth-shattering explosion that rocked most of Tacoma, the 800-to nfishing vessel Pacific Queen was ripped apart today tnd one man was believed dead in the charred hulk.

The missing man is Bill Webber, San Jose, Calif., a ship's welder.

Another man aboard the ship, Nick Medak, San Pedro, Calif., managed to escape, clad only in his shorts. He was near hysteria when he talked to firemen.

The tremendous blast occurred a few minutes after 4 a.m. as the Pacific Queen, fresh from unloading a cargo of Alaskan salmon in Seattle, was tied alongside Tacoma's old town dock.

Cause of the explosion is not known, but ammonia fumes spilled from the vessel for several hours after the blast, which was reported to have knocked out house windows two blocks away and heaved several persons from their beds.

Firemen, working frantically against the tide in the fast-sinking ship, entered the smoking hulk to search for Webber. They entered the room in which he was supposed to have been trapped, found nothing.

Bungling by Ottawa Charged By Angry B.C. Clergyman

TERRACE, B.C. (CP) — A clergyman has charged the federal government with bungling in the opening of the new federal building here.

Following is the statement made by Rev. C. L. Collins, United Church minister:

It is the understanding of a great many people here that such a matter as the opening of the federal buildings is the concern of all the people and that all the public should be represented.

Many people believe that the Conservatives were a bunch of amateurs in charge of a professional job and that arrangements were bungled.

GREAT INCONSISTENCY

On seeing handwritten posters displayed announcing the opening and inquiring as to what arrangements were made for a religious dedication of the building, one minister was informed that "the government wishes to keep away from religion in these affairs."

There was not an invitation sent to one of the clergy of the 14 different denominations in Terrace.

It brings out a great inconsistency. Religious services are used at the openings of parliament and yet when government buildings are opened they suddenly want nothing to do with religion.

To sum it up the things which have caused much criticism in connection with the fiasco are:

There was no dedicatory service by any religious body;

The whole affair was arranged by and seemed to be in the charge of the architect;

The wrong federal minister was sent in to do the job. This was not a defence department affair (Defence Minister Pearkes officially opened the building) but was a department of public works and post office building;

The ex-member of the Skeena riding was not invited even after representations had been made by our own Conservative organization;

The Union Jack is not a decorative table cloth. It should have been hanging from the staff not draped over the table;

All organizations should have been consulted before the announcement of the opening was made;

We have a new government in Canada. They are a group of Christian gentlemen headed by a fine, sincere Christian man in charge of affairs. Let them remember that God expects these men to administer in a Christian way. We will succeed if due deference is shown him in all our undertakings.

Miners Rush Digging To Save Trapped Mate

MULLENS, W. Va. (AP)—Rescue crews dug into tons of rock and slate 4,000 feet inside a coal mine early today in the hope that a trapped miner may still be alive.

The miner, 50-year-old Arlie (Padge) Davis, was trapped with two others in the roof fall at Tierney No. 1 mine at Herndon, W. Va., Monday. The others were killed and Davis was believed dead.

The body of Paul D. Kratsch, 43, was recovered early this morning.

playing forms for two teams this season.

Peterborough blamed the CLA.

"CLA WRONG"

"The CLA has been wrong on the Allan case for two years," said Bob Peirson, past president of the Petes. "The CLA knew Allan had no release from the Ontario Lacrosse Association yet they let him play for Nanaimo all season in British Columbia and even in the Mann Cup series. This despite their own ruling that no club could lose more than one player a season to another in branch-to-branch transfers, and Nanaimo already had Harry Whipper from us in 1956 before Allan joined him."

"Furthermore we had permission from OLA president Ted Blair this season to play Allan, and now Blair has joined western CLA officials in claiming Allan isn't eligible to play for our team. Allan signed a certificate this spring to play for Nanaimo but he was never a resident this year of B.C. and he did not receive an OLA release, so how can they claim him out there?" asked Peirson.

WON'T PAY

"It is the CLA not Peterborough or the OLA which is breaking the rules in this case," said Peirson.

Team officials here discussed means of getting the team back to Peterborough as the CLA has announced it won't foot the bill.

Dr. Epping, another past president, said he understood that other officials with the team in Victoria were to meet with CLA officials later today.

He said: "We'll get our team home, don't worry about that. There's too much civic pride in our team and the Petes are too well liked to be left stranded out west."

In Toronto, Long Branch were reported today to be seeking Ross Powless, Tony D'Amico and Gerry Fitzgerald from Hamilton Lincoln Burners.

Peterborough's refusal to play Monday night was announced after they kept 3,000 Memorial Arena fans waiting for about 15 minutes while discussions were held.

An ultimatum was delivered to the team by CLA secretary Tommy Gordon after the Petes had been closeted far about 40 minutes.

A few minutes after the ultimatum was delivered, the game cancellation was announced to the restless fans.

CLA officials also announced they were cutting off "immediately" all payment of hotel and food bills for the Timbermen and that the team would have to pay its own way back to Ontario. The team also forfeited a $1,000 bond posted with the CLA.

Leading American Educators Coming for Trustee Parley

Two leaders in the field of education in the United States will be principle speakers at a three-day convention of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association at the Empress Hotel starting Sept. 23.

Dr. M. E. LaZerte, BA, MA, PhD, dean of the faculty of education at the University of Michigan will speak on "Education Finance" and Charles B. Park, director of special studies at Central Michigan College, will present a paper "What Is Teacher Aide."

Dr. LaZerte has had a long and distinguished teaching of career but is best known in Canada as the author of the report "School Finance in Canada" which has become a standard reference work in the field of education finance. An American, he was president of the Alberta Teachers' Association from 1938 to 1940, and president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation in 1939-1940.

UNESCO DELEGATE

In succeeding years he was chairman of the Canadian Association's Research Council, a member of the Canada-U.S. committee on education, and Canadian delegate to the fifth UNESCO general conference at Florence, Italy, in May and June of 1950.

His ativities in these varied fields won him honorary life membership in the Alberta and Saskatchewan Teachers' Associations and in the Canadian Education Association.

Mr. Park obtained his master's degree from the University of Michigan and took advanced training at Northwestern and Colorado Teachers College.

After a career in high school teaching culminating in a 23-year term as superintendent of schools in the Michigan area, he became assistant director of special studies at Central Michigan College, and after nine years in this post was appointed director of the department.

The convention will be under the chairmanship of the association president, A. W. E. Mercer.

ELECTION

Included in the agenda is the election of new officers and the presentation of regional reports for the past year.

At a luncheon following the formal opening, messages of welcome will be offered by B.C. Education Minister Leslie Peterson and UBC president, Dr. Norman MacKenzie.

Following the conclusion of business sessions on Wednesday, tours of HMC Dockyard and Royal Roads are slated for the delegates, followed in the evening by the annual banquet and ball in the Crystal Ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

GREETINGS!

Army Chief Ousts Pro-West PM In Thailand Coup

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—The army's strongman, Sarit Thanarat, surrounded Bangkok with tanks and seized control of the government today "in the name of the people."

The ousted pro-Western premier, P. Pibulsonggram, who has led the government since 1947, was reported fleeing in a fast car to Malaya.

Not a shot was fired as the army commander-in-chief took power, with the reported consent of young King Phumiphon Aduldet, two days before a scheduled meeting in Bangkok of the military advisers of the anti-Communist Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Marshal Sarit is reputed to be an opponent of the organization.

Sarit said he acted in the interest of the people who, he claimed, were dissatisfied with the government's handling of last February's election in which Pibulsonggram retained his premiership by a slim majority.

NO POLITICAL TIES

Sarit insisted at a press conference: "I have nothing to do with politics but took the action I did to force the government of Pibulsonggram to resign. It was necessary for me to do this."

It is believed Marshal Sarit acted quickly to save his own position as commander of the army.

Sarit told correspondents he wanted a new government as soon as possible but did not know yet what form it would take. He consulted with his lawyers to determine whether to dissolve the National Assembly. Asked if he would become the new premier Sarit replied: "Many people want to be premier."

After the seizure, Sarit modestly proclaimed himself as governor of Bangkok, rather than premier. In that capacity he cabled Prince Wan Waithayakon, Thailand's foreign minister and retiring president of the United Nations General Assembly, that he is still the Thai representative at the UN.

Police Gen. Phao Sriyanond and navy chief Admiral Yuthasart Kosol, both of whom surrendered before dawn, were placed under house arrest.

Phao, Sarit and Pibul are the three strong men who have preserved a balance of power in Thailand for nearly 10 years.

Later, Phao left aboard a Dutch KLM airliner to Geneva. At the airport he said he is going to Switzerland for two or three years. He also said Pibulsonggram was trying to leave the country.

"Everything is fine," said Phao who commanded the 40-008-man police force. "There will be no trouble because Marshal Sarit is my friend."

Protest Fails

TOKYO (AP)—Japan urged the United States today without success to cancel the 1958 nuclear tests in the Pacific.

Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi handed a note to U.S. Ambassador Douglas Macarthur II asking off the tests on humanitarian grounds.

Macarthur replied that the U.S. tests were essential to the safety of the non-Communist world in the absence of a dependable disarmament agreement.

U.K. Protests Russ Port Closing

LONDON (AP)—Britain has protested to Russia against Soviet closure of the bay of Vladivostok to foreign ships and planes, a foreign office spokesman said today.

The protest was handed to the Soviet government Sept. 10 in Moscow by Ambassador Sir Patrick Reilly, the spokesman said.

The British protest followed similar moves by Japan and the United States.

Russia shut Vladivostok bay on the Sea of Japan last July 20 after a decision by the supreme Soviet council of ministers, and later explained the move to Japan by citing British and Canadian precedents.

The British note was understood to have objected to the action as an encroachment of the freedom of the seas.

The western powers believe that strategic reasons lay behind the closure.

New Carrier Cost Soars To $30 Million

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Cost of the new Royal Canadian Navy aircraft carrier Bonaventure now being prepared for service, at Halifax, has now soared to $30,000,000, informed sources said here Monday.

That estimated final cost is $10,000,000 more than the cost estimated three years ago.

When the decision was made to purchase the hull in the United Kingdom and finish its construction for Canadian service the cost at that time, three years ago, was placed at $20,000,000.

Increased costs had made the estimated value $27,500,000 when she sailed for Canada in June. Additional Canadian equipment now being installed at Halifax has added to the total estimated cost.

The new Canadian carrier will take her aircraft aboard and go on extensive sea tests later this fall. She replaced the carrier Magnificent which has been returned to the Royal Navy.

A Very Clear Answer

CHANCELLOR ADENAUER'S sweeping victory in the Bonn Republic's general election last Sunday was an equally momentous victory for the western democracies. The voting results mean that Western Germany will continue to follow a policy of co-operation with western Europe, military support for NATO, and rejection of Soviet efforts to neutralize or dominate the free portion of the former German Reich.

The rising economic power of West Germany accentuates that country's influence on world affairs. Enjoying the fruits of hard work and high productivity, the republic is surging to the front as an exporting nation and an investor of funds abroad. Its contribution of troops to NATO defences is a vital one, its position as the eastern bulwark against Soviet pressure is likewise crucial.

While the Socialist opposition to Dr. Adenauer is not pro-Russian, it had nevertheless favored a closer approach to Moscow in an effort to achieve reunification with East Germany. It also criticized the rearming of the country. A swing to the Socialists would have meant a setback of first magnitude for the defensive policies of the Western democracies. Chancellor Adenauer's landslide return to office for a four-year term has removed that threat.

The victory was a tremendous personal success for the 81-year-old Chancellor. His vigorous campaign increased his already great popularity. In addition, the lesson of Hungary was already sharply impressed on German minds and carried its own answer to the opposition's appeal for a softer approach to the Kremlin; and several years of booming prosperity under Adenauer's guidance provided an unanswerable economic argument.

The Chancellor increased his Christian Democrats' standing from 255 to 270 in the 497-seat parliament and wiped out several minor parties, including one or two with Nazi-like leanings.

The people's decision directs a resounding blow at Russian Communist prestige in Europe. The Soviet leader, Mr. Khrushchev, had taken part in the election campaign to the extent of voicing several blunt attacks on the Chancellor. The people of the East German satellite, seeing the political freedom and the economic prosperity across the border in the Bonn Republic, will draw their own conclusions for possible future use.

The results could have a marked influence on Soviet policy in regard to both East and West Germany. Heretofore Moscow has insisted that reunification — the goal of all Germans — could take place only on Russian terms, chief of which was Bonn's withdrawal from NATO and the Western orbit. Sunday's answer to this was emphatic—and it should be noted that 88 per cent of eligible voters turned out. In the face of such a display, Kremlin strategy appears due for revision.

Good News on the Fire Front

RELATIVELY HEAVY DEW AT night is offsetting, to a substantial degree, the drying influence of hot Indian summer in British Columbia woods and, with luck and good judgment, Vancouver Island at least may look forward to completing the year with little if any more fire loss than in the favorable 1955 season.

This is a highly gratifying situation to the suppression department of the B.C. Forest Service and good news to the public in general. It may be early yet, however, to assume that all danger is past. Hunters are again on the game trails and carelessness on the part of only one of them could change the fire loss picture radically.

Indications today, nevertheless, point to a high degree of fire-consciousness by those frequenting the woods. Public education seems to be paying dividends. A general knowledge of the hazards and the way to avoid fires has been joined this year by favorable fire suppression weather. Rain has come when it was needed to prevent build-ups that could lead to a holocaust.

The season has also produced satisfactory conditions for slash burning, now in progress. The waste left by loggers is being consumed all over the Island in controlled fires. It will not be left around to become a hazard when hot weather sets in next year.

Nature and its human element have behaved well so far in 1957. The people of British Columbia, who depend for their prosperity on woods products, are not burning up their money as they have done in some other seasons.

Dr. Kelly and the Senate

WHILE THE MATTER SCARCELY touches the broad question of Senate reform, it is interesting to note current suggestions that Dr. Peter Kelly, British Columbia's distinguished Haida Indian, be appointed to Canada's Upper Chamber.

It is doubtful if anyone has a clearer understanding than Dr. Kelly of the difficulties confronting the Indian in his evolution to full citizenship or a greater faith in the eventual accomplishment of that objective. Certainly the man who was born in Skidegate, on the Queen Charlotte Islands, has devoted his life to the improvement of his people, spiritually and materially, and has been a consistent guide and counsellor in their gradual approach to a higher standard of living and a fuller appreciation of their responsibilities as Canadians.

The introduction into the Senate of a man of Indian blood—a figure of scholarly attainment recognized by high office in the United Church of Canada—deserves consideration. Dr. Kelly could lend to the Upper Chamber a knowledge of immeasurable value in a field which calls for broader understanding by our governing bodies. At the same time he could give the natives representation of dignity and articulate expression of great advantage to them.

Successful Ambassador

IF THE UNITED STATES HAS failed to win friends and influence people in countries to which it has made recent formal ambassadorial appointments, at least United States amateur ambassadors seem to be doing reasonably well.

Mr. Walter Reuther appears to be the most recent of these successful unofficial envoys.

The president of the American United Automobile Workers' Union and vice-president of the AFL-CIO presented himself to the British Trades Union Congress at Blackpool as a fraternal delegate. His appearance and his talks were a triumph, according to the report of one veteran TUC observer.

Mr. Reuther's personality, vitality, and record all gave him the stature to impress right and left wings of the British trades union movement alike. His words will have a far-reaching influence on Anglo-American understanding and co-operation, says one competent analyst at the Blackpool sessions.

This is good news. The United States State Department has not been brilliantly successful of recent weeks in preserving the close bonds of the Anglo-American alliance, at least in sentimental terms. If Mr. Reuther can strengthen the feeling of brotherhood between the important labor factions of both countries, he has performed a service beyond the more or less restricted terms of union duty.

Drones Among the Workers

IT IS RATHER SURPRISING TO learn that Russia is in the throes of a campaign to round up vagrants, beggars and citizens who refuse to take part in "socially useful work." After 40 years of communist rule in the workers' paradise one would expect individuals of this type to have disappeared long ago.

That they have not, that on the contrary they have attained numbers such as to cause a national furore, sheds new light on conditions in the Soviet Union.

There is, of course, another angle to the situation. The penalty for these idlers and ne'er-do-wells will be deportation to labor camps for terms of two to five years. It would seem that the recent program of releasing prisoners from hopeless slave labor was carried out too early or too enthusiastically. Now the communist economy must be feeling the shortage of forced, non-paid labor on which it had come to depend, and the camps must be repopulated.

How that is achieved will probably not be too closely superintended. Sections of the country which do not produce enough guilty persons will no doubt be called upon to find them without delay. And woe betide the province that does not fill its "quota."

Putting Our Cards on the Table

FROM POZNAN, POLAND — By JOSEPH ALSOP

After the Revolution

IT IS something of an experience to introduce the American technique of political polling behind the famous Iron Curtain. At the outset, one even feels a certain trepidation. But this reporter can now testify that the experience is both fruitful and heart-warming. I wanted to find out, very simply, how it had ended for the men who really started the great change in Poland. So I went out, poller's notebook in hand, to Poznan's Czechoslowacka. Here there is the workers' housing of the Cegielski steel plant, where the heroic Poznan strike began in June a year ago.

Alsop

By local standards, Czechoslowacka is not a bad place. It comprises eight or nine huge blocks of one and two and three-roomed flats. The rooms are tiny. The buildings are dingy. They stand in a dingy, treeless expanse.

But at least the flats have their small kitchens and still smaller bathrooms. There is only one family in each flat. And the scores of tow-headed children playing on the scurvy grass have a bright-faced liveliness that does not suggest real human misery.

After the charming children, the huge red brick church catches the eye. Even at the last mass on Sunday morning, every seat is taken. The aisles are packed with people. A dense crowd of young men stands at the back. And beyond the church doors, many scores of men and women kneel on the bare ground.

Group Category

Thus the pollers must write down Czechoslowacka as a district of devoutly Catholic skilled workers. This is the group to be opinion-tested here.

But as one enters the first building and presses the first doorbell, doubts creep in about the planned opinion test. After all, vagrant pollsters are too often greeted with profound suspicion in free America and here in Poland, we are in a still-Communist country which was also a brutal police state until less than a year ago.

Promptly, the door is opened by a large, solid, elderly man with that air of quiet dignity one often notices in older hand workers confident of their own skill. Behind him there is a work-worn but neat middle-aged woman.

After the strange visit is explained, both break into amiably hospitable smiles. They show the way to the little dining room - living room - children's bedroom with its religious pictures, its poor ornaments, its tidy cribs, and its pile of onions from the garden allotment lying in the corner.

As is only fitting, the master of the house leads the conversation with the housewife acting as chorus. He has worked in the Cegielski plant over 30 years. Before the war, he was a Social Democrat. He joined the strikers in June a year ago—"For how could I stand aside when my comrades went into the streets?"

It was a funny business, certainly, that strike, for they had no real hope when it began. It was a gesture of despair, you might say. But they were wrong to despair.

"Since October"—that phrase one hears a hundred times a day in the new Poland—since Wladyslaw Gomulka came to power, everything has been different.

"It isn't so much the money," says the master of the house, "although I am getting a bit more money now."

"All the same," interjects the housewife briskly, "the extra money counts a lot. We were hard-driven this month, maybe, to get a sweater for our Karlina and to find the cash for the winter potatoes. But remember that I can manage a little meat on the table every day but Fridays nowadays."

'Being Freee'

"True enough," says the master of the house with a husbandly grin. "But the best thing is still being free. Before October, you could not trust anyone among the neighbors, in the factory, no matter where. But all that's over now. We breathe again. We know our country has many difficulties. Our new government may make mistakes but we think it is doing its best for us. So we are content for now."

Saying farewell, it is hard to resist the inclination to pinch oneself; for this first interview has seemed almost too good to be true. But in the long day and a half of continuous, wholly random doorbell ringing in Czechslowacka, it turned out not to be too good to be true.

Some of those interviewed were much more suspicious. Some were also really bitterly poor, when the children were too many. Some were more generously hospitable.

Indeed, at one point, this reporter found himself almost inextricably entangled in an enormously gay Polish wedding party, drinking innumerable toasts in a mixture of grain alcohol and currant juice which is locally known as "Dead-end Mammy," dancing with the pretty bride, dancing absolutely frenetically with the mother of the groom, and in general behaving like an old family friend.

But these were minor variations from the norm which was established by the opening interview of the long series. The people of Czechoslowacka are generally "content for now." That is how it has ended for them.

So one left their dreary suburb with a full heart, having seen how the night of the soul was followed, at long last, by the decent dawn of freedom.

Sept. 17, 1917—London: Russia has been proclaimed a republic with president M. Kerensky and justice minister Yaroundi and a cabinet of five members. This is the start of the new Soviet regime.

As Our Readers See It

Spying

The announcement that Oak Bay shopkeepers will, in future, spy on their fellow-shopkeepers in the matter of early-closing, is enough to worry anybody with a sense of history and any regard for the future.

Elderly people will remember how, before the last war, German and Italian populations were encouraged to spy on each other and "report." Even children were incited to spy on their parents and denounce them.

A spokesman for independent merchants says (Times) "it is unjust to the small store owner, we are small fry, and they bully us into a state of fear."

In a word—the whole set-up is most un-British (I mean this mutual spying with a view to denunciation), it's not cricket, and what will it lead to?

No Thought for Employers

One wonderful advantage in dwelling in a democratically controlled country is that we don't have to think alike at all times. Furthermore we enjoy freedom of speech, but I am beginning to feel like Simeon did, as recorded in St. Luke Chapter 2, specifically in the words of the "Nunc Dimittis" found in the Anglican evening service.

Being near so, one can visualize how Simeon felt: Lord, now lettest thou Thy servant depart in peace, etc, etc. seems restful after these strikes, strikes, strikes, ad infinitum.

Walter Reuther, American Union Chief, suggested to employers to reduce the cost of autos $100 apiece. Ford's president intimated a 3 to 5 per cent increase. But in June, 1955, after a prolonged strike, he refused to accept Ford stock at half market value, which would have secured some interest in the welfare of their organization.

Labor unions appear to have no regard as to financial welfare of employers and if they, the employers, eventually decide to withdraw from operations, before bankruptcy takes place, can anyone blame them?

Votes and Monetary Reform

THE Liberal and Conservative parties between them in last June's election lost more than a million potential votes. The Liberals polled 2,796,164; Conservatives 2,580,051. Surely neither party can feel content to have lost 707,838 votes to the CCF, and 437,190 to Social Credit.

Nothing fundamental intervened to separate Social Credit and CCF candidates from the others. The CCF's appeal is mainly concerned with timing. They would bring in social reform measures, or say they would, quicker than the older parties have done in the first half of this century.

The Liberal party has to find candidates capable of convincing about 700,000 of the voters, lost to the CCF last June, that the more effective way to get results is by enlisting with the Liberal battalions.

It has to be demonstrated that the unselfish zeal of CCF partisans could be more fruitfully directed to elect Liberal candidates pledged to strive for the desired results.

Mackenzie King's leadership did much to keep the Liberal party virile. He welcomed diverse shades of opinion, loyally expressed. Some of the younger men to join the Liberal party during Mackenzie King's leadership could have qualified as CCF party pillars. They were no whit behind M. J. Coldwell or Premier Douglas in Fabian Socialist sagacity; but they favored practical politics to get results.

For the Social Credit vote of more than 400,000, there are possibilities of a Conservative party appeal. There is nothing Socialist about Social Credit. It is designed to strengthen private enterprise rather than to curtail it.

Mackenzie King did once associate himself with reform of the monetary system. In the 1935 election campaign, at Saskatoon, he publicly welcomed the advent of Alberta's Social Credit administration.

But conservative interests behind the Liberal party took alarm: Hon. Charles Dunning came back into the political arena to be the next Liberal minister of finance—with negative results as chronic depression continued.

In the end, however, the veteran of Liberal victories showed himself to be unrepentant. Before retiring, he saw Gerald Grattan McGeer and A. Neil McLean elevated to the Senate. They were the most influential advocates of monetary policy reform in the Liberal party. But the party has continued to shy away from that hot subject, while the purchasing power of money has steadily declined, and the menace of inflation is creeping up.

While the yard measure and the pound avoirdupois are strictly maintained as standards, there is no such stability of measure for money. Money is made scarce or plentiful by private book-keeping operations.

Liberal party candidates last June dismissed public concern over this monetary situation, as expressed by the Social Credit movement, as crackpot. The Conservative party showed more readiness to venture where Liberals fear to tread. But more than a million sober Canadian votes go a-begging to the Social Credit and CCF parties.

Changing the Punch Line

Written for The Victoria Daily Times by Gerard Fay, London editor of the Manchester Guardian

SOMETHING is always happening in this or any other country for the "first time" though it is always dangerous for a newspaperman to say so in print. My pen is poised to strike whenever I see the words "first," "last," "biggest," "smallest" or almost any other superlative unsupported by evidence. However, I'm going to take the risk of saying that Malcolm Muggeridge was the first editor of Punch whose departure from the job has ever raised a breath of interest among the general public of this country.

Fay

The reason has nothing to do with the way he wrenched the weekly funny paper off its normal course.

TV Star

The reason is that he had become a television star of about the second magnitude which means that his name was much more significant to millions of people than the names, say, of the Archbishop of York, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Warden of All Souls and various other high, distinguished ones who are supposed to be of importance in the country's social life but who no longer stand a chance if they cannot mouth and pose in the acceptable manner before a television camera.

Muggeridge was an unlikely fellow to receive this special twentieth-century benison which can snatch a performer from obscurity and make him rich and well-known overnight.

There is a contingent danger that when the viewers grow tired he may relapse into poverty and notoriety, to be pointed out as the man who used to come to dinner until he got to be too big a bore. Even sound radio threw up "stars" of this kind some of whom are still with us, bombinating in a vacuum of their own exhaustion.

Muggeridge, going off at regular times like an alarm clock, certainly managed to awake a lot of television addicts to the fact that an editor of Punch need not toe the line of hereditary opinions as held by those Miss Mitford would call "U" and those A. J. P. Taylor labelled "the establishment."

By the age of 24 (in 1927) Muggeridge was a lecturer on English literature at Cairo University.

Savage Satire

Soon he was back in England working as an editorial writer for the Manchester Guardian—an experience he recollected in anything but tranquillity in a savage satirical novel called "Picture Palace."

After a threat of legal action it was withdrawn: Muggeridge also spent a little time in Russia and recorded his memories in a savage satirical book called "Winter in Moscow." This ran into no legal difficulties and could be used by Muggeridge as a political health-certificate. For when he went to Moscow he was, in his own words, "What is, I suppose, called a fellow traveller nowadays . . ."

His change of trains is fully described in "Winter in Moscow" and his anti-communism is now part of the stock-in-trade of Muggeridge the educated anarchist.

The International Labour Office, the Intelligence Corps and the Daily Telegraph passed through his hands, but he did not write books about them.

Suddenly he turned up as editor of Punch, a magazine so venerable that people wrote books about it and treated it almost as part of the British Constitution: some even read it.

It had for years been ignored by the literate if their political views were anywhere to the left of Stanley Baldwin's or Neville Chamberlain's: and it was a very valuable commercial property paying 12½ per cent on its shares, most of which remained in the hands of the Agnew family which had held a predominant interest for over a hundred years.

Suddenly here was Muggeridge using Punch (or allowing others to use it) to make cruel fun of Churchill and of Eden, to make a funny story out of communion wine, to campaign in the most undiplomatic way (not only in the magazine but on platforms and in processions) against the government's official guests Messrs. B & K; to anticipate Lord Altrincham by years in casting open doubt about the wisdom of the way the monarchy is conducted.

'Good Taste'

He could be pinned down only with the greatest difficulty to explaining what it was he was trying to do but he told me once that he hoped to concentrate his fire more and more accurately on ". . . what is called, God help us, 'good taste'."

There are among Punch's ex-readers (who are numbered in thousands) many who would swear that Muggeridge has never succeeded in anything so much as in his attack on good taste. But they are the thousands who do not regard his target as a joking matter.

If they renew their subscriptions will the new man have to pull his Punch to keep them quiet? If so the gaiety of this nation will suffer and the Muggeridge editorship will have proved (as has been suggested in the last few years about the Times and the Scotsman) that certain British periodicals have a life of their own and can crush any brash attempt to bring them up to date.

TRADITION SUPPORTED

Tradition had it that during a thunder storm several centuries ago, a man riding a horse and accompanied by his dog climbed Blewburton Hill in Berkshire, and then vanished in a flash of lightning when he reached the top. And when they went to look, the man and the horse and the dog, had all completely disappeared without a trace. When the archaeologists were digging on Blewburton Hill, looking for Iron Age remains, of which there were plenty, they found also, six feet under ground, the skeleton of a man astride the skeleton of a horse. And among the leg bones of the horse, the skeleton of a dag.

ON THE TIMES — By ART STOTT

A Time to Plan

WITH a certain winnowed wisdom, my parents used to tell me that the road to hell is paved with good intentions.

I'm not certain where I'm going but I'm full of good intentions. Always have been.

And this is my planning season—as September usually is.

I intend to do much this winter I'm exhausted just thinking about the projects ahead of me.

I have it in mind to build myself a small boat— a double-chine job about nine feet long and I already have the stem roughed out. Fifteen years ago I built a boat to the same specifications and I'm still bragging about it.

Stott

There is a place in my fall-winter program for an insulation job on the house—just the attic and a leaded window, but pretty big undertaking for me, at that.

In the field of self-improvement I have decided, as I decide each September, to return to a little solid reading. To accomplish that objective I'm seriously thinking of taking a course in the technique of reading quickly. After so many years reading copy and proofs, I find my lips moving whenever my eyes pass over words.

SLOW TO ABSORB

That's an occupational hazard of proofreading, I guess. You get into the habit of spelling out Khrushchev three times just to make sure the "h" is properly placed in each instance. By the time you're sure, you've lost the sense of what you're scanning.

A person who takes the prescribed course, I'm told, stops reading words, takes in a sentence at a time and, with luck, can read a paragraph at a glance. The only time I manage that achievement is when some newspaper story, breaking up a column of type for easier assimilation, has a paragraph saying:

"So:"

But back to my winter program: Outdoors I ought to do something about the log retaining walls that are holding up what I fondly call the terraces of my vegetable garden. On the shore there is a great store of boulders. All I need do is pack them up the bank, set them and mix up a little concrete to hold them in a permanent wall.

Down in the boathouse, there's a little matter of lowering a roof, building a fireplace and improving the chimney. The place should be made comfortable because that's where I plan to build my boat and that's where I could do the study I know I should be doing.

Also there's the job of trying to put a little fertility into the soil of the vegetable garden. The sea brings in loads of kelp and I have it on good authority that kelp makes an excellent fertilizer.

Then there's the bunch grass that I should dig out of the lawn and reseed the bare patches. There's a fence to be renewed next to the vacant lot—and the boss of our house knows exactly the kind of fence she'd like there.

ELEMENTS

All this adds up to a tidy bit of activity, mental and physical. And if it isn't done the elements and the wilderness are going to move in on me, literally and metaphorically.

I have a friend who lists his projects this way and then budgets his time to take care of the different undertakings To me, he is a subject for admiration, an object lesson in the profitable use of time and an example to be followed.

In these September days, with fall closing in, I make my annual resolution to emulate him to my limited abilities. Unfortunately, while I'm making that resolution, I realize too that I am unlike him—that I am a fritterer.

Still, I have my good intentions. I may even pack up a rock or two from the shore, take measurements for lowering the boathouse ceiling, speculate on the type of fireplace that would be best suited to that building, pull a book out of the case and leave it on the living room coffee table, send for the literature on faster, more effective reading, and probably find out the price of insulating material in case I get around to looking into the attic.

There is no certainty that all my self-appointed tasks will be accomplished this year. Perhaps they shouldn't be. Something in the way of projects should be saved for the centennial year.

And after all, I've already proved my

YOUR HEALTH — By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Olive Oil and Gallstones

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

MANY times a year I get from kind people who tell me that it is easy to get rid of gallstones: all one has to do is to take some olive oil, perhaps with some lemon juice. These people do not know that there is nothing that can dissolve gallstones or cause them to be passed through the very narrow duct which leads away from the gallbladder. All that happens when one takes olive oil is that it combines with an alkaline juice coming from the pancreas (a gland back of the stomach) and makes castile soap. What the patient passes are pellets of castile soap.

Alvarez

I am sure that I will now get a number of letters from people who will tell me that they took olive oil and passed their stones. I once had a woman so sure of this that she came to my office and let me X-ray her. As soon as the films were developed, there we saw all her stones which she thought she had passed. They were still in her gallbladder!

IS AIR-CONDITIONING BAD?

Many persons complain that they cannot stand air-conditioned rooms. They promptly get colds or arthritis or backaches or what-not. These persons are—practically all of them—overly-sensitive to all stimuli. Some of them can feel in their joints, or their abdomen, a storm coming 100 miles away. Some of them will get a swelling of their face if they take an aspirin tablet. Some hate to go into a restaurant because smells, or noises, or drafts bother them so much.

Many of those who feel they are getting a cold when they go into an air-conditioned store are probably having in their nose only the reaction of a cold allergy. This is transient and something like a mild hay fever. It should not be feared. I think these people should try hard to accustom themselves to air-conditioning in summer. It is here to stay, and it really is a wonderfully helpful health measure: increasing as it does the comfort and efficiency of all workers. At night it enables people to sleep comfortably when, otherwise, they might lie awake.

I often wonder why I practically never find a man who fusses at air-conditioning. Why are women so much more sensitive? I think they were brought up wrong. In families, the girls ought to be brought up as the boys are, not to cry at great lengths over a skinned knee. Why shouldn't girls be just as stoical as boys are?

Some time ago, in Rockford, Illinois, Mrs. Ednar Z. Welker, a trained nurse, with the help of a number of nurses and volunteer workers tested the vision of more than 12,000 school children. About one in four was found to have some difficulty, and many who were not under the care of an ophthalmologist were referred to one. Of those who were registered, 93 per cent were found to need glasses, or treatment for some trouble with the eyes.

It was found, also, that the near-sighted children needed to be tested repeatedly because some tended, every so often, to need stronger glasses. This happens to many near-sighted children, and is not due to the wearing of glasses, as some unlearned people claim.

Scores of people, when they become ill, are much upset by the advice and the warnings of their friends who, while knowing little about medicine, think they know a great deal. For instance, an unhappy young woman who just discovered that she has severe diabetes, tells me her friends keep saying to her, "Don't take insulin. Once you start on that you won't be able to quit, and then you will be a confirmed diabetic." Others say, "Don't start dieting; that will be the end of you." Others say, "Here's an ad in the paper for some stuff that the man says you can take by mouth and is better than insulin." Another person says, "Here, take this herb tea, the prescription for which my grandmother who was part Indian, gave me long ago!"

The young woman wants to know if she should listen to these friendly people who would like to help her. If she does, I am afraid she'll be dead within the year. What she must do is to go to a good physician, and especially someone who knows a good deal about diabetes. She must follow his advice. For some time, she will have to keep in close touch with him while she learns to give herself her daily dosage of insulin.

Every so often someone tells me of a relative who lost his life because, instead of listening to an expert physician, he listened to his neighbors, or a quack of some kind. The neighbors meant well, but they knew nothing about the disease and how it should be treated.

Supersonic Jet to Take Bow Oct. 4

TORONTO (CP) — Avro Aircraft Ltd., announced Monday Canada's first supersonic fighter, the Avro CF-105, will be unveiled Oct. 4 by Defence Minister Pearkes.

A full delta-wing model, its speed has been reported up to 1,500 miles an hour.

Life's Darkest Moment — A WEBSTER CLASSIC

HOME GARDEN — By JACK BEASTALL

Good Potato Crop Determined by Soil

Potato varieties pose a problem for gardeners as I found at the Victoria Horticultural Society's show last weekend.

It is quite common to find that a variety which has been satisfactory for years will fail to please when the gardener moves to a new home.

Jack

Potatoes appear to be very sensitive to soil, and a variety which gives a good crop with excellent cooking qualities in one soil can be a failure in cropping, quality, or both, in soil of a different type.

Years ago I discovered that seed of Chilliwack Netted Gems did well in a peaty soil, while Ashcroft Netted Gems in the same soil were hardly edible.

In my present clay loam the Netted Gems are poor, Katahdin are fair, Green Mountain are good, Warba and Keswick are excellent.

Since the quality of the potatoes affected so much by the type of soil in which it grows, there is little value in recommending a variety to another gardener.

Each must solve his own problem by purchasing the smallest quantity of about six varieties, five or ten pounds of each, or 25 eyes. Grow these and discard those which are unsatisfactory, replacing them the following season with other varieties.

Keep a close and accurate written record, for each variety, showing weight of crop, average size and shape of tubers, cooking qualities and flavor, storage qualities, and resistance to disease or storage rots.

Two seasons of experimenting is generally sufficient to discover an outstanding variety, satisfactory to the gardener, the cook, and the palates of the family.

Britain Studies Joint Jet Research Program

TORONTO (CP) — Aubrey Jones, British minister of supply, says his country wants to cut down military research duplication among Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom.

"The whole purpose of my visit is to see where we can interrelate research," he said in an interview after his arrival here Monday night on a 12-day tour of defence establishments in Canada and the United States.

For example, said Jones, if Britain is developing a missile which could be used by Canadian aircraft such as the CE-100 and CF-105, it would be foolish for Canada to duplicate the expenditure.

Thus Canada could have saved $10,000,000 in developing the Velvet Glove air-to-air guided missile which was eventually scrapped, he said.

ECONOMY SQUEEZE

As for his own country, cuts in defence expenditures made a close look at research in friendly countries desirable.

Would Britain buy U.S. ideas and equipment?

"We are here with an open mind but a closed cheque book."

Would Britain buy the Canadian-made Iroquois jet engine designed for the CF-105, advertised as the most powerful in the world?

"We are interested. At this stage it would be premature to say more."

Jones is to fly to Ottawa Wednesday to meet Prime Minister Diefenbaker and defence leaders.

RIDING SCHOOL BID REFERRED TO PLANNERS

An application to set up a new riding school in Saanich was referred to town planning commission by Saanich Council Monday night.

Miss Yvonne Scott and Capt. Erland Nelson, operators of a riding school at Shawnigan Lake, made the application for re-zoning of Rosconner Stock Farm on Shelbourne to permit establishment of the new school with a large tent for year-round operation.

Can't Have Two Probes Says Wurtele

Will a meeting of municipal representatives called by Saanich to consider amalgamation in Greater Victoria be based on an earlier study financed by the Chamber of Commerce or is a new commission on the subject planned?

Esquimalt Council wants to know, and before any delegates are named council will send a letter to Saanich asking for further details, it was decided Monday night.

A Greater Victoria committee on amalgamation has not been disbanded.

"We can't have two investigations going on at the same time," Reeve A. C. Wurtele said.

Saanich authorities stated the committee would discuss integration of municipal services, amalgamation of the municipalities and formation of a metropolitan government.

Police to Act On Blocking Of Boulevard

Saanich council Monday night referred a complaint that a municipal boulevard was blocked by piles of wood and a broken-down truck to police commission for action.

The step was taken after F. B. Hilton, 1540 Charlton, said he had been subjected to "childish persecution" after presentation of a petition Aug. 26.

Mr. Hilton, a spokesman for 15 petitioners asking for removal of the wood and truck owned by S. J. Patterson, 1503 Charlton, said:

"I've been blocked on the road, my tires have been punctured and I've even been threatened. I've had to make two complaints to the police about it."

He said the piles of wood, on the boulevard since 1952, which made traffic hazardous, were unsanitary and unsightly.

Council also decided to seek a legal opinion on where responsibility rests in case of accidents involving wood piles on municipal boulevards.

Pontiacs Step Into Final As Timbermen Walk Out

The Death of a Playoff

Huddles between Canadian Lacrosse Association officials and spokesmen of the Peterborough club failed to break deadlock over status of Bobby Allan at Memorial Arena last night. While impatient fans sit in stands and stubborn Petes sit in dressing room, Peterborough president Max Kaye, right, manager Bob Curtin and Tommy Gordon, CLA secretary, left, attempt to solve difficulties that doomed scheduled Mann Cup playoff.

When hope of settlement was ended, referee Sid Greenwood placed ball and Shamrock centre Bertoia took possession on unopposed face-off. While Rocks' Jack Northup (13) and Al Davies and disappointed fans watched, Bertoia proceeded to fire ball in empty Peterborough net.

Timbermen Refuse to Play As CLA Sticks by Ruling

By DOUG PEDEN

The mighty Peterborough senior lacrosse dynasty has crumpled.

Eastern Canadian monarchs for seven successive years and Dominion champions in four straight years, the Petes blazed their biggest and blackest headline at Memorial Arena Monday night.

Today they began the sure slide to athletic obscurity, perhaps toppled by strings pulled in Peterborough.

In a move seldom matched in the history of major Canadian sports, the Peterborough Timber Structures, formerly the Trailermen, refused to take the floor against Victoria Shamrocks for the opening game of the scheduled best-of-seven Canadian senior lacrosse final for the Mann Cup.

Timbermen took their stand because Bobby Allan, who set a modern scoring mark with Nanaimo last season and led the Ontario senior loop in scoring this season, had been declared ineligible for the series by the Canadian Lacrosse Association.

They claimed that Allan had played with Nanaimo without receiving his release from Peterborough and, accordingly, was still the property of their club despite the CLA ruling.

The Ontario city's extensive minor lacrosse program can be expected to furnish the material for another strong senior club in future years, but if Canadian Lacrosse Association officials back up statements made Monday night, the nation's most-feared lacrosse team over the past seven seasons is finished.

Even in the light of a new day, the action of the Timbermen still seems unbelievable, even though officials travelling with the club state they were acting on orders received at a meeting held with the Petes' directors before leaving for Victoria.

Players Face Stiff Suspensions

For with the refusal to play when unable to use Allan, the club automatically forfeited a $1,000 bond posted with the CLA, lost the return portion of transportation provided by the CLA and is no longer being paid expenses for the remaining time they spend in a disappointed city.

And club officials and most players are faced with probable life suspensions from lacrosse and possibly from all amateur sports, in at least Ontario.

However, the 3,250 paying customers who sat impatiently and confused for almost an hour before learning of the Pete's decision will still have a Mann Cup series.

CLA officials acted quickly once it was evident the Timbermen would not back down on their stand. They immediately got in touch with the Long Branch club that finished only two points behind the Petes in the Ontario league this season then lost out in the final playoff for the eastern crown, and later announced that the Pontiacs would represent the east and would probably open the Mann Cup series here Wednesday.

There had been indications that the Timbermen planned to play with Allan or not at all as they named the classy forward as one of their starting players as early as Saturday night although Allan had been ruled ineligible for Mann Cup play more than two months ago. And the CLA refused to pay his travelling expenses to Victoria.

Evident Petes Prepared to Hold Out

It became evident they were determined to use Allan when he was with the Petes in what should have been their pre-game workout although the club was told two hours earlier that the CLA had definitely ruled Allan ineligible.

They retired to their dressing room five minutes before game time and it soon became evident they were prepared to hold out in an effort to make the CLA reverse its ruling. Neither side gave in and 45 minutes after the scheduled game time, the Timbermen were officially out of the series and 10 minutes later they had left the arena.

Ted Blair, president of the Ontario Lacrosse Association, said he would urge that all players and officials of the club be barred from lacrosse and all amateur sports in his province.

Other CLA officials would not comment on the probable fate of the Petes other than to say the penalties would be "pretty drastic." A meeting is being held today to decide on the sentence.

In view of the statements made Monday night, it appears the maximum sentences may be imposed on all but two or three of the younger players although Victoria Shamrocks were not threatened with life or long suspensions when they walked off the floor last season in their semi-final Intercity Lacrosse League playoff with Vancouver Pilseners.

'Will See It Doesn't Happen Again'

When after two meetings between CLA and club officials, the Petes still refused to play after being handed a final ultimatum at 9.15, the ball was faced off and Bert Bertoia of the Shamrocks fired it into an empty net. With the action the Petes were officially out of the picture and a new Mann Cup final between the Shamrocks and Pontiacs was in the making.

Bert Gilmore of Richmond, first vice-president of the CLA who will probably succeed president Art Brown of St. Catherines, unable to attend the annual meeting because of heart trouble, promised that action against the Petes would be severe.

"The Peterborough club," said Gilmore, "has let lacrosse down badly and we certainly will see to it that it doesn't happen again, especially by them."

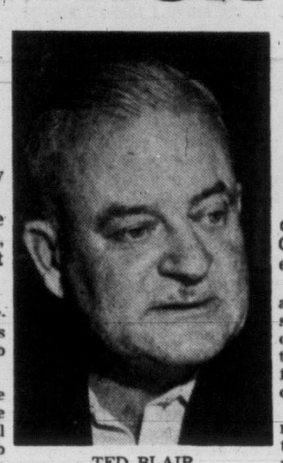
"The Canadian Lacrsse Association," he continued, "would like to apologize to the fans and we guarantee they will still have a first-class final."

Wil Wilson, president of the Shamrocks stated that he regretted the incident, but agreed with the CLA decision.

"The Shamrock Lacrosse Club," he said, "had nothing to do with the decision. However, we feel as the CLA felt, that they must run lacrosse in Canada and not the Peterborough club."

Shamrocks coach Whitey Severson, disappointed that the series was not under way, said that "for the fans' sake, I feel very badly about the way things turned out. I would have been willing to play Peterborough with Allan, but feel we must back the CLA."

If the Long Branch team arrives in time, the opening game of the new Mann Cup final will begin Wednesday with the second game scheduled for Friday. If not, the first two games will be played Thursday and Saturday.



TED BLAIR

Followed Orders Say Petes

Peterborough Timbermen were still convinced this morning they had made the right decision in refusing to play the opening game of the 1937 Canadian senior lacrosse final, scheduled at Memorial Arena Monday night.

"We had orders from club directors before leaving to play with Allan or not at all," stated president Max Kaye. "The people of Peterborough will be glad we took this stand."

The Petes sat in their dressing room and refused to go on the floor because the Canadian Lacrosse Association insisted high-scoring Bobby Allan was ineligible for the Mann Cup series.

Club officials claim that Allan played with Nanaimo in the Intercity Lacrosse League last season without receiving a release from Peterborough and in violation of the CLA constitution. And although he was not cleared by Nanaimo when he returned to Peterborough this year, he had actually never stopped being the property of the Peterborough club.

HE'S ASKING

"If Allan was allowed to play in Ontario," said manager Bob Curtin after the Petes had left Memorial Arena, "why couldn't he play here?"

"Our main reason for not playing," said Kaye, "was because the CLA wouldn't let Allan play.

"We were willing to play the series with Allan and let them take the games away from us by protest if they wished.

"We had no official notification before Monday from CLA officials, who say they informed the Ontario representative," Kaye continued. "However, Ed Blair, president of the Ontario Lacrosse Association said he never received confirmation of Allan's ineligibility."

BARRED FROM SPORTS

"When we were in the dressing room for a pre-game pep talk, a CLA official came to the door and said Allan would be barred from all sports for life and it would ruin his chances of getting into the University of Toronto if he played," said Kaye.

"When this happened, we took the onus off Allan and told the official to have the threat lifted and then we would go out and play.

"No one returned to see us for 30 minutes and when the vice-president (Les Gilmore of the CLA) came in, he implied all players would be suspended from all amateur sports for life unless they went out and played.

"Actually the players were following orders of club officials but the statement was just like waving a red flag in front of a bull. We probably couldn't have persuaded players to play even if we had tried."

Manager Bob Curtin said: "If Peterborough is out of there next year, I believe it will ruin lacrosse in the East. Only Long Branch has the only other strong senior club at the present time."

'No One Man Nor Team Bigger Than Game Itself'

By ERNIE FEDORUK

The actions of Peterborough's Timbermen in walking out on the Mann Cup series with Victoria Shamrocks left Canadian Lacrosse Association executives with mixed emotions Monday night.

Angry frustration, bitter disappointment and disbelief were stamped on the faces of CLA officials when the Petes refused to step on the Memorial Arena floor for the opener of the best-of-seven Canadian lacrosse final.

The irate CLA executive committee, unanimously expressing the opinion that "no one man nor one team is bigger than the game itself," promised severe penalties for all members of the Peterborough team.

The full blast of the Bobby Allan incident, which today is already being regarded as one of the blackest marks ever chalked up in the annals of Canadian amateur sport, will probably have its severest repercussions in Peterborough's stamping grounds—Ontario.

If Ted Blair, president of the Ontario Lacrosse Association, has his way, players and officials of the Peterborough team are liable to life suspension in ALL organized sports in Ontario.

Blair, perhaps hardest hit of all CLA officials by the Peterborough actions, didn't mince his words.

The Streetsville, Ont., politician said "it was the most disgraceful conduct I have ever seen in my life.

"If the CLA had not taken this stand today, lacrosse would have become extinct in Canada.

"This is the first time, to my knowledge that an amateur sport has been marred and scarred by the clutching, grabbing and grasping fingers of unscrupulous management.

"If Peterborough had not been notified by Allan's ineligibility, then I could readily understand their actions and attitude.

Blair Recommends Life Suspension

"I will recommend to the Ontario Sports Federation to suspend all players and team officials, from all sports for all-time."

He concluded his statement to the press with: "As president of the Ontario Lacrosse Association, I want to apologize to the long-suffering, paying public who have been greatly disappointed this evening."

Blair made a late, desperate plea to Timbermen to proceed with the series. The Peterborough team, behind the sanctity of their closed dressing-room door, apparently failed to heed his words. Blair, his face flushed with anger, stormed out of the Peterborough quarters shaking with fury.

Les Gilmore of Richmond, B.C., first vice-president and chairman of the CLA in the absence of president Art Brown, reported that the group's refusal to pass on the eligibility of Allan was a "unanimous decision."

Gilmore also revealed that Peterborough had forfeited a $1,000 bond by its actions.

"When they posted the bond," he said, "they agreed to abide by all CLA decisions. We're the last persons who want to hurt the sport. No team, however, is bigger than the game."

Dr. Frank Kenny of New Westminster, immediate past president of the CLA, said the Timbermen "were notified two months ago that Allan could not come west.

"They (the Peterborough team) paid his way out here. He didn't get a ride on CLA expenses. They were informed again tonight, two hours before the game, that his player form was not acceptable by the CLA. The Ontario association was solidly behind the decision."

Besides Gilmore and Dr. Kenny, other CLA officers on hand were secretary Tommy Gordon of New Westminster, second vice-president Wally Cattel of Dundas, Ont., and third vice-president Merv Ferguson of Vancouver.

Blair represented the OLA while Bill Workman of North Vancouver and Doug Fletcher of Victoria were BCLA delegates on hand.

Savings Shot, Heart Broken By Walkout

There was one fan more disappointed than most Monday night when Peterborough Timbermen refused to open the Mann Cup Canadian lacrosse championships with the Victoria Shamrocks.

W. H. Andrews, a 77-year-old fan from Peterborough, said he had drawn almost all of his bank account to pay his way here to see Timbermen win back the cup after losing it to Nanaimo last year.

He was standing alone in front of the Timbermen dressing room when the team announced they would not play because the Canadian Lacrosse Association had ruled Bobby Allan ineligible for play in the series.

"It's not fair, it's just not fair," he said when he learned of the decision. "We had trouble last time we came out here, and now this, after coming all this way. "Now there isn't even a series . . . it isn't fair."

Share Bowling Crown

Tom Owen and Herb Tallack, representing Beacon Hill Club, are the new holders of the Yarrow Cup, emblematic of Vancouver Island lawn bowling doubles championship.

The Beacon Hill duo, playing on the CPR greens, defeated the Burnside pairing of Charles Fea and Arthur Beck in the recent final.

Medalist Honors To Mrs. Husband

Mrs. Harold Husband fired a gross 85 Monday to capture medalist honors in the annual Victoria Ladies' Golf Club tournament.

A field of 45 participated in the qualifying round and scores of 100 or better were good enough to fill the 16 berths in the championship flight.

Match play got under way this morning and tournament finals will be run off Friday.

Disputes 'Old Hat' For Shamrocks, Petes

Bill Walker, former sports editor of The Victoria Times who now is news editor, was in the thick of things when the current Mann Cup lacrosse hassle started in 1953. He reviews the "exhibit" here:

By BILL WALKER

Lacrosse disputes are nothing new to Victoria Shamrocks and Peterborough Trailermen.

The Petes' walkout before game time Monday night in the scheduled opener of the Mann Cup final is only another chapter to rancor that has marked the latter-day history of the two teams.

Peterborough reneged on their commitment to play because star forward Bobby Allan was ruled ineligible by the Canadian Lacrosse Association. Ruling was made as far back as Aug. 12 and Peterborough was so informed.

Allan's ineligibility arises from the fact he signed two player forms this year — one with Nanaimo, with whom he played last year, and one with the Petes, with whom he played this year. Petes defied the ruling, resulting in Monday's walkout.

The hassles started in 1953 when the teams met for the first time here.

Peterborough, at that time, threatened to quit the series after losing the third game, having won the first two. They complained about the officiating of Gordy Folka. They later recanted but not before manager Bob Curtin had been ousted from the arena and coach Bobby Thorpe suspended for refusing to heed a penalty call by Folka.

In 1954 at Peterborough, the Rocks threatened a walkout. Their complaint was two-fold. They demanded that the series be switched from the Miller Bowl dirt floor to the Peterborough Arena and they protested Jim McNulty being named as a replacement for Ike Hildebrand of the Petes. Eventually the series was moved but not before the Rocks received a threat of suspension from the CLA and refusal of their transportation home. McNulty was cleared to play in that series although Hildebrand, whom he replaced, had not played during the regular season.

Last year the Rocks engineered a walkout of their own in an Intercity League semi-final playoff game against Pilseners in Vancouver.

They walked off the floor at Vancouver in the third period of the third game against the Pils and refused to return. Complaint was against the refereeing. Series was forfeited to the Pils, but the Rocks escaped suspension.

Monday night, the Petes wrote another chapter in the book by their outright flouting of the CLA, and have been suspended indefinitely.

What the eventual outcome will be is conjecture at the moment, but certainly lacrosse has suffered a severe blow though not without previous warning.

Minor Lacrosse Party Thursday

Annual windup party for the Victoria and District Minor Lacrosse Association will be held at the Canadian Legion Hall, Arena Way, Thursday evening.

Trophies, crests and other awards will be presented. All association members, as well as their parents, are urged to attend. Festivities start at 7:30.

Juniors Star In Club Event

By ERNIE FEDORUK

A pair of junior sharpshooters and defending champion Frank Scroggs led a field of eight survivors into the second round of the Uplands Golf Club championship at the weekend.

Bill Wakeham, Canadian junior champion, tossed a sub-par round at Gord Pellow to reach the quarter-finals with a 4 and 3 victory while Dale Dalziel, another junior, chalked up a thrilling extra-hole victory over C. Heggie. There was never more than a one-hole difference at any time in the match until Dalziel ended the contest on the 20th.

The veteran Scroggs was forced to come from behind to dispose of another junior, Noel Dalziel, 3 and 2.

Gil Briscoe, Ernie Peden, Bill Wightman, Bernie Rogers and Bert Saxon joined Dale Dalziel, Wakeham and Scroggs in the round of eight.

Briscoe downed Reg Elliott two up, Peden sidelined Clare Abbott 4 and 3 while Wightman disposed of W. Jeanes 2 and 1. Rogers scored the easiest victory of the first round, trouncing Bob Moss 6 and 5 while Saxon beat Owen Jull 4 and 2.

Three extra-hole matches held the spotlight in lesser flights. D. McLean won from S. Walton, one up, after a 36-hole second-flight contest, while F. Switzer downed M. Coxworth by the same score in the third flight after 27 holes of play.

Another overtime battle resulted in the fifth flight when P. Fediw and S. C. Watkins finished on even terms after 18 holes. They will play off Wednesday.

Second round will be staged Sunday.

BUNKER BEAT: Oak Bay's Laurie Carroll and Norm Boden of Gorge Vale, if the latter is declared eligible, will take in the B.C. assistant-pro tournament at Vancouver Friday . . . it's a one-day, 36-hole shot . . . the youthful Boden, who turned pro only a few weeks ago and is working with Joe Pryke at the Gorge layout, will know Wednesday if he is eligible to compete . . .

Competition-wise, these are dull days on the golf beat but the B.C. Open, scheduled for Vancouver Golf Club early in October, should perk things up . . . Peter Watson and Alan Manson share the half-way lead in the Oak Bay junior championship . . . the 36-hole medal tournament winds up Saturday . . . Watson and Manson fired 79s last Saturday to take a three-stroke lead over Bill Carlow . . . Bob Wight is fourth with an 85.

Matson trophy competition, which actually amounts to the Island handicap championship, will be held at Gorge Vale Sunday . . . entries are expected from all city clubs as well as up-Island centres . . . it's an 18-hole affair . . . Colwood golfers scored a convincing 34-2 victory over Nanaimo shotsmiths in an inter-club match at Colwood Sunday . . . The wires report a case of a Statesville, N.C., golfer getting a birdie which didn't help his score one bit . . . Nathan Neely's drive dropped a red-headed woodpecker on the fairway.

Boden is spending his evenings at the Quadra driving range . . . he's the teaching pro there . . . it's a good chance for beginners, and especially golfers not attached to any club, to brush up on their game . . . Norm, incidentally, reports the driving range will do business all year around . . . the driving range is being covered to protect golfers from rain and, at the same time, floodlights are being erected . . . the chores are expected to be completed long before the rains come . . . the driving range is located at Quadra and McKenzie Avenue.

Two Victorians have been named to the zone four committee of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association . . . they are Alex Hendry and Bill Yardley . . . PNGA officials at their annual meeting in Tacoma approved a "modernizing" of the organization's structure . . . the PNGA territory was divided into four zones with B.C. and Alberta making up zone four.

AN ITEM LIKE BUCKSHOT COULD DISTURB A FELLA

Bob Fleming, pro golfer from Victoria, had something else to contend with besides the usual gallery chatter and a tough shot on the second hole of the Rossland-Trail golf course Sunday morning at Trail.

Participating in the $1,000 Rossland-Trail Open, Fleming was not too disturbed when wild B.C. hunters out on the second day of the season started blasting away at nearby game.

But when buckshot rattled through the trees above his head, he indicated this was a horse of another color.

RIDERS ROMP

Seven Straight Losses for Leos

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Clem Crowe's British Columbia Lions reached the halfway mark of their fourth Western Interprovincial Football Union season Monday night. Again, their chances for a playoff berth are slim.

A 41-21 drubbing by second-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers at Vancouver was Lions' seventh straight defeat since winning their league opener. With another eight games to play, B.C. is already five games behind first-place Edmonton Eskimos.

Meanwhile, playoff hopes of another failing club brightened. Saskatchewan Roughriders counted a much-needed victory—their second in seven starts—when they clubbed Calgary Stampeders 44-27 at Regina despite an injury-weakened backfield.

As in previous games, Lions opened strong with a snappy offensive and led the Bombers 14-7 at halftime Monday night, but faded in the last half.

Quarter Kenny Ploen plunged for one touchdown for Winnipeg, Gerry James went over twice, and backs Leo Lewis, Ron Latourelle and Jack Hutchinson had one apiece.

Paul Cameron, By Bailey and Ted Hunt scored B.C. touchdowns.

In Regina, the Roughriders overcame similar troubles as they went into action without power backfielders Ken Carpenter and Jack Hill. But fullback Bobby Marlow's standout ground-gaining performance and the showing of Canadian Harry Lunn made up for the deficit.

Stamps couldn't hold the ball. Three third-down snaps to kicker Ted Duncan went over his head, and two led to Regina scoring. Two other touchdowns followed on a Calgary fumble and a Marlow interception of one of quarterback Jim Fink's passes.

Marlow scored two touchdowns, and the others came from halves Sam Wesley, Lunn, Larry Isbell and end Stan Williams. Reg Whitehouse booted four converts, and a rouge and a safety touch rounded out the Saskatchewan points.

Dean Renfro, Al Valdes and John Pyeatt scored touchdowns for Calgary, and Glen Christian converted all of them.

All Rocks Needed Was Elbow Room

By ARCHIE BROWNING
Shamrocks' Manager

BRAMPTON, Ont. — Well, we're even again.

What started out as a best-of-seven series for the Canadian junior lacrosse championship is now a best-of-three affair.

The boys didn't let me down. I knew we'd look much better when we returned to Brampton's floor. The boys had more running room Monday night and it paid off in that 8-7 victory to tie the series 2-2.

It was a solid team effort in a game featured by tight, but clean checking.

BEST SHOWING

It was our best showing of the series. There is certainly no comparison to the last two games, which Brampton won to take the lead.

Jack Showers again played a tremendous game. He scored the winner on a solo effort by beating two Brampton players with less than a minute to play.

Goalie Don Hamilton and Phil Willis were other standouts. Willis scored one goal and set up two others with beautiful passes.

Hamilton must have broken some of those Brampton boys' hearts. He played a whale of a game and made 39 saves, including nice shote by Gord Thompson in the last period.

BRAMPTON STAR

Thompson was by far the best for Brampton. He was on the floor for almost 50 minutes and is a great two-way player.

Jack Showers scored three goals and Wilson got two. Eddie Longpre, Willis and Lawrence each got one.

I must admit these games are very hard on a fellow's nerves. We were holding a three-goal lead going into the last quarter. That Thompson boy scored two fast goals and at about the 12-minute mark John Ford tied it up at 7-7.

That was when Jack came through with the big goal.

If the boys come up with another effort like that on Wednesday, we'll move into the driver's seat.

After four games against Brampton, they all know one thing is certain: they can't let up for a minute!

Slammer Sweeps One He Wanted This Year

DALLAS (AP)—Sam Snead, who says he wants to win a tournament a year until he's 50, then retire, took the one for 1957 Monday with the widest margin anywhere since 1955—10 strokes—in the $40,000 Dallas Open.

Admitting to being 45 after he had wound up with a three-under-par 68 for a 264 total over 72 holes and grabbed the $8,000 first money, Snead was winning his 96th tournament according to the Professional Golfers Association record book.

"I have won over 100 tournaments," he commented. "The PGA isn't counting a flock of tournaments I have won over the years."

Toronto's Al Balding was eliminated Sunday after shooting 83 on the third round for a 225 total. The cutoff for the professionals was 218.

Snead went into fourth place among the money-winners although he has participated in only 12 of the 32 tournaments this year. He has earned $28,260.

His victory by 10 strokes was the longest lead of the year—the best previous was Ken Venturi's five-stroke triumph at Milwaukee. The widest margin of which the PGA has a record is the 13 strokes Gene Littler won by at Las Vegas, Nev., in 1955.

Braves Bounce Back to Life

BY THE UNITED PRESS

Those "pallbearers" had better find themselves another funeral somewhere because Milwaukee Braves don't look as if they're going to play the fall guys for a National League burial party.

Just when everyone was despairing of his chances, than Milwaukee "patient" showed a decided turn for the better today and it could be the crisis is past, what with the end of a three-game losing streak and a more comforting three-game lead in the race.

Braves brought the big chance about when they snapped out of their slump with a 14-hit attack that overcame Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1, Monday night. Those 14 hits represented the Braves' highest total in two weeks.

BIG THREE

Three Milwaukee players who helped dispel the gloom were Bob Buhl, Del Rice and Johnny Logan.

Buhl, pitching his first complete game since he was sidelined with arm trouble Aug. 18, held the Phillies to eight hits and an unearned run in the eighth inning.

Rice, never much of a slugger, poled a homer off loser Harvey Haddix in the third inning and the Braves were never headed. Logan banged out three hits.

Victory reduced Braves' pennant-clinching "magic number" to nine.

DODGERS BOW

In the only other game played Monday night, Cincinnati Redlegs defeated Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2 in 10 innings but were mathematically eliminated from pennant contention due to Braves' triumph.

Rain cancelled a scheduled game between the Orioles and Indians and also washed out a game between the second-place White Sox and Senators. The Chicago-Washington game will be replayed Sept. 30 only if it has a direct bearing on the finish.

Four-Point Edge Beats Island Shots

Vancouver Island marksmen lost out in their assault on the Buchart Shield in annual competition with a mainland team Sunday by the narrow margin of four points.

The Islanders led the mainlanders from the opening shot at the 200-yard range right up to the 600-yard marker, where they were overtaken and passed with the final score of 1,128-1,124.

Franie Morse, shooting for the Islanders, posted the highest score of the day with 146 out of 150 with the only possible of the day from the 200-yard range.

Freshman! It's No Pushover---Read These Soph Tips

SHARON PLOWS

By DINAH KERR

Alright, freshmen—let's face the facts. You've had your best skirt or trousers dry-cleaned. You've carefully labelled "dividers" in your looseleafs.

You've probably even had your hair cut. But every time you think of the first day at Victoria College next week, your heart pounds against your ribs like a caged animal.

You don't know what to expect or what is expected of you.

But here are two sophomores to give you some hints on the hurdles.

"Don't go in with the attitude that it's going to be a pushover," said your students' council president, Doug Stewart, 19.

"And don't let the first month get you down," said Players' Club starlet Sharon Plows, 18.

Both admit that when they entered college they were "very, very scared."

Faced with this obstacle course of higher learning, frosh are prone to do one of two things. They either hibernate in the library or in the campus cafeteria.

Both are escapist techniques.

"If a person studies all the time, he's missing out on another side of education—the social side," Doug said. "There's more to education than academic work."

But around mid-term exam time, you'll also find that you don't get credits for "Caf 100."

The ideal arrangement, Sharon said, is to "take a major interest in one club—serve on the executive or something—and then just participate in a couple of others."

The sophs advise frosh to study about three hours a night and to forego the temptations of "cramming."

"I crammed at odd times last year," Doug said, "and it doesn't work. It did in high school, but not in college. The scope of the work is too great."

As for term essays, he says, "start them as soon as they're assigned. I got all balled up last year by leaving essays to the last minute."

Freshmen will be expected to write up to four essays, ranging from 500 to 2,000 words in length. Minimum of books used for research is usually 10.

As for finances, Sharon figures the $500 she earned last summer as a junior clerk in the provincial department of highways will tide her through her sophomore year nicely.

Doug saved close to $1,000 from his summer earnings as a truck driver for the B.C. Electric. "That will cover everything," he said, "including clothes, books, tuition, and money for gas and dates."

Well, frosh, there's some advice from two teenagers who know what they're talking about. Now, as they say in scholastic circles, "Tuum est." It's up to you.

DOUG STEWART

VICTORIA, B.C., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1957 9

MONTE ROBERTS

Travel is broadening. This fact cannot be disputed.

The only reason I had not been broadened by travel—up to this week—is that travelling involves going places, and I hate and detest going places.

This is because going places involves travelling. So all I did, until this week, was sit at home and become broadened without either travelling or going places.

This week, however, brought me the chance of a lifetime to become broadened by travel without leaving the environs of my native city.

Because the greatest travellers of them all, the men and women who tell you where to go (politely) are meeting here in Victoria, and if there is any doubt in your mind, I do mean the American Society of Travel Agents.

As a person who wishes to be broadened by travel without going anywhere, I naturally waited upon the various members of the American Society of Travel Agents, and I sought from them information regarding far-flung lands.

The first member of the above-mentioned Society with whom I had conversation was from the Hawaiian Islands.

The second member was playing rock and roll on a piano-accordion, so I asked him what he was playing, and he said it was hooli-hooli. As you may have guessed, he was from the Hawaiian Islands.

The third member with whom I had a discussion was dressed— ahh hum, hmm, hmmmm—in a sort of a wrap around colored thing—hoo boy—and where was SHE from? Of Course.

Finally I found a gentleman in seal skins, mukluks and a reindeer-hide parka trimmed with fox fur, and it turned out he was from 40 miles North of the Arctic circle.

Travel, I said to myself, is indeed broadening, as I accompanied this gentleman (whose name is Asaavg Zeveck) to his igloo on the seventh floor of the Empress Hotel.

Where he pulled off his reindeer-hide parka trimmed with fox fur, under which he was wearing a Hawaiian shirt and a papier-mache lei.

Saying farewell to Asaavg and his Hawaiian shirt, I went forth to become even more broadened by travel. My objective, at this time, was to find someone un-Hawaiian.

So lucky, lucky me. I found him. Ernest Cartwright is the name. Occupation? Representative of British and Irish Railways, Inc.

"British and Irish Railways, eh?" I said to Ernest Cartwright. "This is what I have been looking for. Someone from 'over 'ome."

"Happy to meet you," said Mr. Cartwright. "Next time you are in Los Angeles, look me up at 510 West Sixth Street."

With which he produced a ukelele and picked out that old refrain: "Wherever you're from, wherever you're going, it's Hawaii."

Hooli-hooli.

PENNY FOR HER THOUGHTS

Penny, two-year-old Irish Setter owned by Mr. and Mrs. G. Palmer, 4028 Granville, possibly was too friendly with thief who stole her and family car Saturday night, but at least she talked him into leaving both within one block of house Monday afternoon. Mrs. Palmer said dog and car were undamaged. (Times Photo.)

Compensation Unrest Sparks Labor Blast

Saanich to Pay $9,700 Bill Of Architects

Saanich council decided Monday night to pay a $9,700 bill submitted by architects for the proposed Saanich municipal hall addition which was rejeted recently by voters.

Councillors voted down an attempt by Reeve Arthur Ash and Coun. Ainslie Worthington to delay payment to Whittaker and Wagg.

Coun. George Chatterton argued that the bill should be paid so that the municipality would have freedom of choice when a decision to build temporary office space is made.

HANDS TIED

"We have to pay it anyway," he said. "So long as it is left unpaid we cannot engage anyone else even if we wish."

Reeve Ash, speaking to an amendment to table the motion made by Coun. Worthington, said the firm should have advised the hall committee to go no further than making sketches until the addition was approved.

The amendment was voted down and Councillors Chatterton, Leslie Passmore and E. J. Diespecker carried the motion for payment.

Shakeup on Board If No Improvement

The provincial cabinet today was asked to remove top officials from the Workmen's Compensation Board if discontent with its handling of claims is not cleared up.

A delegation of labor leaders representing some 150,000 B.C. workers and their families presented a brief claiming that misinterpretation of the Compensation Act was defeating its purpose.

CAUSE OF UNREST

The brief said that board insistence on injured workmen furnishing "proof of accident" as the cause of their disabilities was causing the unrest.

It said the troubles have coincided with "numerous changes of personnel at the top" of the board, particularly in the legal department.

"We do not intend to engage in witch-hunting," the brief said. "But we would like to make absolutely clear that the rights of an injured workman transcend all other considerations."

"Accordingly, we believe that if those responsible for the present discontent are unable to administer the act sympathetically, then they must go—the sooner the better."

The brief said that technical rejections of claims on legal grounds has doubled since the period 1946-1950.

"It is our belief that it is the rejected claims which may wreck this fine edifice (the act) so painstakingly built up over the years."

The brief took issue with the board for its insistence on a narrow interpretation of the word "accident" in rejecting claims.

TOO NARROW

"Contrary to the spirit of the act, the board appears to construe the word accident narrowly and, indeed, appears to be so obsessed with proof of accident as to negate the spirit and intent of the act.

"We cannot, and will not support that body of opinion which suggests that the workman must prove to the satisfaction of the legal mind that he has suffered an accident in the narrowest sense of the word.

"It is only where the board has good reason to believe that the injury was not, or could not, have been caused during employment that a claim should be rejected."

CORDIAL

Lloyd Whelan, president of the Vancouver Labor Council and spokesman for the group, said after the one-hour session that Premier W. A. C. Bennett and seven other ministers gave them a "cordial hearing."

Antigonish Out On Major Trials

The RCN frigate Antigonish was on her first major trials today following modernization carried out by Victoria Machinery Depot.

Trials were carried out in Juan de Fuca Strait off Dallas Road. Antigonish is one of the frigates undergoing modernization prior to re-joining the Pacific Command.

The other two are New Waterford, at Yarrows Ltd., and Beacon Hill at Burrard Dry Dock, Vancouver.

Market Weakness Just Short-Run, Conference Told

Any elements of market weakness in the Canadian economy at present are, for the most part, of a short-run nature, Mitchell W. Sharp, deputy minister of trade and commerce, Ottawa, said here today.

Mr. Sharp spoke to 45 delegates attending the ninth annual conference of Provincial Government Trade and Industrial Council meeting at the Empress Hotel.

His was a keynote address of the four-day conference held for the first time in Victoria, with six trade and industry and other important trade officials present.

Mr. Sharp said Canada has hope for "a tremendous volume of new capital facilities needed to round out basic expansion already underway."

Minor Scale Tuna Run Developing

The long-awaited tuna run off the West Coast of Vancouver Island is developing on a minor scale, with small catches being landed at Victoria.

About 20 Canadian boats are working in the vicinity of Swiftsure Lightship, at the entrance to Juan de Fuca Strait, and are averaging around 40 fish a day—nothing like the rich fishing days of the 1950 era before the run disappeared.

Upwards of 3,000 pounds have been landed so far at B.C. Packer's Ogden Pt. cold storage plant. Price is $265 a ton at Victoria, $300 at Vancouver, less than half that paid seven years ago.

TO UNDERSTAND the hula dancing of Annette Ebinger, one must watch the palms—hand palms, that is. Her skirt is palm also.

HULA-LA

But Who Wants To Look At Their Hands?

By TONY DICKASON

One must concentrate on the hands, not the hips.

This is the secret of enjoyment when watching hula dancers, say the experts.

Phooey!

It was a torso-twitching evening Monday in the Crystal Garden when the Hawaii Visitors Bureau and the American Society of Travel Agents of Hawaii put on a ukelele-banging show that left the visitor mouthing such pretty phrases as "kupee-hooee--lacka-booe-moka-jobee."

Which means, translated roughly, "get that copra-pickin' lei out of my soup."

KISSES, TOO

We were garnished with a lei of orchids and kissed by a buxom black-haired beauty on arrival at the show, which included both professionals and amateurs attending the ASTA convention here at the Empress.

Everybody was laden with orchids, white and purple. This, with the violently colored shirts and skirts, gave a swirling kaleidoscoptic effect that made bloodshot eyes seem egg-white.

A group of musicians strolled from table to table, singing love songs of the Islands. They are, actually, few other types of songs Hawaiians are in love with love and laughter.

PRESLEY, WHO'S HE?

Woven palm hats bobbed and black locks shook under the soft lights, reminicent of the moonlight on the beaches of the islands. Hula dancer after hula dancer undulated their charming way to the stage.

Bit by bit the tempo speeded until the wiggles would have made Presley go back for further study.

Tension mounted as the guitars and drums beat louder until the audience and entertainers could contain themselves no longer.

A spontaneous prolonged yell broke out that cut the rafters.

"Yoooóo-aaaaaa!"

A lithe Hawaiian, naked to the waist, did a fire dance, twirling a flaming torch around in the darkness. Then he did it blindfolded to the beating insistant rhythm.

Then the pace changed, and the strings again became as sweet as doves.

Comedy there was, also—a Hawaiian in kilts singing Roamin' in the Gloamin', in Hawaiian.

Forget Diet, Quit Smoking Chirps Lardy

(This is the sixth day of reporter Kerr's uphill battle to gain weight on Josephine Lowman's nine-day gaining diet.)

By DINAH KERR

Even strangers are calling me "Miss Bones" these days.

They recognize me from the emaciated photo alongside, to which I bear a startling likeness.

And they all want to give me some good advice.

Dinah

"Listen," one man said to me earnestly, "even a fatso would lose weight on that birdseed. What you've got to do is give up smoking. Harry cut out cigarets and he gained 27 pounds in three months.

"Hey, Harry," he yelled "C'mere a minute."

Harry rolled up.

"Harry," said the man, "This girl is trying to gain weight. Tell her what happened to you when you gave up smoking."

RESUME SMOKING

Harry looked proudly at his inflated stomach.

"I gained 27 pounds in three months," he said. "I got so darned fat that I had to start smoking again."

Then there are the stout-fanciers. A fashion model, mind you, told me that she started drinking two pints of stout every morning when she was a starveling of 108 pounds. Six months later she weighed in at 120.

Stout, say the former skinnies, activates the appetite, calms the nerves and enriches the body.

It is the answer to everything but a hangover.

However, the boss says I must stick to the diet and lay off this alcoholism.

Going into the sixth day of dieting, I've gained two pounds for a grand total of 116.

On to Wednesday's diet!

Breakfast — Orange slices, rolled oats with raisins, toast and bacon, coffee.

Lunch—Chilled tomato juice, baked hen with dressing and gravy, corn pudding, beets, salad of grapefruit and avocado with French dressing, chocolate nut sundae.

Ice-box supper—Milk, cheese and crackers, fresh fruit, cold chicken, celery, sliced tomatoes, boiled custard and cake.

THAT 'STUFF' IS EXCLUSIVE

Rain that fell on Victoria today had the distinction of being the only precipitation in the Pacific northwest, according to weatherman William Mackie.

"It will be short-lived, though," he said. "Dry air pushing out of the interior should give us partial clearing tonight and some sunshine Wednesday."

Temperatures will range between 52 degrees tonight and 62 Wednesday.

MAXWELL MEANS MUSIC

He Makes Chicago Sing Right Along

Director of the largest massed music festival on the continent, Philip Maxwell, Chicago, said here today he can play three pieces of piano music, "blindfolded."

Has been able to do this since he was a boy, the Chicago Tribune promotion chief said.

He directs, and has done so for 28 years, the Chicagoland Music Festival which last August 24 attracted 62,000 to Soldiers' Field!

He, literally, makes the city sing.

LIKES PEOPLE

Mr. Maxwell likes people. He has been an emcee at a cooking school, has chaired fire and police shows, directed and appeared on radio and television shows, and has been a speaker at hundreds of school commencements. And he's one of those rarities, a published poet.

In Scotland, he learned the motto of the Maxwell Clan: Be Prepared. He re-wrote this to: "Be Prepared To Make a Speech."

The 56-year-old likeable man, here on holiday with his wife who composes music to his words, will write a poem at the drop of a hat.

HERE'S HOW

Okay. Let's see you, he was asked today.

Mr. Maxwell borrowed a pencil, wet the end, and wrote:

When you're mighty tired
and taxes go sky high
Sit with me on the Causeway
and watch the ships go by.
You seem to find new values
as they head out to sea
We, too can calibrate our lives to meet what is to be.

His music festival, which costs about $80,000 to produce and has an 8,000-person cast, has featured such notables as Al Jolson, Lawrence Tibbett, Gladys Swarthout, Rise Stevens, Victor Borge, Carrie Jacobs Bond and Liberace.

Movie star singer Howard Keel got his start at the festival, as did many other present day concert and opera personalities.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Ralph Walter Whyte, 18, and William Francis Doyle, 18, both of Camp Gordon Head, each was fined $75 in city police court today on a charge of taking a car without the owner's consent.

Police said they took a car from Johnson Street, without consent of owner John Daley, and drove it to Nanaimo where they were apprehended by RCMP.

The soldiers will replace a window they smashed in order to gain entrance to the auto.

A new corporate seal, inscribed with the municipality's coat of arms, was adopted by Esquimalt Council Monday night. The former seal will be destroyed in the presence of Reeve A. C. Wurtele and municipal clerk J. W. Allen to prevent its further use.

Speech art lecturer, Mrs. Helen Smith, will continue her instruction in voice production for members of the Victoria Theatre Guild Studio Group Thursday night at 7.30 at the Victoria Art Gallery, Moss Street.

First session, held last week, was an outstanding success and attended by approximately 30 members, new and old. Reading of one-act plays also will continue.

B.C. Education Minister L. R. Peterson today invited the Canadian Education Association to hold its 35th annual meeting in Victoria next year.

The invitation was extended at the opening session of this year's meeting in Fredericton, N.B.

At the monthly meeting of the Ontario Social Group in the hall, at 1400 Broad St., Wednesday evening at 8, the B.C. Electric public relations department will show color films, one being the making and laying of the big power cable from the mainland to Vancouver Island. Former Ontario residents will be welcomed.

Wesley L. Umphrey, 1119 Colville, was fined $35 in city police court today on a charge of obstructing Cons. Ronald Fitzhenry in carrying out a car inspection last Saturday night.

Umphrey pleaded guilty but said, "They weren't very polite to us under the circumstances. They hauled us out of the car and pushed us around a bit."

The officer said he and another policeman checked a car occupied by Umphrey and some friends on Douglas. They were checking for liquor, he said.

Cons. Fitzhenry denied taking hold of the accused. He said Umphrey got back in the car after being ordered out and "called the city police force down."

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Do all birds migrate?—G.H.

A.—No. Most tropical birds remain in the same area throughout the year. In Canada, the woodpecker, nuthatches, chickadees, grouse, cardinals, juncos, jays and others are permanent residents.

Q.—Why are Marines of the United States called "leathernecks"?—M.G.

A.The nickname originated from the black leather stocks they formerly wore to protect their necks against sabres and cutlasses.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK By STUART KEATE

Of Sermons and Sauces

DEAN Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral is in the middle of an interesting series of sermons on the Seven Deadly Sins:

In case you've forgotten, they are Pride, Wrath, Envy, Lust, Gluttony, Avarice and Sloth.

Keate

This week he was on "Gluttony," which was quite a blow to a couple of gentlemen on the south aisle.

They were feeling smug when the Dean said that the Anglican faith accepted such things as a good meal, a decent Martini and a fine cigar, provided, of course, these were handled temperately.

But they began to shift uneasily in their pews when the Dean closed in on the nub of his argument: that it was shameful to have "too nice" a regard for food. They blanched when he cited as examples the fellow who would measure condiments for a sauce, or put together a salad as though it were a Paganini concerto.

For one of these gentlemen was M. L. Tyrwhitt-Drake, a young barrister of the city whose way with sauces is renowned from here to Toronto. Indeed, he plays on chives, fennel seed and thyme with the same wild rapture that he brings to the blowing of a rosewood recorder or pinking of his ancient virginal. (A small rectangular spinet, without legs, having only one wire to a note.)

The other was a stylish-stout journalist of my acquaintance whose salads have a small but critical audience, and once earned a measure of immortality by attempting to fashion (unsuccessfully) a dressing with Worcestershire sauce, mint, ketchup, Taragon wine, celery salt and mayonnaise, not to mention Pride, Wrath and Envy.

The dean advised his parishioners to "search their hearts" in this matter of gluttony. The newspaperman, after 24 hours of searching, decided to take the problem to his legal counsel, man by the name of Edwin E. Pearlman.

Mr. Pearlman, as is his wont, considered the matter thoughtfully. "Say," he said, "the Dean is an Englishman, isn't he?"

Then, harking back to those long army years overseas, a glint came in his eye and he added: "Remember those brussel sprouts?"

The newsman winced. He remembered.

"Tell me honestly, witness," Mr. Pearlman pursued.—"Could they, or could they not, have stood a piquant sauce, a tasty little dressing?"

"Indeed they could," said the journalist, smiling happily. "I thank you."

"Boy, I'd sure hate to pay air freight charges on you!"

New Clothes for Autumn? Sew 'Em Yourself—It's Fun

By PENNY SAVER

Do you fancy yourself as an amateur dressmaker? I mean, do you like to whip up a little number to make your friends give forth with "Oh's" and "ah's" at the dexterity of your nimble fingers?

If so . . . and you do . . . then this column is for you.

How do you go about lining off hems and seams? Do you use pins and pins and more pins? Let me tell you there's something infinitely better and thats a chalk pencil that gives you a neat outline with a minimum of effort. Inexpensive, too . . . only 35 cents.

While we still have pins on our minds (you do have to use 'em at some point in your dressmaking) let me ask you if you keep them in any old pin cushion where they stick . . . and stick . . . and stick into your fingers when you go to pull them out.

There's a sponge rubber cushion you can get for 25 cents that will eliminate all that. How about trying one.

While you're at it, get a little plastic case with compartments to hold your sewing machine bobbins . . . at 50 cents.

Now, let's get down to the sewing case I've discovered. You'll fall in love with it just as I did. Dainty and domestic looking on the outside, it's utilitarian with a look of elegance inside (plastic tray inserted into a plastic lining that looks just like satin). That tray has compartments for each sewing necessity . . . including threads.

Talking of thread . . . you'll find this necessity in every possible color to match all the wonderful new autumn shades in materials that are making store counters look like an Oriental bazaar.

One shop I visited this morning had a perfectly wonderful sale of materials going on and one of the most amazing buys was genuine llama cloth for coats and skirts at only $8.95 a yard.

Embroidered tonkyn brocade for evening wear was selling for $2.50 a yard in a variety of colors. You'd be a sensation at any party wearing a dress made of this fabric.

Very different was the photographic material, with reproductions from many of the famous paintings . . . Bohemian and arty and in awsome colors at $1.18 a yard.

So, thread that machine and cut out that pattern because sewing is fun. Even if you can't sew very well there is a book out that teaches you, step by step, for $3.95.

TODAY'S RECIPE

APPLE TOMATO CHUTNEY

Twelve large apples (peeled and chopped), 24 green tomatoes (chopped), 4 large onions (sliced), 4 cups cider vinegar, 3 cups light brown sugar, 2 tablespoons salt, ¼ teaspoon cayenne, 1 tablespoon curry powder, 2 tablespoons mixed pickling spice (tied in bag), 1 lb. seedless raisins.

Combine all ingredients except raisins, in heavy kettle. Bring to boil, simmer until fairly thick. Add raisins, cook 10 minutes longer. Seal in sterilized jars.

Finally whole milk has succumbed to this age of frozen foods. In England frozen whole milk is stored in polythene bags and used very successfully on board ship. Three months later it is still as fresh as the day it was packaged.

May Daughter's Boy Friend Be House Guest?

Early in the summer when my two daughters and I went to Germany to visit my relatives, we met a very nice Canadian boy who was stationed there in the Army. He and my sixteen-year-old daughter fell in love. At first I thought it was puppy love, but now looks as if it is turning out to be the real thing. The chap, who is is twenty, is now back in this country. He long-distanced us that he has a leave and wants to fly here to meet my husband and, of course, to see our daughter. He will be in town about four days. Would it be proper for him to stay with us? We have a very small house and he would have to sleep on a roll-a-way bed in the recreation room. If not, is it up to us to pay his hotel or "Y" bill? He would, of course, take all his meals with us. Please answer as soon as possible.

Louise Davis

Louise Davis Answers:

Considering all the circumstances, I think that it would be better if the young man stays at the Y.M.C.A. or hotel. He should pay his own bill, especially since he asked if he could come. Furthermore, I am sure that he would expect to pay. It wouldn't be out of order, however, if he stays at your house. If he does, I suggest that you and your husband be watchful chaperones to avoid any criticism, especially considering the age of your daughter, who is quite young. In other words, you wouldn't want to be absent yourselves from the house too often or for too long. I suggest that you make reservations at the "Y" before the young man arrives.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Mental Health as Vital as Physical—Check Self Today

Many women who take their vitamins regularly, sleep adequately and exercise faithfully, completely neglect their mental health. We are apt to take this for granted and therefore fall into stale and destructive ruts in thought and feeling and personality.

We can age emotionally and mentally just as rapidly, if NOT MORE rapidly, than we do physically. So, you may wish to check yourself against the following list to see not only how healthy you are mentally, but how young you are. I hope that you—

1. Live each day as though it were the last day you will ever have. If you do not live quite that vibrantly, at least I hope that you do not cling to the past or dream only of the future but that you are keenly aware of TODAY, with all of its interests and potentialities.

2. Look "out," because there is a lot to see when you do not pull the blinders down by looking "in" at yourself continually.

3. Laugh many times each day and are able to see the humor in everyday happenings. Do you laugh less than you used to?

4. Believe in something or someone or both with enthusiasm and your whole heart.

5. Do not indulge in the worry habit but instead face your problems, do what you can about them and then forget them.

6. Don't allow yourself to be "thrown" by blue days. Everyone has them but they soon pass. Do not take them too seriously. Shrug them off.

7. Have constructive work to do. This is the best medicine in the world for depression, worry or boredom.

8. Think positively rather than negatively. Do not allow petty irritations or hurts to dim your days.

9. Think things are going to be better rather than worse.

10. Are more tolerant than critical.

11. Do not place your sights so high that you sigh constantly over the impossible and therefore pass up possible happiness or success which are within your reach.

HOOK RUG, THREE YEARS IN MAKING, WINS CNE PRIZE

OTTAWA (CP)—Unlike the quest for whoever threw the overalls into Mrs. Murphy's chowder, the Sinclair family here merely nods knowingly when a strip of wool perhaps turns up in a salad.

It just means that mother—Mrs. Lillian Sinclair—has been hooking again.

The Ottawa housewife's hobby this year won her a first prize at the Central Canada Exhibition. The prize-winner, a seven-foot-square hand-hooked rug with a floral and feather design, won a second prize at the Canadian National Exhibition the previous year.

Mrs. Sinclair told a reporter that experts have valued the rug at more than $1,200. Working from her own design, she took three years to complete it.

what part of your electric bill is for light?

While lighting standards have improved in most homes, the proportion of your electric bill that pays for lighting has decreased considerably.

Today, in the average B.C. Electric residential customer's home, electricity is doing many, many jobs: washing and drying clothes and dishes, heating water, cleaning, keeping and cooking food, entertaining — even keeping the clocks on time.

Our average residential customer is now using nearly three times as much electricity as in 1946, but paying less per kilowatt hour. True, your bill may be higher than it was in 1946. But when you add up the number of appliances you now enjoy, you'll understand why you are using much more electricity in your home. By any comparison, electricity is today's big bargain.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

Hawaii Comes to Victoria In Color, Dance and Song

By ELIZABETH FORBES

It was a nice bit of salesmanship! A package deal, if ever there was one. All wrapped up in gay colors and presented to the 350 or more travel agents of America (meeting in convention here) in the Crystal Garden, Monday evening.

Super-salesmen were the Hawaiian Travel Bureau and most of the big hotels and the transportation companies servicing the sunny isles.

Gimmicks used were hundreds of Hawaiian leis, a group of dancers and musicians, the well-known Webley Edwards of "Hawaii Calls," and his band leader, Ray Kenney.

Elizabeth

Some of the entertainers were flown in on Monday straight from the Hawaiian Islands (they are flying back today); others came from Seattle, where they have been giving performances for the past week . . . they go on to Spain to appear at the meeting of the International Society of Travel Agents in Madrid. Edwards himself and his wife have just completed a vacation tour of Canada.

The whole thing was planned to sell the idea that Hawaii is the place all good travellers should go . . . and go again . . . and that travel agents should help them to get there.

Leis and Kisses Went Together

Whether the visiting travel agents needed to be convinced of this I don't know, but I'm certain that Victoria citizens privileged to see the show were dazzled, bemused and completely hypnotized. I'm willing to make a wager that most of them are either planning right now to make a first visit to the sunny isles or to go back again as soon as they can.

Everyone at the party had a lei of orchids, carnations or fragrant ginger. A kiss went with the lei, too, and a friendly "Come to Hawaii soon!"

As orchids are a dime a dozen in Hawaii, orchids were in abundance. The carnation, that Victorians almost call a common flower, is one of the most expensive blossoms in Hawaii, and so carnation leis were few in number and worn by only favored persons.

Ginger flower leis and long-stemmed red ginger blossoms were also handed out but only to "very important persons."

Entertainment included the famed Emma Sharp from the Island of Maui. She was gowned in a South Seas blue satin dress that shimmered as she moved. Her lei was of deep red carnations and the same flowers in her black hair. There was Kalani, the sword dancer, and Leoolani, the Tahitian dancer. Famed Sterling Mossman, too, who is a member of the Honolulu police force and dances in his off time because he loves it.

"They all love it," Joe Mogish told me. He's manager of the fabulous Hawaiian Village Hotel.

"The people of Hawaii are a happy people. They like to sing and they love to dance. Get two of them in a group . . . any time, anywhere, and you've got a party!"

Victorians Annoy Special Guests

Well, we had a party last night. There was no doubt of that . . . and everyone enjoyed it.

Mayor Percy Scurrah, wearing a ginger flower lei and smoking his big cigar, kept time to the scintillating music with quick nods of his head; Mrs. Scurrah also had a ginger flower lei and carried a long red ginger flower in her hands.

Commodore and Mrs. Budge and Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Jack Fawcett clapped their hands in time to the intoxicating songs; Dr. David Turner has his share of leis, as did his wife; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Evans were at a table with other travel agents, all wearing the colorful badges of Hawaii. Rev. William Hills' clerical collar was completely hidden with several handsome leis.

Aloha shirts and grass hats worn by male members of the Hawaiian delegation attending the convention and the attractive floral gowns worn by feminine members of this delegation added to the picture.

When Webley Edwards concluded the show with some of the words he has made familiar—"Aloha . . . aloha to you!"—it was hard to come back to reality and to realize we were not actually in Hawaii.

FIFTY YEARS OF MARRIAGE

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Venables, who will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Venables will entertain at their home, 2832 Rose Street, on Wednesday, from 2 to 4 p.m. and again from 7 until 9 p.m. Mr. Caleb Venables came from Hornchurch, Essex, Eng., to Canada in 1904 and Mrs. Venables (Clarice) from Chadmore, Staffs, Eng., to Fernie, B.C., in 1905. They were married in the Salvation Army Citadel in Fernie in 1907 and moved to Victoria in 1935. Mr. Venables has been a member of the Salvation Army since 1891. Besides their son David and his wife, the couple have two granddaughters, Lynnette and Annette of Saanichton.

Former Senator Wants Statehood

By KITTY DIXON

She's a travel agent now, no longer a Hawaiian senator, but Mrs. Mary K. Robinson is still fighting for Hawaii's statehood.

Attending the Ninth Annual Western Regional Conference of the American Society of Travel Agents at the Empress Hotel this week, Mrs. Robinson has 31 years of government service behind her.

Also attending the conference is Mrs. Claire Hillyer, who has seen every country in the world but Russia during her 25 years as a travel agent.

Moscow is next on her list of pleasure jaunts (which usually combine a little business) but right now she is preparing to fly to Brussels and Madrid, "strictly on business."

"It will be a 10-day trip to attend the International ASTA Convention in Madrid," said Mrs. Hillyer, whose home town is Yakima, Wash.

She will stop in Brussels to preview the International Fair.

"Of all the places I've visited, I love Switzerland and Hawaii most," said travel-wise Mrs. Hillyer, who is a former physical instructor.

Interest in travel runs in the family. Her daughter, Mrs. Theo H. Mays is Mrs. Hillyer's assistant and has also travelled extensively.

In Madrid Mrs. Hillyer will rejoin many of the travel agents now visiting Victoria, including Mrs. Melita L. O'Hara of Seattle.

Brought together at the Travel Agents' Conference in the Empress Hotel this week are, left to right, Mrs. Melita L. O'Hara, Seattle, and Mrs. Claire Hillyer, Yakima, who will meet again in Madrid, Spain, at the international convention, and former Hawaiian Senator, Mrs. Mary K. Robinson, Honolulu.

Mrs. Philip Baker, Edmonton, is here to spend a few days with Mrs. W. Bradburn, Willingdon Apartments.

Dinner Party

A no-host dinner was held recently at Chez Marcel in honor of Miss Maud Burley, former chief operator of the B.C. Telephone Company in Victoria, who retired at the end of August. The guest of honor was presented with a corsage of carnations by Miss Ivy Bradley on behalf of those present. During the evening Miss E. R. Walker, district traffic superintendent, presented Miss Burley with a well chosen card with substantial enclosure from members of the traffic, commercial, plant and ex-employees. Mr. M. J. Dunlop, former district plant manager, and Mr. Percy Nevard, district plant chief, recalled some incidents that occurred during their long association with Miss Burley and related some amusing anecdotes. Later, Mr. Jack Kinsman, Mr. Nevard and Mr. Dave Wilkie showed color slides taken on vacations. Covers were laid for 40 at the dinner.

Wedding Rings Exchanged At King-Price Ceremony

In a double-ring ceremony at St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay, Frances Ellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Price, 2214 Sooke Road, and Wayne Herbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. King of Victoria, were united in marriage. Rev. H. J. Jones officiated.

The church was decorated with baskets of pink and white chrysanthemums, gladioli and carnations. R. Proudman played traditional music.

A floor-length gown of net over satin studded in rhinestones, with a fitted bodice featuring a square neckline and buttons down the back, was worn by the bride. Her fingertip veil was held by a pill box, sewn with rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of dark red roses and white carnations.

Matron of honor, Mrs. R. C. Midgley wore a pink sheath dress with overskirt of Chantilly lace extending to a bouffant bow in the back. Attendants, Misses Freda Price and Robin Price, sisters of the bride, wore identical gowns of ballerina length pink lace with matching boleros, and tiny coronets of pleated tulle on their heads. All carried colonial bouquets of turquoise-toned carnations and daisies.

Tiny Laurie Baccus, cousin of the bride was flower girl in a pink frock and carried a basket of late summer flowers.

Best man was R. C. Midgley and ushering were Alan Blair and Colin Moir.

A reception was held in the Golden Slipper where the couple cut a three-tier cake that centred a table decorated in roses and tulle. J. Aylwin proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon in Seattle, the bride donned a rose suit with brown accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. King will live in Victoria when they return.

Well-Known Chef to Cook for Queen Says Women Should Do Home Meals

TORONTO (CP) — One of Canada's top chefs feels it is an honor to be asked to prepare a dinner for the Queen and Prince Philip but says women should have the honor of cooking in the home.

Stephen Vojtech, executive chef for Toronto's King Edward Hotel, will use some of his secret recipes for the dinner for the Queen and Prince Philip, to be held in Prime Minister Diefenbaker's residence Oct. 15.

He admits, however, that few dishes prepared from the recipes, kept locked in a tiny vault in his office, are used in preparing dinner at his own home.

"My wife does the cooking at home," he explained. "Women have the honor of preparing meals for their husbands and families and to them should remain this honor."

NOT THE FIRST TIME

Cooking for the Queen and Prince Philip is not a new experience for Mr. Vojtech. He helped prepare a dinner given in the Ontario legislative building for the royal couple during their tour of Canada in 1951.

Mr. Vojtech has many recipes of his own creation, several of which will be included in the nine-course dinner for the Queen and Prince Philip.

The menu itself is still a secret to all but a few people, including members of the chef's staff, high government officials and, of course, Mrs. Diefenbaker.

Mr. Vojtech will go to Ottawa Oct. 14, taking with him Claude Chanonat, pastry chef at the King Edward, and John Tron, the hotel's night chef.

EARLY START

An official in Ottawa already has a long shopping list, prepared by Mr. Vojtech, and the ingredients for the dinner are to be at the prime minister's house no later than the morning of Oct. 15 so the chef and his staff can get an early start. It will take at least half a day to prepare the soup alone.

His secret recipes may become the possession of Canadian housewives in the next few years.

"I would like to publish a book of my recipes some day, enabling my favorite dishes to be served on tables in homes across Canada," he disclosed.

Mr. Vojtech feels that Canada and his career in the kitchen have been kind to him in the last 30 years.

"I never dreamed that when I arrived here as an immigrant from Czechoslovakia that I would some day be given the honor of preparing a dinner for the Queen," he said.

"It is a wonderful thrill."

Children Give Mite Boxes

Little Helpers held their annual meeting recently in Holy Trinity Church, Sooke. The new rector, Rev. J. C. MacDonald, took the service, which was started with a hymn, followed by a prayer and a short talk by Mr. MacDonald. Following the roll call by Mrs. E. M. Nixon the children presented their mite boxes. Mrs. A. Brooks, diocesan secretary, spoke to the children. After the service the Women's Auxiliary, under the convenership of Mrs. J. Law, served tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gates. Candies and balloons were distributed to the children and games were enjoyed.

IGNORED COURT ORDERS, SEAMAN GETS ONE MONTH

"Flagrant disregard" for court orders brought a one-month jail term for naval seaman Robert Ernest Desormeaux, who appeared in Esquimalt police court Monday on a charge of driving while under suspension.

Prosecutor William R. McIntyre said the accused had seven traffic offences against him since his driver's licence was suspended for criminal negligence in November, 1955, plus two previous convictions in April of this year for driving under suspension.

"He appears to have no concern for the orders of this court. I would suggest he be dealt with severely," Mr. McIntyre said.

ROCK 'N' ROLL OLD STUFF

If Its Rhythm Hawaii Has Is

By TONY DICKASON

What's going to supplant rock 'n' roll?

Two of the world authorities on Hawaiian music agreed today it will be Hawaiian music.

Webley Edwards, who conducts the terrifically popular "Hawaii Calls" from the beach at Waikiki Saturday nights, and has been doing so 23 years, and Ray Kinney, entertainment director of the Matson Hotels—which includes the suptuous Royal Hawaiian Hotel—are the authorities.

They are in Victoria attending the regional conference of the American Society of Travel Agents. There are 65 delegates from Hawaii at the 300-person convention.

Mr. Kinney, who conducted his Royal Hawaiian orchestra in New York's Hotel Lexington for seven years, just shrugs when rock 'n' roll is mentioned.

"I listen, but I don't want to say anything."

Mr. Edwards, however, tells a longer story and Mr. Kinney agrees.

"Hawaiians have their own rock 'n' roll. They had it before it was ever heard of elsewhere. Why, the Hawaiians have at least 3,000 variations of rhythm! If it's rhythm, we've got it."

"But Hawaiian music will be the next craze," they agree.

"Hawaii Calls" is carried by 500 radio stations around the world, somewhat to the amazement of the program founder.

"I always say I started the show when I was two years old," says Mr. Edwards, an affable 50 today.

The program is so widely heard, and appreciated—it consists mostly of Hawaiian music, with the odd commentary and interview with a movie star thrown in—that a Hawaiian Club has been formed, even, in Edinburgh, Scotland. Arabia and Iceland get the program, as does Canada, over the Dominion network.

ESCAPE

Why is the program such a pull?

"Because everyone likes to feel they'd enjoy an escape to an island, even if its for a half-hour each week, via radio," said the program chief.

He is considering doing a television show, but at the moment "doesn't dare" as the picture of the Hawaiian Islands formed in the mind of listeners couldn't be duplicated in black and white TV.

"So we are holding off until color is the main thing."

NEVER BORING

For the Hawaii-phobe, Mr. Edwards mentions that his fifth long-play album for Capital Records is coming out in November.

Mr. Kinney, asked if he didn't become bored with all the whoop-la associated with entertaining starry-eyed people, gave a decided "no."

Said he: "It's part and parcel with the temperament of my people. Why, even when we fly to the other Islands to entertain, and the job is finished, we sing and play all the way back."

Mr. Edwards loves Canadians. He calls them "gracious and wholesome. They enjoy everything and are not afraid to ask questions. They are lovable, which cannot be said for some people from other regions."

Teamsters Bar Anti-Hoffa Toronto Local

TORONTO (CP) — Local 938, bargaining agent for 4,700 Toronto truck drivers, has been denied voting privileges at the International Brotherhood of Teamsters' Miami Beach convention Sept. 30, a union official said Monday night.

William Mills, president of Local 938, General Truck Drivers' Union, said he has received a telegram from the retiring teamsters' international president Dave Deck informing him the local will be unable to vote at the conference.

Mills said the local holds credentials for five delegates and plans to send two to the convention.

OWES BACK TAXES

The Beck telegram said the local is not in "good standing" because it owes about $20,000 per capita tax to the teamsters' Toronto Council 52.

In Windsor, I. M. Casey Dodds, Canadian director of the brotherhood's central conference, said the local "might as well stay away from the Miami convention."

"It's delegates will not be permitted to vote because the local union owes more than $20,000 in per capita tax."

The trouble apparently bubbled up this week as Canadian locals began proposing their preferences for a successor to Beck.

Mr. Dodds said locals throughout Canada endorsed James Hoffa, teamsters' central conference director. Local 938, which has frequently opposed Hoffa on union matters, has stated preference for Thomas J. Haggerty, secretary-treasurer of the Chicago Milk Wagon Drivers, Local 735.

Mr. Mills claims Local 938's voting powers were suspended because it does not support Hoffa. He said the decision to suspend them was a move "to brush aside any of Hoffa's opposition."

"These not in good standing notices are probably going out to all locals of which Beck is doubtful for Hoffa," he said.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Barbara Jordan, aged 11, of Portland, Maine, for her question:

How Does a Starfish Eat?

An oyster fisherman will tell you the little starfish feeds on oysters. And so he does. He will also eat clams, mussels and countless varieties of smaller shellfish found in his tidal waters. The problem, of course is, how does a soft, fragile looking starfish open a tough old oyster? We know how hard it is to pry apart the two shells of a live clam or oyster. Yet the small starfish seems to do the trick with no trouble at all.

The five arms of the starfish are far from fragile. On the underside they are fitted with little suction cups. These tube feet, as they are called, work with hydraulic pressure supplied by water circulating through the arms and body of the starfish. They enable the little fellow to get a very thorough grip on whatever hard surface he chooses. And he chooses the hard outer surface of a clam or oyster shell. He stretches his pointed arms across the two shells and grips. Then he slowly exerts pressure to pull the shells apart.

No oyster or clam can withstand this steady pull for long. Sooner or later, the two shells come apart. The soft body of a clam, a mussel or an oyster is then exposed for the hungry starfish to devour. Now we wonder, how does he get the shellfish out of the shell and into his mouth? The starfish has a very amazing stomach to do this job for him. This stomach is right in the middle of the starfish where his arms meet. And his round mouth opens directly into the stomach.

At the proper time, the starfish can turn his stomach inside out. The stomach comes out of his mouth and reaches right down into the opened shellfish. It enfolds the soft body of the clam or oyster and devours it on the spot. The starfish then unlatches himself and goes on his way.

He may find himself a few small crustaceans and devour them whole. Later, when they are partly digested, he will spit out the tough shells. But the larger shellfish, he must wrench the shells apart and devour only the soft bodied animal inside.

Actually the starfish is not a fish at all. He is a member of the Asteroidea class of animals — the star-shaped ones. Some experts think that he should be called the sea star, a name which suits him and does not suggest that he is a member of the fish family. Most of starfish have five pointed arms, a few have six and others have as many as ten. In some cases, the arms are very pointed and it is easy to see the star shape of the little creature's body. In other cases, the arms are not so noticeable and we have to look hard to see the five segments of the starfish's body.

The oyster fisherman can tell you more about the starfish. At one time, they tried to destroy the little pests in their oyster beds by tearing them in two and tossing the bits back into the sea. They discovered that, instead of ridding themselves of the starfish, they were multiplying them by two. For a whole new starfish was growing from each half of a starfish thrown back into the sea.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to John Pattullo, age 10, of Spokane, Washington, for his question:

What Is Flint made of?

Flint stone is a form of quartz and quartz is made chiefly of the mineral silica. Flint, in fact, is water formed stone made from particles of silica and some impurities. In color, flint stone is dark brown or glossy black. It is one of the hardest of natural substances. In fact, flint stone is harder than steel. A chip of flint will scratch a mark on the hardest steel. However, flint is a brittle substance and could not possibly do the work of steel.

The cave men of long ago discovered the hardness of flint. They used it to make their weapons. Arrowheads and spearheads were made by chipping stones of flint into pointed darts. Much later it was discovered that a flint rubbed against steel would strike sparks. In colonial days, the flint was the family match box.

RETIRED TEACHER WINS $250

B.C. Anthem Chosen For Centennial Year

The B.C. Centennial Committee has chosen its official anthem for 1958, the "Song of British Columbia," written by retired Vancouver school teacher Murray S. Carmack.

His anthem was chosen from among 75 entries from throughout the province and won the $250 prize offered.

The new song will be an integral part of the centennial pageant and be used as background music in the documentary film being prepared on the province's history. Arrangements will be made for everything from dance bands to symphony orchestras.

The words follow:

O land of mighty river!
O land of azure skies!
Where sun is shining ever
And tow'ring ranges rise!
O shore where men at even'
No longer roam afar!
For all who seek find haven
In British Columbia!
O land where Orient ocean,
And breeze Pacific wave,
To thee, our heart's devotion!
No other boon we crave
Than wide your wealth to measure
Than swift to ride your foam;
Your earth and sea our treasure,
Our own Canadian home!

Travel Agents 'Catch' Salmon In Ballroom

Six visitors to Victoria "caught" big salmon Monday—in the Crystal Ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

They were the lucky draw winners at the convention underway here of the American Society of Travel Agents, and they received salmon ranging from 16 to 20 pounds each.

Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle Westwood made the draw.

The salmon were presented by the Fisheries Association of B.C., and will be flown directly to the cities of the winners, who were from as far away as Honolulu and New Orleans.

Mr. Westwood, guest speaker at the dinner, drew laughing applause when he pointed out that B.C. is 100,000 square miles larger than Texas and contains at least 25,000 lakes.

He predicted the B.C. tourist trade could look forward to great expansion in the near future, and it was for this reason the department which he heads was formed this year.

CARD ACQUISITION

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pitcher Frank Barnes, owner of the lowest earned run average this season in the American Association, was purchased Monday from Omaha by the St. Louis Cardinals.

'Screaming Hordes' On Beach Protested

An impassioned letter from a Forshaw Road resident demanding that Forshaw Beach be closed to "yelling, screaming, fighting" hordes of sun-bathers was read to Esquimalt council Monday night.

K. W. Knott, 946 Forshaw, told council his home is adjacent to the beach and for the past two summers "semi-nudes" have lolled on his front lawn, picnicked on his back driveway and draped towels on his fence and back wall.

RUBBISH LEFT

Upwards of 50 children and adults stay for the entire day and leave "rubbish and debris" scattered around his home, Mr. Knott said.

The noise alone, he said, "is just about driving my wife to distraction."

Instead of an apology, he complained, the sunbathers "offered nothing but abuse and bad language."

If the situation continues, Mr. Knott stated he would appeal to the court of revision for a "sizeable" reduction in his taxes and demand that public restrooms and garbage receptacles be provided on the beach.

The "admirable" solution would probably be to "jump into the Gorge," but this, Mr. Knott concluded firmly, "we have absolutely no intention of doing."

Council referred the matter to the parks committee for action before next summer.

Hard-Hitting Hailsham Bolsters U.K. Cabinet

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan called in a hard-hitting peer Monday to give new life to his shaken Conservative government.

Viscount Hailsham was raised to the top cabinet post of lord president of the council and named chairman of the Conservative party's political machine.

The Conservatives lost thousands of votes in several recent by-elections.

The shakeup giving the 49-year-old viscount the top strategic post was Macmillan's first action to whip the party into shape for the next national election in 1959 or 1960.

The cabinet post of lord president carries few specific duties. This means Hailsham can devote his time to reorganizing the Conservative machine.

Farmer's Winnings On TV Hit $119,500

NEW YORK (UP) — Dairy farmer Harold Craig Monday night boosted his television quiz show winnings to $119,500 by outsmarting a school teacher and an editor on NBC's "Twenty-One."

Craig, of Granville, N.Y., defeated Mrs. Jeanne Jampole of New York city, a teacher, and editor William Morris of Greenwich, N.Y., to come within $9,500 of tying the all-time high set on the program by Charles Van Doren.

The 26-year-old Craig defeated Mrs. Jampole 21-14 by answering questions on famous pairs and explorers. He then downed Morris 17-0.

Next week Craig will return to face David Mayer of New York city, a psychologist.

Choir Returns From Continent

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Elgar Choir returned to Vancouver Monday after a tour of the British Isles, France and Germany.

Conductor Charles Findlater described the tour as the best yet.

The choir began making annual tours seven years ago.

The choir is made up of 26 girls and two boys aged 10 to 18. They left three months ago for the tour.

Farewell Parade Saturday ---Troops Sorry to Leave

The massed parade of Victoria's garrison of infantry, artillery and engineers on Army Day, Saturday, will be a reluctant farewell to a city they have loved.

In the words of garrison commander Lt.-Col. J. C. Cave:

"We feel it keenly—leaving this place, because they've had a wonderful time here. This is a beautiful city to be posted to.

"They're quite happy to go to their postings elsewhere, but they certainly loved it here."

Col. Cave stressed: "We are leaving the garrison as a body."

The troops going to new duties are men Victoria has grown to know well and accept as part of the city.

"The mayor has been very conscious of the army, and so are the people. They have been very kind," he said.

"Here you feel perfectly at ease in uniform everywhere you go. It's a garrison town."

And the garrison town will line its streets come rain or shine to see Second Battalion Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, 4th Light Anti-Aircraft Battery, RCA, and 3rd Field Squadron, RCE, parade to Beacon Hill Park at 1 p.m.

They will be led by QOR Battalion Bugles and the militia band of 5th Medium Battery, with QOR commanding officer, Lt.-Col. R. F. MacKay as parade commander.

GERMANY-BOUND

The riflemen are heading for duty with Canada's contingent to NATO forces in West Germany.

Gunners will join their regiment at Picton, Ont., or take postings with other artillery units in Canada.

The engineers will replace 4 Field Squadron at Camp Chilliwack.

All will have moved out of their respective barracks at Camp Gordon Head and Work Point by Oct. 15.

Before the end of October the advance party of a new battalion fresh from duty in Germany—First Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry—will arrive at Work Point to prepare the way for the rest of the unit.

The Pats, whose prewar home was Victoria, are expected to be settled in by New Year's, 1958.

ROUTE

Parading from Athletic Park by way of Cook, Pandora and Douglas, the units — some 500 strong—will arrive at the Beacon Hill Park football field at about 1.30 p.m.

On a dais at the eastern edge of the field, near the cairn marking King George VI presentation of color to Pacific Naval Command in 1939, Col. Cave will stand with Mayor Percy Scurrah and the reeves of surrounding municipalities—Reeve A. C. Wurtele, Esquimalt; Reeve Arthur Ash, Saanich, and Reeve Fred Norris, Oak Bay.

Brig. John Adam will represent 23 Militia Group.

They will inspect the assembled ranks.

The platform party will proceed to another dais on Dallas Road below Beacon Hill to take a march-past salute.

Citizens who miss the parade through town to the park may see the artillery and 5 Battery Band march back through the downtown area by way of Cook as they return to Work Point and Bay Street Armoury.

Passmore Fails To Block $500 For C of C Fete

Saanich Coun. Leslie Passmore lost a one-man fight Thursday night to rescind council's earlier decision to donate $500 for the dinner for the forthcoming national convention of the Chamber of Commerce here.

He said he had made a mistake when he voted in favor of the donation and told council "we should be big enough to admit we made a mistake."

OFF HOOK

When no other councillor would second his motion, he added "that's okay, at least I'm off the hook."

Agreeing with a letter from Victoria Labor Council that noted the donation "with regret," Coun. Passmore warned "we have created a precedent which will be hard to live down."

He pointed out that similar requests from Saanich Women's Institute and Victoria Symphony Society had been turned down and resentment would be created by carrying through the donation.

"I'm not trying to get off the hook," Reeve Arthur Ash replied. "And I'm not scared of some letters to the papers."

NEVER AGAIN?

He said the chamber's convention would bring money to the area. Cities all over Canada vied for the honor and it "may never come here again."

"I think it would be a terrible thing if it is rescinded now. The delegates would go home and say what a cheap outfit we are. This is a tourist centre and we can't afford that kind of publicity."

$14,000 GIVEN

Reeve Ash added that local members of the chamber have contributed $14,000 toward the convention arrangements.

Coun. E. J. Diespecker said: "I still believe we will get value for the $500."

The Magic Key

At the corner of View and Broad Streets there's a place that sells keys. Magic keys, these are—keys which unlock the doorway to a garden of pleasure, which make the possessor heir to age-old experiences as delightful and distracting as the songs the sirens sang.

Each key, though it fits the same door, opens the way to a different vista of beauty—for the garden which you behold is within yourself as well as outside, and you find there the joys which you particularly desire — the ones which can most surely soothe your spirit and uplift your soul.

Being magic, they do not even look like keys — they look like slips of pasteboard, covered with many a cabalistic sign, no doubt invoking the gods and thus conjuring up the marvels desired. Be not afraid to read closely—no evil attends these strange symbols, nothing but joy and gladness, goodness and golden gain.

And what rich treasures are demanded for such magic keys? Must one bring the Cyclops' eye, the Golden Fleece, vials of spikenard or great ingots of gold to exchange for such rare instruments? Indeed no — for a miserly sum (as little as $9.00 in depreciated, inflated, 1957 dollars) you too can be the owner of a true magic key—a Symphony Season Ticket.

6 FUNERALS

GIBSON—The little pioneer Church of St. Stephen's, in the shelter of Mt. Newton, and overlooking the waters of the Saanich Inlet, was filled to overflowing by a congregation of friends on Saturday, September 14th who came to the Memorial Service held for Major E. Rex Gibson, President of the Alpine Club of Canada. Many members of the Alpine Club came from Vancouver, and some from even farther, and his many friends in Saanich and Victoria, and members of the Victoria Section and other clubs were represented. The beautiful service was conducted by the Rector, Dr. E. H. Lee, who spoke of the loss to the community at home, and to the Alpine Club, and of Rex's tireless energy and of the help that he gave to all. The hymns chosen for the service were some of those used in the Alpine Club camp. Rex's family would like to record their grateful thanks to the many friends who attended the Memorial Service, and all those who have helped them in their time of sorrow and loss.

INGLEDEW—On Monday morning at 10:30 in McCall Bros' Floral Funeral Chapel in the presence of many friends, Rev. Canon F. Pike conducted funeral services for the late Mr. George Ingledew of 376 Beach Drive, Victoria. The late Mr. Ingledew, a well-known resident of this city since 1912 was held in high esteem by all who knew him. Many beautiful floral arrangements were received and the congregation sang the familiar hymn "Rock of Ages." The following gentlemen served as pallbearers: Messrs. Charles Chitty, F. Crocker, James Edward, George Ford, Capt. Percy A. Green, M.C., M.M., and C. Kinloch. Cremation services were held at Royal Oak Crematorium. Floral offerings were forwarded to the O.V.A. hospital.

8 CARD of THANKS

Mr. Seymour and family wish to thank their many friends, neighbors and relatives for their many kind expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings in his recent bereavement in the loss of his dear wife, the late Sarah Wallace Seymour. Special thanks to Rev. Wray for his very consoling words, also to Dr. Bishop and the nurses and staff of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Mrs. J. Hunt wishes to thank all neighbors and friends for their kind sympathy in her recent bereavement in the loss of her son, Kenneth Hunt.

9 IN MEMORIAM

WILLS—In memory of Dad, George Wills, passed away Sept. 17, 1954

His charming ways and smiling face
Are a pleasure to recall.
He had a kindly word for each and died beloved by all.

—From his loving wife and family.

EVE ARDEN DEBUTS AT 7:30 ON 11; 'SUGARFOOT' ON 5 AT 8.30

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

WEEKEND COMMENT—It is hoped that the new edition of Your Hit Parade, which finished its second week of the autumn season, Saturday night, isn't indicative of what the viewer may expect during the fall and winter months. Frankly, it is smellevision.

Although Jill Corey is interesting in a Puckish sort of way, the remainder of the principals, Virginia Gibson, Alan Copeland and Tommy Leonetti are sadly lacking the vivacity and character of last year's crew, Gisele MacKenzie, Dorothy Collins, Russell Armes and Snooky Lanson. But the principal missing ingredient is the show's lack of movement. Gone, unfortunately, is the wondrous, almost frantic bustle and spontaneous gaiety that was the hallmark of Your Hit Parade for the past four years. And as for the dancing—surely there is an Arthur Murray studio somewhere around.

No, something will have to be done, and done soon, to better the show or it will wind up with only sponsors as viewers.

ONE WONDERS, too, whether moving the Mike Wallace interview to Saturday night is a wise decision. Although we enjoyed Wallace's interview with George Jessel it seems as though Sunday night is more suitable for a program that requires a certain contemplative and relaxed mood to be enjoyed to the full. Time will tell, and we, for one, hope that this most informative show retains its original lustre.

THE RODEO from Pendleton, Ore., was interesting but, unfortunately, was spoiled by the roll-me-over type of reception. The poor Lone Ranger—didn't anyone meet him at the airport, or did he evade the 5,000 moppets awaiting outside his hotel because, as he told a reporter, he had been ordered by his sponsors to head for the corral to study his program script?

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1957

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—You are in a dither to polish off a mountain of work today, which is very fine since the energy is great, but make certain you plan it wisely first, or you get into a jumbled mess of loose ends.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Get an early start at the beauty or barber shop, then lasso those persons you want to sell with your inspired plans—take them to a wonderful place for the best and quickest results and approval.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Use energy and wisdom to get all matters of fundamental basic security on the right course and in soundest possible condition. Get support of own family—let them held with improvements on real estate.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Look into daily paper and other informative printed matter for the current events, advertising, technical knowledge you require. Plan campaign, contact partners and co-operate fully. Travel, if necessary.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Put fine lecturing qualities aside today, also extraordinary generosity, and fix your thoughts and energies on the practical—increase income quickly; make improvements and innovations where necessary.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Highly sensitive, yet beautifully balanced and economical pal will now give you fine ideas for greater well-being, methods of expansion. Explain your needs, then listen with both ears wide open, mouth shut.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—You are undoubtedly missing out on greater possibilities for success simply because you are not familiar with the law regarding certain points. Be better informed. P.M. if you express yourself romantically, response is there.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—The wisest thing you can do today is to find an intelligent companion with whom to explore the treasures in your public library, planetarium, museum, etc. Plan your expedition carefully, bathe in knowledge.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Be wide-awake today to the expectations of your superiors, live up to them. Also, contact personal advisors, financiers and work out a finer plan for the future. P.M. get yearly checkup with doctor, dentist.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—A day spent delving into the most modern practices, policies, inventions by conversing with pertinent individuals in own sphere of endeavor will quickly show a profit tomorrow. Come to a real understanding with all.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—This is one of those wonderful days when you can put so much work behind you that others will marvel at your ability, and it frees many future hours for other activities. Late P.M. sit and breathe deeply, rest.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—A good day for jogging along happily with your associate, treating him or her to a wonderful luncheon. Then in p.m. you are in a fine mood for congenial companionship with adored one. Order a lobster thermidor at dinner.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN WEDNESDAY . . .

The surprising child born Wednesday is the kind who on the surface will appear to be delicate and somewhat lackadaisical, but in the long run will wear out and leave far behind all the others with his or her subconscious stamina. Teach kindness to others early, or your progeny may become egotistical. Chart is splendid for business, plus artistic professions — a fine combination of abilities.

Barking Dogs Bite Into Council's Time

Alleged barking of seven purebred collies and four pups occupied Saanich Council's attention for half an hour Monday night.

A petition of four names was received asking for cancellation of a kennel licence held by F. H. Webb, 5158 Patricia Bay Highway.

Initiator of the petition, J. R. Middleton, a neighbor, complained that the dogs "bark and whine until the early hours of the morning."

STRAY DOGS

Mr. Webb defended his dogs and said that great efforts had been made to cut disturbance to a minimum by building individual pens. He said there were many stray dogs that barked in the neighborhood.

J. P. Hodgson, a former neighbor, supported Mr. Webb and said he had never seen better kennels or more precautions taken in consideration of neighbors.

Council was told Mr. Webb could keep up to five dogs without a licence. The complaint was tabled until the petition was checked.

Montreal Bans Jet Fly-Past Over City

MONTREAL (CP) — The RCAF says the city of Montreal refused to allow air force jet planes to carry out a ceremonial fly-past over the city last Sunday.

A spokesman for the mayor's office said permission for the fly-past — honoring Battle of Britain Sunday—was refused on safety grounds.

"We had the example of Toronto," said the spokesman. He was referring to the recent CF-100 jet crash into Lake Ontario during tests for an air show at the Canadian National Exhibition.

"We do not mind the air force flying over the city if they follow federal regulations. But we consider the requested flying height of 2,000 feet very dangerous," he said.

An RCAF spokesman said permission had been requested to fly at 1,000 feet, "above all local obstructions." He said this height was lower than department of transport regulations allow, but was asked in order to avoid lanes used by commercial aircraft.

Genuine Strad Find Claimed

PETROLIA, Ont. (CP) — Thomas Miller, Petrolia antique dealer, said Monday he refused $1,000 for an old violin he believes to be a genuine Stradivarius. Mr. Miller said he purchased the instrument at an auction near here last Monday for $100.

Know Your Teacher

GEORGE BUVYER
. . . nagging notion

New Career At 40 'Rewarding'

An ex-RAF corporal who met his wife while stationed here at Pat Bay has embarked on a teaching career at the age of 40 at Esquimalt High School.

George Buvyer married his wife, Joan Mary, in England after the Second World War and was employed for some time as a shop maintenance worker at the Morris cars' manufacturing plant in Cowley.

Six years ago he returned to Victoria with his wife and children—George, now nine years old, and Teresa, seven—and until last year he was a machinist at HMC Dockyard.

Finally he gave into a notion that had been nagging him since his RAF days. He wanted to be a teacher.

"It was something I always wanted to do," Mr. Buvyer said, "but there was no point in taking up teaching in England when I planned to come back to Victoria."

GET ESTABLISHED

Then with a family to support, he felt he had to get established here before branching into a new line of work.

Last year Mr. Buvyer took a teacher training course at UBC and now he's passing his knowledge of industrial arts to students at the high school.

The work is "very rewarding," he said.

Value of an industrial arts course is that it "opens the eyes to the possibility of working with the hands," Mr. Buvyer said. "Then if the boy wants to continue to develop one particular skill he can go to an apprentice school after graduation."

Technical schools are "an absolute necessity if you're going to have a large pool of technical workers to draw from," he said.

Bingo Games For Charity Bring Fine

Bingo operator Robin Sidney Smith, 3864 Carey, was fined $50 in city police court today as the result of a test case in which he was charged with keeping a common gaming house.

Police raided premises known as the 1313 Club at 1313 Government Aug. 19 and seized a quantity of bingo game paraphernalia owned by the accused, who sub-let premises to charitable and religious organizations.

At the time, Smith was assisting the lessees, White Eagles organization, in running the game, police said. On a number of previous occasions he was seen to assist in the operation, and each time received a portion of the proceeds for rent.

Evidence showed the games had been run consistently, often on consecutive nights, over a period reaching back to June.

Groups mentioned as having leased the premises from Smith included Jaycettes, B'nai B'rith, Chinese Lions Club, Hadassah, Emmanuel Synagogue, Senior Citizens' Housing Society and James Bay Community Association.

CODE VIOLATED

Magistrate H. C. Hall said the Criminal Code classifies bingo as a game of chance. He pointed out the accused claimed exemption from prosecution on grounds the code allows charitable and religious organizations to hold games "occassionally" if not for private gain.

He found the accused had operated his premises as a business and therefore he was guilty of the charge.

Defence counsel Robert A. Price told the court "The accused had no wish to carry on an operation which would run afoul of the law."

He said his client came to him several months ago to inquire whether his operation would be legal, and subsequent advice was sought from then city prosecutor Alan Bigelow.

PREPARED TO STOP

Smith learned the operation was under scrutiny by police and its status would be considered. Mr. Price said his client was prepared to close down if the operation was illegal.

Meanwhile, Mr. Bigelow went on vacation, but police continued to assemble evidence and the next thing the accused knew his equipment was seized and a charge laid.

Mr. Bigelow said, however, that Smith had been warned by this time that his operation was considered illegal.

Magistrate Hall imposed nominal fine.

Three men were each fined $25 in Sidney RMCP court Monday for theft of a steel cauldron from an Indian on West Saanich Reserve.

They were Louis Claxton, East Saanich Reserve, and David Paul and Phillip Paul, both of West Saanich Reserve.

Highland Hearts to Hurry For 'Heather' One-Nighter

Highland hearts will have to rush this year if they want to revive old bonds with Bonnie Scotland by seeing the annual "White Heather Concert Party."

Here for only a one-night stand Oct. 10 will be the Scottish music hall troupe that has packed in Victoria audiences for the last eight years.

Mail orders for tickets will open Monday for the performance at the Royal Victoria Theatre. The show was held to a one-night stand this year due to heavy bookings down East.

The program will feature the return of handsome Will Starr, Scotland's ace accordionist, who will bring with him new and old favorite selections.

Humorist of the troupe this year is Jack Radcliffe, a character comedian who gained fame as a co-star in the film "Wee Geordie."

On the feminine side, laughter will be provoked by Helen Norman, a versatile comedienne who will evoke some hilarious Scottish comedy sketches.

George Cormack, a tenor, and Irene Sharp, one of Scotland's leading sopranos, will bring back memories of the land of the heather with duets and solos that have the unmistakable tang Olde Scotia.

Billy Dick will be master of ceremonies and the piano accompaniment will be supplied by Denis Woolford.

Sponsored again by the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society, proceeds will go towards furnishing the society's new centre, Holyrood House, now nearing completion at 2315 McBride.

Five Children Injured In Variety of Accidents

Two Greater Victoria youngsters are in hospital with moderate injuries as a result of Monday's accidents.

Three others were injured, but didn't require hospitalization.

At Jubilee Hospital, Peter Bridgewood, 15, has a fractured left leg, received in a soccer game at Mt. View High School.

Saanich police made a second trip to hospital, this time with 8½-year-old Beverley Ann Hyde, 20 McMorran Court, Cordova Bay, who received a fractured collar bone and injured hand when in collision with a car near home.

Driver was identified as Francis S. Ross, 5216 Beckton.

St. Joseph's Hospital discharged the girl after treatment.

At 3.15 p.m., city police answered a call to Johnson and Camosun, where Stafford Benning, 14, 1002 Johnson, and Fred Pritchard, 13, 1268 Pembroke, were thrown from Benning's bicycle to a sidewalk.

Police said the boys were going down a steep hill onto Camosun when brakes failed and in order to avoid striking an oncoming car swerved the bike into a curb.

Pritchard received a head cut and abrasions and Benning suffered face and hand abrasions. Both were X-rayed at St. Joseph's and discharged.

Credit Courses At College Evening Classes

Victoria College Evening Division will offer five credit courses this winter instead of the customary four, director R. T. Wallace said today.

The slate was chosen by pre-registration voting of prospective evening division students and for the first time includes third and fourth-year university subjects.

Courses are Education 461, starting Saturday, Oct. 5, and instructed by Miss A. V. Turner, tests and measurements director for the Greater Victoria School Board; English 200, starting Tuesday, Oct. 1, and instructed by G. G. McOrmond, Victoria College English department; English 427, a study of the English novel starting Oct. 1 and instructed by R. J. Bishop, head of the college English department; English 100-101, starting Oct. 1 and instructed by J. D. Grube, college English department, and Geography 303, starting Oct. 1 and instructed by C. H. Howatson, head of the college Geography department.

Credit will be given in all these courses, Mr. Wallace said, but auditors may take any course at a reduced fee.

Registrations must be made in person at the college Tuesday, Sept. 24, between 7.30 and 9 p.m.

Toronto Expert Invited to Talks On Amalgamation

Eric Hardy, director of the Citizens' Research Institute, Toronto, has been invited by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce civic affairs group to a February discussion of the amalgamation of Greater Victoria municipalities.

Last year the Citizens' Research Institute investigated and prepared a report on amalgamation in Greater Victoria at the request of the Chamber of Commerce.

At a meeting Monday the civic affairs group elected Eric L. Mallett, manager of the B.C. Telephone Co., as chairman. Vice-chairman is city lawyer K. C. Murphy.

Executive members are Aubrey Kent, Jack Housez, Forrest L. Shaw and C. M. Nelles.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

A popular course initiated last year, "Writing Effective English" will be offerel again this winter by the Victoria College Evening Division. Fundamentals of grammar, punctuation and style will be stressed. Instructor will be Dr. Robert G. Lawrence, assistant professor of English at Victoria College.

Weekly classes will commence Thursday, Sept. 26.

Work Point soldier John Joseph Trainor was sentenced in Esquimalt police court Monday to six months in jail on a charge of prowling by night near an Esquimalt home.

Court was told Trainor was fined $50 in Esquimalt court for the same offence in June last year and served six months for prowling at Chilliwack in the spring of this year.

Arty Monkey Business To Buy Chimp a Mate

LONDON (AP) — Congo the chimp is no chump.

"He is, perhaps, the only chimpanzee in the world," said zoologist Dr. Desmond Morris, "who is painting his way to a wife."

The zoologist thought it a pity that many chimps who paint pictures get no benefit from the sale of their art.

"If our plan is approved by the directors of the London zoo," said the zoologist, "Congo's paintings will be put on sale and the money received would go towards buying him a mate."

Dr. Morris looked over 24 oil paintings that the two-year-old chimp has turned out in the last five months.

"Yes," he told a press conference Monday, "that lot would buy him a nice little mate."

Congo's paintings and 36 works of art by the Baltimore, Md., chimp Betsy will go on public exhibition Wednesday.

MORE SOPHISTICATED

A casual critic might judge the paintings of the American chimp Betsy of Baltimore to be more sophisticated than Congo's.

"Not so," said Dr. Morris.

"The American paints with his fingers. Our Congo uses a brush. A decided difference."

There is a difference. Betsy's fingers make designs of delicate curves and whorls.

Congo uses bold, downward strokes. His paintings look somewhat like bundles of sticks loosely bound together.

Saanich council Monday night appointed Reeve Arthur Ash and Councillors George Austin and Ainslie Worthington to sit as a court of revision Nov. 1 prior to the civic election.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Exhaustion Caused Death Of Trucker

From CP Dispatches

DAWSON CREEK — An inquest into the cause of death of Robert Horsley, 45, of Fall City, Wash., showed he died as a result of exhaustion about 24 hours after he was last seen three weeks ago.

Officials said Monday the time of Horsley's death was determined by the distance he had travelled.

Trackers searched for Horsley, a trucker, for three weeks in the Moberly Lake area of east central B.C. They said he apparently wandered all one night. No camp was found over the route he apparently had taken.

Horsley was travelling on foot, looking over a parcel of land he intended to buy.

His truck was found two weeks ago on a road near Moberly Lake. All Horsley's equipment and personal effects were found nearby. His body was found late last week.

DEATH DRIVER CHARGED

PENTICTON — Martin Paul, 20, has been charged with criminal negligence following the death of his brother.

RCMP said Monday that Paul, of the Penticton Indian reserve, has been formally charged with causing the death of his brother, Gabriel Paul, by criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle.

Gabriel Paul died in hospital May 12 following a motor car accident on the Indian reserve.

DIES OF INJURIES

CHILLIWACK—Joseph Burke, has died in hospital from injuries suffered when he was hit by a car Saturday night.

RCMP said the accident happened as Burke was crossing in the middle of the block.

They said the car was driven by Cornelius Goertzen of Chilliwack.

JAILED FOR ROBBERY

VANCOUVER—Mervin Olson, 23, of Burnaby, was sentenced Monday to jail for three years for attacking and robbing a Vancouver actor in his apartment Sept. 1. He pleaded guilty previously on a charge of robbing actor Derek Ralston.

CRACKDOWN ON DRIVERS

VANCOUVER — City police have started a new crackdown on drinking drivers.

Every drinking motorist who can be charged, will be charged, traffic superintendent Ralph Booth said Monday.

Police will also attempt to lay more charges of drunken driving instead of impaired driving. A drunken driving conviction carries a mandatory seven-day jail term.

IMMIGRANT LOGGER DIES WHEN LOG SLIPS CHOKER

ALERT BAY (CP)—A logger was killed at the Alice Lake Logging Company camp on Harbledown Island Wednesday has been identified as Danilo Marin, 22, a recent immigrant from Italy.

Police said a log which was being hauled out slipped its choker and crushed Marin.

It was revealed by police Sunday that John Garreth Robinson, 30, a logger whose parents live at Waterloo, Ont., died Aug. 31 by drowning.

He was employed at Woss Camp, Englewood, and was swimming with friends at 2 a.m. when he failed to surface. The body was recovered and sent to Vancouver for burial.

EX-VICTORIAN TO ESSONDALE

Murder Suspect Ruled Insane

NANAIMO — Leland Miller, 30, former Victorian, charged with murdering Mrs. Dorothy Duyvejonck, 31, on April 2 in a house they shared near Courtenay, was found unfit Monday to stand trial for murder.

He will be held at Essondale, on the mainland.

An all-male Assize Court jury took 31 minutes to find the accused insane and unfit to instruct his counsel.

Two psychiatrists, including one called by the prosecution, agreed that Miller suffered from delusions. For the defence Dr. Roderick Whitman, psychiatrist at Vancouver General Hospital, considered Miller unfit to stand trial.

FEARS FOR PARENTS

He described the accused as a schizophrenic of the Paranoid type. He said Miller had expressed fears to him that "something was going to happen" to his parents.

Psychiatrist Joseph C. Thomas, called by the prosecution, expressed the belief that Miller suffered from a mental illness which predated the slaying. But he was orientated as to who and where he is now.

The court was presided over by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

Defence counsel first called Miller's father, Piercy Charles Miller of Victoria, to testify. He told the court that Leland, towards the end of last year, had referred to "men in black suits watching him." He used to "sit and think," the father said.

MIXED UP

Leland's younger brother, Alvin Piercy Miller of Courtenay, testified the accused seemed "mixed up" the night of April 2, and talked about "people reading his mind."

The witness said his brother had received injuries some years ago when he fell 30 to 40 feet from a Vancouver dock and broke his pelvis.

Next trial in Assize Court will be that of James Paul Lewis of Dashwood, tentatively set for Thursday. Lewis is charged with an offence concerning a 12-year-old girl.

On Monday Vernon Ernest Breckon will stand trial for the murder of William Wallace at Quathiaski Cove on Quadra Island last March.

Fine of $20 After 9 Hurt In Crackup

NANAIMO (CP) — Echoes of an accident on Empire Day which sent six troopers of the B.C. Regiment to hospital were heard in police court Monday when Robert Christopher Simser of Princeton pleaded guilty to driving without due care and attention and was fined $20 and $5.50 costs.

Simser, then a Nanaimo resident, was driver of the car which collided with the army truck, overturning the military vehicle and injuring three passengers in the Simser car as well as the troopers.

When no attention was paid to a summons issued for Simser on June 13, a warrant was obtained for his arrest on June 17. He was apprehended at Princeton, where he is a truck driver for a turkey farm, and brought to Nanaimo for trial.

ISLAND DIGEST

Indian Surgery On Skull 2,000 Years Ago

Some 2,000 years ago a coast Indian surgeon performed one of the most difficult operations —trephining of a skull — and the patient lived for some time after.

Evidence of the operation, involving cutting a hole in the skull, was given to the Provincial Museum by E. B. Reid of Saturna Island, through the efforts of H. J. Sceats of Victoria.

It is the cranium of a skull with a neat hole about three-quarters of an inch in diameter and one inch above the right eyebrow.

Examination of the skull at Royal Jubilee Hospital indicated that healing of the bone had taken place around the margin of the hole. Medical authorities said it was possible, but highly unlikely, that such a hole could have been caused by a blow.

NO HEALING

Other cases of prehistoric trephining have been found throughout the Americas, but some of these skulls still bear the marks of cutting tools, indicating that there was no healing and that the "patients" did not survive.

The operation is performed to relieve the brain of pressure or irritation.

Two Halls Ready For 'Klondikers'

SOOKE — Final plans have been made for the Klondike night to be held Saturday in Sooke Community Hall to raise funds to match the per capita grant for the community's centennial project.

There will be a musical program, gold rush scene, cancan dance, games, and candy, flapjacks, coffee, soft drinks, and other refreshments. The neighboring Canadian Legion Hall also will be used in the celebration.

CARAVAN MAY 3

Reports on decorating, entertainment and refreshments were made at a meeting of the centennial committee.

It was also reported that the centennial caravan will be in Sooke May 3, when the Jordan River centennial group will be invited to attend.

The committee has scheduled a day of prayer and lighing of beacon fires for April 27.

FAIR EXCHANGE NO ROBBERY?

NANAIMO — A thief who broke into Dakin's Ltd. clothing store on the weekend tried on several garments, left with a complete new outfit, and left his old clothes behind.

Everything else was undisturbed, including valuable cameras and photographic equipment in another part of the store.

400 'ARMY' CANVASSERS

NANAIMO—Salvation Army Red Shield campaign to raise $7,500 got under way this week with nearly 400 persons taking part. Canvassers will cover the district between Lantzville and Ladysmith.

Section heads in the campaign are Mrs. Joyce Best, residential; Gerry Covey, business district; Dr. R. E. Foerster, special names; Les Corfield, employees; Norman Schroeder, treasurer.

Nets Caught by Tug, Fish Boat Gets Tow

ALERT BAY (CP) — Unbeknown to its crew, a tug dragged a fishing boat by its net through Johnston Strait for several hours early Monday.

Wireless operators at Alert Bay said they picked up a call from the Department of Transport station at Bull Harbor which said the fishing vessel was unable to contact the tug to seek release from its predicament.

Alert Bay wireless station called Northwest Telephone Company which asked it Vancouver office to notify the owners of the tug, believed to be the Lloyd B. Gore.

The U.S. Coast Guard was also notified of the involuntary tow taking place in darkness and some fog between 2 a.m. and 7 a.m. Monday.

The network of communications that had been set in motion ceased when the fishing vessel reported it had freed itself of the net and drawn alongside the tug.

It was understood that the fishing vessel could have cut the net at any time but was reluctant to do so because of the cost of the equipment.

Hornet's Nest Ready for Enemy Aircraft

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Times Staff Reporter

SEATTLE, Washington—Should enemy aircraft ever attack the North American continent they will be in for a warm welcome.

Canadian and American newsmen received that assurance today on being shown some of the latest defence equipment now being manufactured at the Boeing Airplane Company's plant.

We are here as guests of the North American Air Defence Command (NORAD)—an organization set up to control all North America's air defence forces in wartime, with Canada and the U.S. participating as equal partners.

And NORAD officials are sparing no effort to show us how the newly-integrated Canada-U.S. air defence system would operate in an emergency.

There is, for instance, the BOMARC IM-99 pilotless interceptor, now entering on a new operational phase.

The BOMARC is the first unmanned interceptor scheduled for operational use in the North American Air Defence system. It is capable of carrying a nuclear war head and of knocking down enemy bombers flying at extremely high altitudes.

The missile has already made spectacular interceptions of drone aircraft in a continuing series of firings at Patrick Air Force Base, Florida, and it will soon be tested under actual operational conditions.

It is described as the longest-ranged supersonic ground-to-air missile in the NORAD arsenal.

It has a wing span of 18 feet, weighs about 15,000 pounds and stands at 47 feet before launching. It is powered initially on take-off by a rocket engine but, once speed is attained, two air-breathing ram-jet engines take over.

The ram-jet engine differs from the regular jet engine in that it has no spinning turbine blades to compress the atmosphere before it is put in motion.

Compression for the ram-jet is supplied entirely by the high-speed impact of the engine's intake.

Importance of the Bomarc in the NORAD scheme of air defence was highlighted recently by an announcement from U.S. Air Force headquarters.

It disclosed that, in spite of a current military austerity program, $139,000,000 has been earmarked for quantity production of the Bomarc.

First step in the new program is the construction of a tactical Bomarc launching site complete with all equipment and communications necessary to put the ground-to-air supersonic missile on a ready-to-fire basis.

Through practical tests NORAD will determine the tactical suitability of the ramjet-powered interceptor, its launching, guidance, support and testing equipment.

The base will also be used to train NORAD personnel in operation of the missile from field assembly to firing.

Three key staff officers from NORAD headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colorado, gave newsmen an operational briefing to show how the combined Canada-U.S. group would swing into action in event of an enemy air attack.

Air Commodore A. D. Ross, commander 5th Air Division, Royal Canadian Air Force, Vancouver, presented a report on the Canadian portion of NORAD.

Long Branch Coming For Boxla Finals Here

Petes Fail in Bid To Block Playoff

Long Branch Pontiacs will arrive in Victoria to meet Victoria Shamrocks Wednesday night in the Mann Cup Dominion boxla finals, Canadian lacrosse officials reported at press time today.

Confirmation of the Long Branch replacement for Peterborough Timbermen stalled a last-ditch effort of the Petes to block the series

Tommy Gordon, secretary of the Canadian Lacrosse Association announced the Pontiacs would open a best-of-seven series for the Mann Cup at Memorial Arena at 8.30.

Gordon said that confirmation of the Pontiacs' arrival had come from Chuck Rowan of Dundas, Ont., second vice-president of the CLA.

Pontiacs will replace Peterborough Timbermen, suspended indefinitely when they refused to play the scheduled opening game of the original series here Monday night.

Peterborough refused to play in Monday night's opener against the Shamrocks because scoring star Bobby Allan was ruled ineligible.

Pontiacs finished only two points behind the Petes in the Ontario Senior Lacrosse League this season.

Allan was declared ineligible because he signed two player forms this year—one for Nanaimo and one for Peterborough.

The game was cancelled and 3,300 fans went home angry, disappointed and confused.

Peterborough officials and players were suspended indefinitely.

While CLA officials here finalized plans for the younger Pontiacs to replace the Petes, Peterborough officials in the east started a move to block the Long Branch club from participation in the series.

The Petes, stranded here, were keeping telephone lines between their hotel and Peterborough sizzling and declining comment on their next actions.

In Peterborough, club directors were up in arms over the suspension of the eastern champions.

A spokesman for Peterborough directors said they had been informed that Fred Conrad of St. Catherines, vice-president of the Ontario Lacrosse Association had agreed to call an OLA meeting on the matter.

Long Branch manager Frank Ruse told CLA officials he was delighted at the opportunity to play.

CLA president Ted Blair and other CLA officials in Victoria were also attempting to decide on punishment for the Petes.

Blair stated Monday night that he favored life suspensions from lacrosse and all amateur sports for club officials and most of the players. It is believed a few of the younger players may escape suspension because they had no active part in the team's decision.

The Peterborough club took the view that CLA officials should have asked the OLA for a replacement rather than contacting the Pontiacs directly.

CLA officials said Peterborough had been told that Allan was ineligible to play last June and again on Aug. 12. Allan was reported to have signed

New UN Session Gets Underway

Smith Plans Early Statement On Policy of Canadian Gov't

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand was elected president of the 12th UN General Assembly today.

His only opponent, Charles Malik of Lebanon, withdrew from the contest.

Malik said he was yielding to Munro in the interest of harmony.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Another General Assembly of the United Nations—the 12th since the world organization was created after the Second World War—was called today for another session of dealing with global problems on a parliamentary level.

Sidney Smith, Canada's new external affairs minister, was on hand for the opening session.

After his arrival from Ottawa late Monday Smith conferred with Canadian delegation members.

Smith plans to make a major Canadian policy statement before the assembly early in session.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker is expected to arrive some time next weekend to make a brief appearance in the assembly and the external affairs minister's speech more than likely will be timed to coincide with this visit.

Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand today was making his farewell appearance as assembly president, preparatory to taking over his new task as UN investigator of the Hungarian question.

The perennial problem of a UN seat for Communist China also held interest today, but Peiping's renewed bid for membership was headed for another certain rebuff.

AFL-CIO Set To Oust Teamsters

NEW YORK (AP) — The AFL-CIO ethical practices committee was reported today to have set the stage for possible suspension or ouster of the teamsters' union from the merged labor federation.

The committee was said to have authorized drafting of a report declaring the truck union is under corrupt influence in violation of the anti-racketeering provisions of the AFL-CIO constitution.

The committee was reported to have upheld charges of racketeering, misuse of union funds and other corruption at a closed meeting here Monday.

This development was reported shortly after Senator John McClellan (Dem., Ark.), chairman of the Senate committee investigating rackets in labor and management, announced in Washington that the committee plans to resume its investigation of James R. Hoffa, a vice-president of the teamsters. The hearing were scheduled to start Sept. 24.

BIG STORM THREATENS LOUISIANA

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Louisiana coastal residents were warned today, for the third time in three months, to prepare for possible evacuation in the face of a tropical storm moving northward through the Gulf of Mexico.

The U.S. weather bureau said that tropical storm Esther, packing 50-mile an hour winds, was centred about 270 miles south of the west Louisiana coast. It was moving northward at a forward speed of 10 miles an hour.

Mothers Act To Forestall Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—A Little Rock lawyer sought a delaying action today that could block federal intervention in the city's embittered integration dispute for up to three months.

Attorney Griffin Smith, Jr., representing the Central High School Mothers' League, mailed an appeal to the eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis against a forthwith integration order handed down Aug. 30 by U.S. District Judge Ronald Davies.

Even though Smith said he plans to carry on "as soon as possible," he legally has 90 days from the time his appeal is filed to state his case in the appellate court.

Thus Smith's appeal could forestall any federal action to force Governor Orval E. Faubus to remove national guards troops from Central High, until the higher court hears the appeal and makes its decision.

Pull Out Armed Guards Mayor's Plea to Faubus

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Little Rock Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann formally appealed to Governor Orval Faubus today to withdraw armed guards from Central High School in the interest of "compliance with law and order."

The mayor's statement came in the wake of these developments in the clash over integration of the races:

1. The U.S. district-attorney's office disclosed it has drawn up a list of "about 200" names of persons who may be subpoenaed to appear at Friday's hearing on a petition for a preliminary injunction against Faubus.

2. Representative Brooks Hays (Dem., Ark.) came from a conference with the governor and said they would go on with their talks later today. Asked about the possibility of a settlement of the controversy before Friday, Hays said: "I don't think I am in a position to discuss that."

Hays is the Arkansas Democrat who helped arrange Saturday's meeting between President Eisenhower and Faubus.

The contingent of guardsmen, who have kept Negroes from entering the 2,000-pupil school at Faubus' direction, was reduced to about a dozen today.

Negro Pupils Enrolled In Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (CP) — Negro students enrolled in the first grades of previously all-white elementary schools went back to classes today under protection of a federal court injunction and vigilant city police.

There were no incidents whatever, in contrast to disorders at the start of mixed first-grade classes last week which were climaxed by a school dynamiting.

Sharply-increased attendance was recorded at the six integrated schools, where last week's violence kept hundreds of children at home.

Back in operation was the Hattie Cotton school, where a dynamite blast last Tuesday caused heavy damage. Classes were being conducted on a morning and afternoon schedule in undamaged or hastily-repaired classrooms. The one Negro enrolled there did not show up today.

WIRE BRIEFS

Bomber Crashes, Crew Sighted

HALIFAX (CP)—A United States B-47 jet bomber crashed today into the Gulf of St. Lawrence, about 100 miles northeast of Sydney. RCAF search and rescue officials said the crew of the bomber escaped.

Search and rescue officials here said five life rafts were dropped to the three men. They said they did not know immediately how the airmen will be picked up in the cloudy, windswept gulf, about 100 miles northeast of Sydney.

Jet Decision Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservative government is considering whether to cancel or stretch out production of the Mark VI version of the CF-100 jet interceptor, usually reliable sources said today. Decision is expected in two weeks.

Russ Jets Too Noisy

LONDON (UP) — The British government asked Russia today to keep its TU-104 jet airliner away from London airport during the night because it makes so much noise.

Libel Jury Out

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jury buckles down today to the task of sifting a verdict from an avalanche of scandal - saturated testimony in the Confidential magazine criminal libel trial. The case went to the jury late Monday afternoon.

1 Lost in Ship Blast, Tacoma Homes Rocked

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—With an earth-shattering explosion that rocked most of Tacoma, the 800-ton fishing vessel Pacific Queen was ripped apart today and one man was believed dead in the charred hulk.

The missing man is Bill Webber, San Jose, Calif., a ship's welder.

Another man aboard the ship, Nick Medak, San Pedro, Calif., managed to escape, clad only in his shorts. He was near hysteria when he talked to firemen.

The tremendous blast occurred a few minutes after 4 a.m. as the Pacific Queen, fresh from unloading a cargo of Alaskan salmon in Seattle, was tied alongside Tacoma's old town dock.

Cause of the explosion is not known, but ammonia fumes spilled from the vessel for several hours after the blast, which was reported to have knocked out house windows two blocks away and heaved several persons from their beds.

Firemen, working frantically against the tide in the fast-sinking ship, entered the smoking hulk to search for Webber. They entered the room in which he was supposed to have been trapped, found nothing.

DIEFENBAKER NOW 'RT. HON.'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Queen has approved an order entitling Prime Minister Diefenbaker to be styled "the right honorable," his office said today.

Word had been received from London Monday that she had approved the order, a result of Mr. Diefenbaker's appointment to the Queen's Privy Council, announced by Prime Minister Macmillan of the United Kingdom Sunday.

Asiatic Flu Spreads Through British Navy

LONDON (AP) — Outbreaks of suspected Asian flu spread today through the Royal Navy and threatened to close schools and industry in some parts of Britain.

Four ships scheduled to take part in the NATO Exercise Strikeback stayed behind when the rest of the allied fleet sailed for the rendezvous point.

The navy's worst outbreak was at HMS Ganges, a training establishment near Ipswich on the English east coast, where 631 cases were reported.

The illness also struck at crews of three destroyers in the Firth of Clyde, Scotland, and one at Chatham, in the Thames Estuary.

At the north Midland city of Derby 60 bus drivers were down with flu. At one Derby school, 129 children were ill.

Egypt Warning To U.S. Planes

The Cairo newspaper Al Ahram reported today that planes of the U.S. Sixth Fleet had approached Egyptian territorial waters near Alexandria and circled the area for some time before flying away.

Bungling by Ottawa Charged By Angry B.C. Clergyman

TERRACE, B.C. (CP) — A clergyman has charged the federal government with bungling in the opening of the new federal building here.

Following is the statement made by Rev. C. L. Collins, United Church minister:

It is the understanding of a great many people here that such a matter as the opening of the federal buildings is the concern of all the people and that all the public should be represented.

Many people believe that the Conservatives were a bunch of amateurs in charge of a professional job and that arrangements were bungled.

GREAT INCONSISTENCY

On seeing handwritten posters displayed announcing the opening and inquiring as to what arrangements were made for a religious dedication of the building, one minister was informed that "the government wishes to keep away from religion in these affairs."

There was not an invitation sent to one of the clergy of the 14 different denominations in Terrace.

It brings out a great inconsistency. Religious services are used at the openings of parliament and yet when government buildings are opened they suddenly want nothing to do with religion.

To sum it up the things which have caused much criticism in connection with the fiasco are:

There was no dedicatory service by any religious body;

The whole affair was arranged by and seemed to be in the charge of the architect;

The wrong federal minister was sent in to do the job. This was not a defence department affair (Defence Minister Pearkes officially opened the building) but was a department of public works and post office building;

The ex-member of the Skeena riding was not invited even after representations had been made by our own Conservative organization;

The Union Jack is not a decorative table cloth. It should have been hanging from the staff not draped over the table;

All organizations should have been consulted before the announcement of the opening was made;

We have a new government in Canada. They are a group of Christian gentlemen headed by a fine, sincere Christian man in charge of affairs. Let them remember that God expects these men to administer in a Christian way. We will succeed if due deference is shown him in all our undertakings.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

We thank thee, our Father, that thou who art the Architect of the universe dost not find thyself too busy to hear our cry of deep need. We crave thy guidance, thy forgiveness, thy strength to meet our lack. Take us as we are and by thy rich grace make us what we ought to be; through Christ. Amen.

Miners Rush Digging To Save Trapped Mate

MULLENS, W. Va. (AP)—Rescue crews dug into tons of rock and slate 4,000 feet inside a coal mine early today in the hope that a trapped miner may still be alive.

The miner, 50-year-old Arlie (Padge) Davis, was trapped with two others in the roof fall at Tierney No. 1 mine at Herndon, W. Va., Monday. The others were killed and Davis was believed dead.

The body of Paul D. Kratsch, 43, was recovered early this morning.

playing forms for two teams this season.

Peterborough blamed the CLA.

"CLA WRONG"

"The CLA has been wrong on the Allan case for two years," said Bob Peirson, past president of the Petes. "The CLA knew Allan had no release from the Ontario Lacrosse Association yet they let him play for Nanaimo all season in British Columbia and even in the Mann Cup series. This despite their own ruling that no club could lose more than one player a season to another in branch-to-branch transfers, and Nanaimo already had Harry Whipper from us in 1956 before Allan joined him."

"Furthermore we had permission from OLA president Ted Blair this season to play Allan, and now Blair has joined western CLA officials in claiming Allan isn't eligible to play for our team. Allan signed a certificate this spring to play for Nanaimo but he was never a resident this year of B.C. and he did not receive an OLA release, so how can they claim him out there?" asked Peirson.

WON'T PAY

"It is the CLA not Peterborough or the OLA which is breaking the rules in this case," said Peirson.

Team officials here discussed means of getting the team back to Peterborough as the CLA has announced it won't foot the bill.

Dr. Epping, another past president, said he understood that other officials with the team in Victoria were to meet with CLA officials later today.

He said: "We'll get our team home, don't worry about that. There's too much civic pride in our team and the Petes are too well liked to be left stranded out west."

In Toronto, Long Branch were reported today to be seeking Ross Powless, Tony D'Amico and Gerry Fitzgerald from Hamilton Lincoln Burners.

Peterborough's refusal to play Monday night was announced after they kept 3,000 Memorial Arena fans waiting for about 15 minutes while discussions were held.

An ultimatum was delivered to the team by CLA secretary Tommy Gordon after the Petes had been closeted far about 40 minutes.

A few minutes after the ultimatum was delivered, the game cancellation was announced to the restless fans.

CLA officials also announced they were cutting off "immediately" all payment of hotel and food bills for the Timbermen and that the team would have to pay its own way back to Ontario. The team also forfeited a $1,000 bond posted with the CLA.

Leading American Educators Coming for Trustee Parley

Two leaders in the field of education in the United States will be principle speakers at a three-day convention of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association at the Empress Hotel starting Sept. 23.

Dr. M. E. LaZerte, BA, MA, PhD, dean of the faculty of education at the University of Michigan will speak on "Education Finance" and Charles B. Park, director of special studies at Central Michigan College, will present a paper "What Is Teacher Aide."

Dr. LaZerte has had a long and distinguished teaching of career but is best known in Canada as the author of the report "School Finance in Canada" which has become a standard reference work in the field of education finance. An American, he was president of the Alberta Teachers' Association from 1938 to 1940, and president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation in 1939-1940.

UNESCO DELEGATE

In succeeding years he was chairman of the Canadian Association's Research Council, a member of the Canada-U.S. committee on education, and Canadian delegate to the fifth UNESCO general conference at Florence, Italy, in May and June of 1950.

His activities in these varied fields won him honorary life membership in the Alberta and Saskatchewan Teachers' Associations and in the Canadian Education Association.

Mr. Park obtained his master's degree from the University of Michigan and took advanced training at Northwestern and Colorado Teachers College.

After a career in high school teaching culminating in a 23-year term as superintendent of schools in the Michigan area, he became assistant director of special studies at Central Michigan College, and after nine years in this post was appointed director of the department.

The convention will be under the chairmanship of the association president, A. W. E. Mercer.

ELECTION

Included in the agenda is the election of new officers and the presentation of regional reports for the past year.

At a luncheon following the formal opening, messages of welcome will be offered by B.C. Education Minister Leslie Peterson and UBC president, Dr. Norman MacKenzie.

Following the conclusion of business sessions on Wednesday, tours of HMC Dockyard and Royal Roads are slated for the delegates, followed in the evening by the annual banquet and ball in the Crystal Ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

Juniors Star In Club Event

By ERNIE FEDORUK

A pair of junior sharpshooters and defending champion Frank Scroggs led a field of eight survivors into the second round of the Uplands Golf Club championship at the weekend.

Bill Wakeham, Canadian junior champion, tossed a subpar round at Gord Pellow to reach the quarter-finals with a 4 and 3 victory while Dale Dalziel, another junior, chalked up a thrilling extra-hole victory over C. Heggie. There was never more than a one-hole difference at any time in the match until Dalziel ended the contest on the 20th.

The veteran Scroggs was forced to come from behind to dispose of another junior, Noel Dalziel, 3 and 2.

Gil Briscoe, Ernie Peden, Bill Wightman, Bernie Rogers and Bert Saxon joined Dale Dalziel, Wakeham and Scroggs in the round of eight.

Briscoe downed Reg Elliott two up, Peden sidelined Clare Abbott 4 and 3 while Wightman disposed of W. Jeanes 2 and 1. Rogers scored the easiest victory of the first round, trouncing Bob Moss 6 and 5 while Saxon beat Owen Jull 4 and 2.

Three extra-hole matches held the spotlight in lesser flights. D. McLean won from S. Walton, one up, after a 36-hole second-flight contest, while F. Switzer downed M. Coxworth by the same score in the third flight after 27 holes of play.

Another overtime battle resulted in the fifth flight when P. Fediw and S. C. Watkins finished on even terms after 18 holes. They will play off Wednesday.

Second round will be staged Sunday.

BUNKER BEAT: Oak Bay's Laurie Carroll and Norm Boden of Gorge Vale, if the latter is declared eligible, will take in the B.C. assistant-pro tournament at Vancouver Friday . . . It's a one-day, 36-hole shot . . . the youthful Boden, who turned pro only a few weeks ago and is working with Joe Pryke at the Gorge layout, will know Wednesday if he is eligible to compete . . .

Competition-wise, these are dull days on the golf beat but the B.C. Open, scheduled for Vancouver Golf Club early in October, should perk things up . . . Peter Watson and Alan Manson share the half-way lead in the Oak Bay junior championship . . . the 36-hole medal tournament winds up Saturday . . . Watson and Manson fired 79s last Saturday to take a three-stroke lead over Bill Carlow . . . Bob Wight is fourth with an 85.

Matson trophy competition, which actually amounts to the Island handicap championship, will be held at Gorge Vale Sunday . . . entries are expected from all city clubs as well as up-Island centres . . . It's an 18-hole affair . . . Colwood golfers scored a convincing 34-2 victory over Nanaimo shotsmiths in an inter-club match at Colwood Sunday . . . Boden is spending his evenings at the Quadra driving range . . . he's the teaching pro there . . . it's a good chance for beginners, and especially golfers not attached to any club, to brush up on their game . . . Norm, incidentally, reports the driving range will do business all year around . . . the driving range is being covered to protect golfers from rain and, at the same time, floodlights are being erected . . . the chores are expected to be completed long before the rains come . . . the driving range is located at Quadra and McKenzie Avenue.

Two Victorians have been named to the zone four committee of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association . . . they are Alex Hendry and Bill Yardley . . . PNGA officials at their annual meeting in Tacoma approved a "modernizing" of the organization's structure . . . the PNGA territory was divided into four zones with B.C. and Alberta making up zone four.

Braves Bounce Back to Life

BY THE UNITED PRESS

Those "pallbearers" had better find themselves another funeral somewhere because Milwaukee Braves don't look as if they're going to play the fall guys for a National League burial party.

Just when everyone was despairing of his chances, that Milwaukee "patient" showed a decided turn for the better today and it could be the crisis is past, what with the end of a three-game losing streak and a more comforting three-game lead in the race.

Braves brought the big chance about when they snapped out of their slump with a 14-hit attack that overcame Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1, Monday night. Those 14 hits represented the Braves' highest total in two weeks.

BIG THREE

Three Milwaukee players who helped dispel the gloom were Bob Buhl, Del Rice and Johnny Logan.

Buhl, pitching his first complete game since he was sidelined with arm trouble Aug. 18, held the Phillies to eight hits and an unearned run in the eighth inning.

Rice, never much of a slugger, poled a homer off loser Harvey Haddix in the third inning and the Braves were never headed. Logan banged out three hits.

Victory reduced Braves' pennant-clinching "magic number" to nine.

DODGERS BOW

In the only other game played Monday night, Cincinnati Redlegs defeated Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2 in 10 innings but were mathematically eliminated from pennant contention due to Braves' triumph.

Rain cancelled a scheduled game between the Orioles and Indians and also washed out a game between the second-place White Sox and Senators. The Chicago-Washington game will be replayed Sept. 30 only if it has a direct bearing on the finish.

Four-Point Edge Beats Island Shots

Vancouver Island marksmen lost out in their assault on the Buchart Shield in annual competition with a mainland team Sunday by the narrow margin of four points.

The Islanders led the mainlanders from the opening shot at the 200-yard range right up to the 600-yard marker, where they were overtaken and passed with the final score of 1,128-1,124.

Franie Morse, shooting for the Islanders, posted the highest score of the day with 146 out of 150 with the only possible of the day from the 200-yard range.

AN ITEM LIKE BUCKSHOT COULD DISTURB A FELLA

Bob Fleming, pro golfer from Victoria, had something else to contend with besides the usual gallery chatter and a tough shot on the second hole of the Rossland-Trail golf course Sunday morning at Trail.

Participating in the $1,000 Rossland-Trail Open, Fleming was not too disturbed when wild B.C. hunters out on the second day of the season started blasting away at nearby game.

But when buckshot rattled through the trees above his head, he indicated this was a horse of another color.

RIDERS ROMP

Seven Straight Losses for Leos

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Clem Crowe's British Columbia Lions reached the halfway mark of their fourth Western Interprovincial Football Union season Monday night. Again, their chances for a playoff berth are slim.

A 41-21 drubbing by second-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers at Vancouver was Lions' seventh straight defeat since winning their league opener. With another eight games to play, B.C. is already five games behind first-place Edmonton Eskimos.

Meanwhile, playoff hopes of another failing club brightened. Saskatchewan Roughriders counted a much-needed victory—their second in seven starts—when they clubbed Calgary Stampeders 44-27 at Regina despite an injury-weakened backfield.

As in previous games, Lions opened strong with a snappy offensive and led the Bombers 14-7 at halftime Monday night, but faded in the last half.

Quarter Kenny Ploen plunged for one touchdown for Winnipeg, Gerry James went over twice, and backs Leo Lewis, Ron Latourelle and Jack Hutchinson had one apiece.

Paul Cameron, By Bailey and Ted Hunt scored B.C. touchdowns.

In Regina, the Roughriders overcame similar troubles as they went into action without power backfielders Ken Carpenter and Jack Hill. But fullback Bobby Marlow's standout ground-gaining performance and the showing of Canadian Harry Lunn made up for the deficit.

Stamps couldn't hold the ball. Three third-down snaps to kicker Ted Duncan went over his head, and two led to Regina scoring. Two other touchdowns followed on a Calgary fumble and a Marlow interception of one of quarterback Jim Fink's passes.

Marlow scored two touchdowns, and the others came from halves Sam Wesley, Lunn, Larry Isbell and end Stan Williams. Reg Whitehouse booted four converts, and a rouge and a safety touch rounded out the Saskatchewan points.

Dean Renfro, Al Valdes and John Pyeati scored touchdowns for Calgary, and Glen Christian converted all of them.

Slammer Sweeps One He Wanted This Year

DALLAS (AP)—Sam Snead, who says he wants to win a tournament a year until he's 50, then retire, took the one for 1957 Monday with the widest margin anywhere since 1955—10 strokes—in the $40,000 Dallas Open.

Admitting to being 45 after he had wound up with a three-under-par 68 for a 264 total over 72 holes and grabbed the $8,000 first money, Snead was winning his 96th tournament according to the Professional Golfers Association record book.

"I have won over 100 tournaments," he commented. "The PGA isn't counting a flock of tournaments I have won over the years."

Toronto's Al Balding was eliminated Sunday after shooting 83 on the third round for a 225 total. The cutoff for the professionals was 218.

Snead went into fourth place among the money-winners although he has participated in only 12 of the 32 tournaments this year. He has earned $28,260.

His victory by 10 strokes was the longest lead of the year—the best previous was Ken Venturi's five-stroke triumph at Milwaukee. The widest margin of which the PGA has a record is the 13 strokes Gene Littler won by at Las Vegas, Nev., in 1955.

All Rocks Needed Was Elbow Room

BRAMPTON, Ont. — Well, we're even again.

What started out as a best-of-seven series for the Canadian junior lacrosse championship is now a best-of-three affair.

The boys didn't let me down. I knew we'd look much better when we returned to Brampton's floor. The boys had more running room Monday night and it paid off in that 8-7 victory to tie the series 2-2.

It was a solid team effort in a game featured by tight, but clean checking.

BEST SHOWING

It was our best showing of the series. There is certainly no comparison to the last two games, which Brampton won to take the lead.

Jack Showers again played a tremendous game. He scored the winner on a solo effort by beating two Brampton players with less than a minute to play.

Goalie Don Hamilton and Phil Willis were other standouts. Willis scored one goal and set up two others with beautiful passes.

Hamilton must have broken some of those Brampton boys' hearts. He played a whale of a game and made 39 saves, including nice shote by Gord Thompson in the last period.

BRAMPTON STAR

Thompson was by far the best for Brampton. He was on the floor for almost 50 minutes and is a great two-way player.

Jack Showers scored three goals and Wilson got two. Eddie Longpre, Willis and Lawrence each got one.

I must admit these games are very hard on a fellow's nerves. We were holding a three-goal lead going into the last quarter. That Thompson boy scored two fast goals and at about the 12-minute mark John Ford tied it up at 7-7.

That was when Jack came through with the big goal.

If the boys come up with another effort like that on Wednesday, we'll move into the driver's seat.

After four games against Brampton, they all know one thing is certain: they can't let up for a minute!

Freshmen! It's No Pushover---Read These Soph Tips

SHARON PLOWS

By DINAH KERR

Alright, freshmen—let's face the facts. You've had your best skirt or trousers dry-cleaned. You've carefully labelled "dividers" in your looseleafs.

You've probably even had your hair cut. But every time you think of the first day at Victoria College next week, your heart pounds against your ribs like a caged animal.

You don't know what to expect or what is expected of you.

But here are two sophomores to give you some hints on the hurdles.

"Don't go in with the attitude that it's going to be a pushover," said your students' council president, Doug Stewart, 19.

"And don't let the first month get you down," said Players' Club starlet Sharon Plows, 18.

Both admit that when they entered college they were "very, very scared."

Faced with this obstacle course of higher learning, frosh are prone to do one of two things. They either hibernate in the library or in the campus cafeteria.

Both are escapist techniques.

"If a person studies all the time, he's missing out on another side of education—the social side," Doug said. "There's more to education than academic work."

But around mid-term exam time, you'll also find that you don't get credits for "Caf 100."

The ideal arrangement, Sharon said, is to "take a major interest in one club—serve on the executive or something—and then just participate in a couple of others."

The sophs advise frosh to study about three hours a night and to forego the temptations of "cramming."

"I crammed at odd times last year," Doug said, "and it doesn't work. It did in high school, but not in college. The scope of the work is too great."

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1957 9

As for term essays, he says, "start them as soon as they're assigned. I got all balled up last year by leaving essays to the last minute."

Freshmen will be expected to write up to four essays, ranging from 500 to 2,000 words in length. Minimum of books used for research is usually 10.

As for finances, Sharon figures the $500 she earned last summer as a junior clerk in the provincial department of highways will tide her through her sophomore year nicely.

Doug saved close to $1,000 from his summer earnings as a truck driver for the B.C. Electric. "That will cover everything," he said, "including clothes, books, tuition, and money for gas and dates."

Well, frosh, there's some advice from two teenagers who know what they're talking about. Now, as they say in scholastic circles, "Tuum est." It's up to you.

DOUG STEWART

MONTE ROBERTS

Travel is broadening. This fact cannot be disputed.

The only reason I had not been broadened by travel—up to this week—is that travelling involves going places, and I hate and detest going places.

This is because going places involves travelling. So all I did, until this week, was sit at home and become broadened without either travelling or going places.

This week, however, brought me the chance of a lifetime to become broadened by travel without leaving the environs of my native city.

Because the greatest travellers of them all, the men and women who tell you where to go (politely) are meeting here in Victoria, and if there is any doubt in your mind, I do mean the American Society of Travel Agents.

As a person who wishes to be broadened by travel without going anywhere, I naturally waited upon the various members of the American Society of Travel Agents, and I sought from them information regarding far-flung lands.

The first member of the above-mentioned Society with whom I had conversation was from the Hawaiian Islands.

The second member was playing rock and roll on a piano-accordion, so I asked him what he was playing, and he said it was hooli-hooli. As you may have guessed, he was from the Hawaiian Islands.

The third member with whom I had a discussion was dressed— ahh hum, hmm, hmmmm—in a sort of a wrap around colored thing—hoo boy—and where was SHE from? Of Course.

Finally I found a gentleman in seal skins, mukluks and a reindeer-hide parka trimmed with fox fur, and it turned out he was from 40 miles North of the Arctic circle.

Travel, I said to myself, is indeed broadening, as I accompanied this gentleman (whose name is Asaavg Zeveck) to his igloo on the seventh floor of the Empress Hotel.

Where he pulled off his reindeer-hide parka trimmed with fox fur, under which he was wearing a Hawaiian shirt and a papier-mache lei.

Saying farewell to Asaavg and his Hawaiian shirt, I went forth to become even more broadened by travel. My objective, at this time, was to find someone un-Hawaiian.

So lucky, lucky me. I found him. Ernest Cartwright is the name. Occupation? Representative of British and Irish Railways, Inc.

"British and Irish Railways, eh?" I said to Ernest Cartwright. "This is what I have been looking for. Someone from 'over 'ome."

"Happy to meet you," said Mr. Cartwright. "Next time you are in Los Angeles, look me up at 510 West Sixth Street."

With which he produced a ukelele and picked out that old refrain: "Wherever you're from, wherever you're going, it's Hawaii."

Hooli-hooli.

PENNY FOR HER THOUGHTS

Penny, two-year-old Irish Setter owned by Mr. and Mrs. G. Compensation Unrest Sparks Labor Blast

Saanich to Pay $9,700 Bill Of Architects

Saanich council decided Monday night to pay a $9,700 bill submitted by architects for the proposed Saanich municipal hall addition which was rejected recently by voters.

Councillors voted down an attempt by Reeve Arthur Ash and Coun. Ainslie Worthington to delay payment to Whittaker and Wagg.

Coun. George Chatterton argued that the bill should be paid so that the municipality would have freedom of choice when a decision to build temporary office space is made.

HANDS TIED

"We have to pay it anyway," he said. "So long as it is left unpaid we cannot engage anyone else even if we wish."

Reeve Ash, speaking to an amendment to table the motion made by Coun. Worthington, said the firm should have advised the hall committee to go no further than making sketches until the addition was approved.

The amendment was voted down and Councillors Chatterton, Leslie Passmore and E. J. Diespecker carried the motion for payment.

Shakeup on Board If No Improvement

The provincial cabinet today was asked to remove top officials from the Workmen's Compensation Board if discontent with its handling of claims is not cleared up.

A delegation of labor leaders representing some 150,000 B.C. workers and their families presented a brief claiming that misinterpretation of the Compensation Act was defeating its purpose.

CAUSE OF UNREST

The brief said that board insistence on injured workmen furnishing "proof of accident" as the cause of their disabilities was causing the unrest.

It said the troubles have coincided with "numerous changes of personnel at the top" of the board, particularly in the legal department.

"We do not intend to engage in witch-hunting," the brief said. "But we would like to make absolutely clear that the rights of an injured workman transcend all other considerations."

"Accordingly, we believe that if those responsible for the present discontent are unable to administer the act sympathetically, then they must go—the sooner the better."

The brief said that technical rejections of claims on legal grounds has doubled since the period 1946-1950.

"It is our belief that it is the rejected claims which may wreck this fine edifice (the act) so painstakingly built up over the years."

The brief took issue with the board for its insistence on a narrow interpretation of the word "accident" in rejecting claims.

TOO NARROW

"Contrary to the spirit of the act, the board appears to construe the word accident narrowly and, indeed, appears to be so obsessed with proof of accident as to negate the spirit and intent of the act.

"We cannot, and will not support that body of opinion which suggests that the workman must prove to the satisfaction of the legal mind that he has suffered an accident in the narrowest sense of the word.

"It is only where the board has good reason to believe that the injury was not, or could not, have been caused during employment that a claim should be rejected."

CORDIAL

Lloyd Whelan, president of the Vancouver Labor Council and spokesman for the group, said after the one-hour session that Premier W. A. C. Bennett and seven other ministers gave them a "cordial hearing."

Antigonish Out On Major Trials

The RCN frigate Antigonish was on her first major trials today following modernization carried out by Victoria Machinery Depot.

Trials were carried out in Juan de Fuca Strait off Dallas Road. Antigonish is one of the frigates undergoing modernization prior to re-joining the Pacific Command.

The other two are New Waterford, at Yarrows Ltd., and Beacon Hill at Burrard Dry Dock, Vancouver.

Market Weakness Just Short-Run, Conference Told

Any elements of market weakness in the Canadian economy at present are, for the most part, of a short-run nature, Mitchell W. Sharp, deputy minister of trade and commerce, Ottawa, said here today.

Mr. Sharp spoke to 45 delegates attending the ninth annual conference of Provincial Government Trade and Industrial Council meeting at the Empress Hotel.

His was a keynote address of the four-day conference held for the first time in Victoria, with six trade and industry and other important trade officials present.

Mr. Sharp said Canada has hope for "a tremendous volume of new capital facilities needed to round out basic expansion already underway."

Minor Scale Tuna Run Developing

The long-awaited tuna run off the West Coast of Vancouver Island is developing on a minor scale, with small catches being landed at Victoria.

About 20 Canadian boats are working in the vicinity of Swiftsure Lightship, at the entrance to Juan de Fuca Strait, and are averaging around 40 fish a day—nothing like the rich fishing days of the 1950 era before the run disappeared.

Upwards of 3,000 pounds have been landed so far at B.C. Packer's Ogden Pt. cold storage plant. Price is $265 a ton at Victoria, $300 at Vancouver, less than half that paid seven years ago.

TO UNDERSTAND the hula dancing of Annette Ebinger, one must watch the palms—hand palms, that is. Her skirt is palm also.

HULA-LA

But Who Wants To Look At Their Hands?

By TONY DICKASON

One must concentrate on the hands, not the hips.

This is the secret of enjoyment when watching hula dancers, say the experts.

Phooey!

It was a torso-twitching evening Monday in the Crystal Garden when the Hawaii Visitors Bureau and the American Society of Travel Agents of Hawaii put on a ukelele-banging show that left the visitor mouthing such pretty phrases as "kupee-hooee...lacka-booe-moka-jobee."

Which means, translated roughly, "get that copra-pickin' lei out of my soup."

KISSES, TOO

We were garnished with a lei of orchids and kissed by a buxom black-haired beauty on arrival at the show, which included both professionals and amateurs attending the ASTA convention here at the Empress.

Everybody was laden with orchids, white and purple. This, with the violently colored shirts and skirts, gave a swirling kaleidoscopic effect that made bloodshot eyes seem egg-white.

A group of musicians strolled from table to table, singing love songs of the islands. There are, actually, few other types of songs. Hawaiians are in love with love and laughter.

PRESLEY, WHO'S HE?

Woven palm hats bobbed and black locks shook under the soft lights, reminiscent of the moonlight on the beaches of the islands. Hula dancer after hula dancer undulated their charming way to the stage.

Bit by bit the tempo speeded until the wiggles would have made Presley go back for further study.

Tension mounted as the guitars and drums beat louder until the audience and entertainers could contain themselves no longer.

A spontaneous prolonged yell broke out that cut the rafters.

"Yooooo-aaaaaa!"

A lithe Hawaiian, naked to the waist, did a fire dance, twirling a flaming torch around in the darkness. Then he did it blindfolded to the beating insistant rhythm.

Then the pace changed, and the strings again became as sweet as doves.

Comedy there was, also—a Hawaiian in kilt singing Roamin' in the Gloamin', in Hawaiian.

Forget Diet, Quit Smoking Chirps Lardy

By DINAH KERR

Even strangers are calling me "Miss Bones" these days.

They recognize me from the emaciated photo alongside, to which I bear a startling likeness.

And they all want to give me some good advice.

Most of them dismiss Josephine Lowman's nine-day gaining diet as fat-headed poppycock.

Dinah

"Listen," one man said to me earnestly, "even a fatso would lose weight on that birdseed. What you've got to do is give up smoking. Harry cut out cigarets and he gained 27 pounds in three months.

"Hey, Harry," he yelled "C'mere a minute."

Harry rolled up.

"Harry," said the man, "This girl is trying to gain weight. Tell her what happened to you when you gave up smoking."

RESUME SMOKING

Harry looked proudly at his inflated stomach.

"I gained 27 pounds in three months," he said. "I got so darned fat that I had to start smoking again."

Then there are the stout-fanciers. A fashion model, mind you, told me that she started drinking two pints of stout every morning when she was a starveling of 108 pounds. Six months later she weighed in at 120.

Stout, say the former skinnies, activates the appetite, calms the nerves and enriches the body.

It is the answer to everything but a hangover.

However, the boss says I must stick to the diet and lay off this alcoholism.

Going into the sixth day of dieting, I've gained two pounds for a grand total of 116.

On to Wednesday's diet!

Breakfast — Orange slices, rolled oats with raisins, toast and bacon, coffee.

Lunch—Chilled tomato juice, baked hen with dressing and gravy, corn pudding, beets, salad of grapefruit and avocado with French dressing, chocolate nut sundae.

Ice-box supper—Milk, cheese and crackers, fresh fruit, cold chicken, celery, sliced tomatoes, boiled custard and cake.

THAT 'STUFF' IS EXCLUSIVE

Rain that fell on Victoria today had the distinction of being the only precipitation in the Pacific northwest, according to weatherman William Mackie.

"It will be short-lived, though," he said. "Dry air pushing out of the interior should give us partial clearing tonight and some sunshine Wednesday."

Temperatures will range between 52 degrees tonight and 62 Wednesday.

MAXWELL MEANS MUSIC

He Makes Chicago Sing Right Along

Director of the largest massed music festival on the continent, Philip Maxwell, Chicago, said here today he can play three pieces of piano music, "blindfolded."

Has been able to do this since he was a boy, the Chicago Tribune promotion chief said.

He directs, and has done so for 28 years, the Chicagoland Music Festival which last August 24 attracted 62,000 to Soldiers' Field!

He, literally, makes the city sing.

LIKES PEOPLE

Mr. Maxwell likes people. He has been an emcee at a cooking school, has chaired fire and police shows, directed and appeared on radio and television shows, and has been a speaker at hundreds of school commencements. And he's one of those rarities, a published poet.

In Scotland, he learned the motto of the Maxwell Clan: Be Prepared. He re-wrote this to: "Be Prepared To Make a Speech."

The 56-year-old likeable man, here on holiday with his wife who composes music to his words, will write a poem at the drop of a hat.

HERE'S HOW

Okay. Let's see you, he was asked today.

Mr. Maxwell borrowed a pencil, wet the end, and wrote:

When you're mighty tired
and taxes go sky high
Sit with me on the Causeway
and watch the ships go by.
You seem to find new values
as they head out to sea
We, too can calibrate our lives to meet what is to be.

His music festival, which costs about $80,000 to produce and has an 8,000-person cast, has featured such notables as Al Jolson, Lawrence Tibbett, Gladys Swarthout, Rise Stevens, Victor Borge, Carrie Jacobs Bond and Liberace.

Movie star singer Howard Keel got his start at the festival, as did many other present day concert and opera personalities.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Ralph Walter Whyte, 18, and William Francis Doyle, 18, both of Camp Gordon Head, each was fined $75 in city police court today on a charge of taking a car without the owner's consent.

Police said they took a car from Johnson Street, without consent of owner John Daley, and drove it to Nanaimo where they were apprehended by RCMP.

The soldiers will replace a window they smashed in order to gain entrance to the auto.

A new corporate seal, inscribed with the municipality's coat of arms, was adopted by Esquimalt Council Monday night. The former seal will be destroyed in the presence of Reeve A. C. Wurtele and municipal clerk J. W. Allen to prevent its further use.

Speech art lecturer, Mrs. Helen Smith, will continue her instruction in voice production for members of the Victoria Theatre Guild Studio Group Thursday night at 7.30 at the Victoria Art Gallery, Moss Street.

First session, held last week, was an outstanding success and attended by approximately 30 members, new and old. Reading of one-act plays also will continue.

B.C. Education Minister L. R. Peterson today invited the Canadian Education Association to hold its 35th annual meeting in Victoria next year.

The invitation was extended at the opening session of this year's meeting in Fredericton, N.B.

At the monthly meeting of the Ontario Social Group in the hall at 1400 Broad St., Wednesday evening at 8, the B.C. Electric public relations department will show color films, one being the making and laying of the big power cable from the mainland to Vancouver Island. Former Ontario residents will be welcomed.

Wesley L. Umphrey, 1119 Colville, was fined $35 in city police court today on a charge of obstructing Cons. Ronald Fitzhenry in carrying out a car inspection last Saturday night.

Umphrey pleaded guilty but said, "They weren't very polite to us under the circumstances. They hauled us out of the car and pushed us around a bit."

The officer said he and another policeman checked a car occupied by Umphrey and some friends on Douglas. They were checking for liquor, he said.

Cons. Fitzhenry denied taking hold of the accused. He said Umphrey got back in the car after being ordered out and "called the city police force down."

Bill Craven, Saanich municipal appraiser, was appointed assistant assessor on a probationary basis Monday night by Saanich council.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Do all birds migrate?—G.H.

A.—No. Most tropical birds remain in the same area throughout the year. In Canada, the woodpecker, nuthatches, chickadees, grouse, cardinals, juncos, jays and others are permanent residents.

Q.—Why are Marines of the United States called "leathernecks"?—M.G.

A.The nickname originated from the black leather stocks they formerly wore to protect their necks against sabres and cutlasses.

Of Sermons and Sauces

DEAN Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral is in the middle of an interesting series of sermons on the Seven Deadly Sins.

In case you've forgotten, they are Pride, Wrath, Envy, Lust, Gluttony, Avarice and Sloth.

Keate

This week he was on "Gluttony," which was quite a blow to a couple of gentlemen on the south aisle.

They were feeling smug when the Dean said that the Anglican faith accepted such things as a good meal, a decent Martini and a fine cigar, provided, of course, these were handled temperately.

But they began to shift uneasily in their pews when the Dean closed in on the nub of his argument: that it was shameful to have "too nice" a regard for food. They blanched when he cited as examples the fellow who would measure condiments for a sauce, or put together a salad as though it were a Paganini concerto.

For one of these gentlemen was M. L. Tyrwhitt-Drake, a young barrister of the city whose way with sauces is renowned from here to Toronto. Indeed, he plays on chives, fennel seed and thyme with the same wild rapture that he brings to the blowing of a rosewood recorder or pinking of his ancient virginal. (A small rectangular spinet, without legs, having only one wire to a note.)

The other was a stylish-stout journalist of my acquaintance whose salads have a small but critical audience, and once earned a measure of immortality by attempting to fashion (unsuccessfully) a dressing with Worcestershire sauce, mint, ketchup, Taragon wine, celery salt and mayonnaise, not to mention Pride, Wrath and Envy.

The dean advised his parishioners to "search their hearts" in this matter of gluttony. The newspaperman, after 24 hours of searching, decided to take the problem to his legal counsel, man by the name of Edwin E. Pearlman.

Mr. Pearlman, as is his wont, considered the matter thoughtfully. "Say," he said, "the Dean is an Englishman, isn't he?"

Then, harking back to those long army years overseas, a glint came in his eye and he added: "Remember those brussel sprouts?"

The newsman winced. He remembered.

"Tell me honestly, witness," Mr. Pearlman pursued—"Could they, or could they not, have stood a piquant sauce, a tasty little dressing?"

"Indeed they could," said the journalist, smiling happily. "I thank you."

"Boy, I'd sure hate to pay air freight charges on you!"

New Clothes for Autumn? Sew 'Em Yourself—It's Fun

By PENNY SAVER

Do you fancy yourself as an amateur dressmaker? I mean, do you like to whip up a little number to make your friends give forth with "Oh's" and "ah's" at the dexterity of your nimble fingers?

If so . . . and you do . . . then this column is for you.

How do you go about lining off hems and seams? Do you use pins and pins and more pins? Let me tell you there's something infinitely better and thats a chalk pencil that gives you a neat outline with a minimum of effort. Inexpensive, too . . . only 35 cents.

While we still have pins on our minds (you do have to use 'em at some point in your dressmaking) let me ask you if you keep them in any old pin cushion where they stick . . . and stick . . . and stick into your fingers when you go to pull them out.

There's a sponge rubber cushion you can get for 25 cents that will eliminate all that. How about trying one.

While you're at it, get a little plastic case with compartments to hold your sewing machine bobbins . . . at 50 cents.

Now, let's get down to the sewing case I've discovered. You'll fall in love with it just as I did. Dainty and domestic looking on the outside, it's utilitarian with a look of elegance inside (plastic tray inserted into a plastic lining that looks just like satin). That tray has compartments for each sewing necessity . . . including threads.

Talking of thread . . . you'll find this necessity in every possible color to match all the wonderful new autumn shades in materials that are making store counters look like an Oriental bazaar.

One shop I visited this morning had a perfectly wonderful sale of materials going on and one of the most amazing buys was genuine llama cloth for coats and skirts at only $8.95 a yard.

Embroidered tonkyn brocade for evening wear was selling for $2.50 a yard in a variety of colors. You'd be a sensation at any party wearing a dress made of this fabric.

Very different was the photographic material, with reproductions from many of the famous paintings . . . Bohemian and arty and in awsome colors at $1.18 a yard.

So, thread that machine and cut out that pattern because sewing is fun. Even if you can't sew very well there is a book out that teaches you, step by step, for $3.95.

TODAY'S RECIPE

APPLE TOMATO CHUTNEY

Twelve large apples (peeled and chopped), 24 green tomatoes (chopped), 4 large onions (sliced), 4 cups cider vinegar, 3 cups light brown sugar, 2 tablespoons salt, ¼ teaspoon cayenne, 1 tablespoon curry yowder, 2 tablespoons mixed pickling spice (tied in bag), 1 lb. seedless raisins.

Combine all ingredients except raisins, in heavy kettle. Bring to boil, simmer until fairly thick. Add raisins, cook 10 minutes longer. Seal in sterilized jars.

Finally whole milk has succumbed to this age of frozen foods. In England frozen whole milk is stored in polythene bags and used very successfully on board ship. Three months later it is still as fresh as the day it was packaged.

May Daughter's Boy Friend Be House Guest?

Early in the summer when my two daughters and I went to Germany to visit my relatives, we met a very nice Canadian boy who was stationed there in the Army. He and my sixteen-year-old daughter fell in love. At first I thought it was puppy love, but now looks as if it is turning out to be the real thing. The chap, Louise Davis who is is twenty, is now back in this country. He long-distanced us that he has a leave and wants to fly here to meet my husband and, of course, to see our daughter. He will be in town about four days. Would it be proper for him to stay with us? We have a very small house and he would have to sleep on a roll-a-way bed in the recreation room. If not, is it up to us to pay his hotel or "Y" bill? He would, of course, take all his meals with us. Please answer as soon as possible.

Louise Davis Answers:

Considering all the circumstances, I think that it would be better if the young man stays at the Y.M.C.A. or hotel. He should pay his own bill, especially since he asked if he could come. Furthermore, I am sure that he would expect to pay. It wouldn't be out of order, however, if he stays at your house. If he does, I suggest that you and your husband be watchful chaperones to avoid any criticism, especially considering the age of your daughter, who is quite young. In other words, you wouldn't want to be absent yourselves from the house too often or for too long. I suggest that you make reservations at the "Y" before the young man arrives.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Mental Health as Vital as Physical—Check Self Today

Many women who take their vitamins regularly, sleep adequately and exercise faithfully, completely neglect their mental health. We are apt to take this for granted and therefore fall into stale and destructive ruts in thought and feeling and personality.

We can age emotionally and mentally just as rapidly, if NOT MORE rapidly, than we do physically. So, you may wish to check yourself against the following list to see not only how healthy you are mentally, but how young you are. I hope that you—

1. Live each day as though it were the last day you will ever have. If you do not live quite that vibrantly, at least I hope that you do not cling to the past or dream only of the future but that you are keenly aware of TODAY, with all of its interests and potentialities.

2. Look "out," because there is a lot to see when you do not pull the blinders down by looking "in" at yourself continually.

3. Laugh many times each day and are able to see the humor in everyday happenings. Do you laugh less than you used to?

4. Believe in something or someone or both with enthusiasm and your whole heart.

5. Do not indulge in the worry habit but instead face your problems, do what you can about them and then forget them.

6. Don't allow yourself to be "thrown" by blue days. Everyone has them but they soon pass. Do not take them too seriously. Shrug them off.

7. Have constructive work to do. This is the best medicine in the world for depression, worry or boredom.

8. Think positively rather than negatively. Do not allow petty irritations or hurts to dim your days.

9. Think things are going to be better rather than worse.

10. Are more tolerant than critical.

11. Do not place your sights so high that you sigh constantly over the impossible and therefore pass up possible happiness or success which are within your reach.

HOOK RUG, THREE YEARS IN MAKING, WINS CNE PRIZE

OTTAWA (CP)—Unlike the quest for whoever threw the overalls into Mrs. Murphy's chowder, the Sinclair family here merely nods knowingly when a strip of wool perhaps turns up in a salad.

It just means that mother—Mrs. Lillian Sinclair—has been hooking again.

The Ottawa housewife's hobby this year won her a first prize at the Central Canada Exhibition. The prize-winner, a seven-foot-square hand-hooked rug with a floral and feather design, won a second prize at the Canadian National Exhibition the previous year.

Mrs. Sinclair told a reporter that experts have valued the rug at more than $1,200. Working from her own design, she took three years to complete it.

what part of your electric bill is for light?

While lighting standards have improved in most homes, the proportion of your electric bill that pays for lighting has decreased considerably.

Today, in the average B.C. Electric residential customer's home, electricity is doing many, many jobs: washing and drying clothes and dishes, heating water, cleaning, keeping and cooking food, entertaining — even keeping the clocks on time.

Our average residential customer is now using nearly three times as much electricity as in 1946, but paying less per kilowatt hour. True, your bill may be higher than it was in 1946. But when you add up the number of appliances you now enjoy, you'll understand why you are using much more electricity in your home. By any comparison, electricity is today's big bargain.

Hawaii Comes to Victoria In Color, Dance and Song

By ELIZABETH FORBES

It was a nice bit of salesmanship! A package deal, if ever there was one. All wrapped up in gay colors and presented to the 350 or more travel agents of America (meeting in convention here) in the Crystal Garden, Monday evening.

Super-salesmen were the Hawaiian Travel Bureau and most of the big hotels and the transportation companies servicing the sunny isles.

Gimmicks used were hundreds of Hawaiian leis, a group of dancers and musicians, the well-known Webley Edwards of "Hawaii Calls," and his band leader, Ray Kenney.

Elizabeth

Some of the entertainers were flown in on Monday straight from the Hawaiian Islands (they are flying back today); others came from Seattle, where they have been giving performances for the past week . . . they go on to Spain to appear at the meeting of the International Society of Travel Agents in Madrid. Edwards himself and his wife have just completed a vacation tour of Canada.

The whole thing was planned to sell the idea that Hawaii is the place all good travellers should go . . . and go again . . . and that travel agents should help them to get there.

Leis and Kisses Went Together

Whether the visiting travel agents needed to be convinced of this I don't know, but I'm certain that Victoria citizens privileged to see the show were dazzled, bemused and completely hypnotized. I'm willing to make a wager that most of them are either planning right now to make a first visit to the sunny isles or to go back again as soon as they can.

Everyone at the party had a lei of orchids, carnations or fragrant ginger. A kiss went with the lei, too, and a friendly "Come to Hawaii soon!"

As orchids are a dime a dozen in Hawaii, orchids were in abundance. The carnation, that Victorians almost call a common flower, is one of the most expensive blossoms in Hawaii, and so carnation leis were few in number and worn by only favored persons.

Ginger flower leis and long-stemmed red ginger blossoms were also handed out but only to "very important persons."

Entertainment included the famed Emma Sharp from the Island of Maui. She was gowned in a South Seas blue satin dress that shimmered as she moved. Her lei was of deep red carnations and the same flowers in her black hair. There was Kalani, the sword dancer, and Leoolani, the Tahitian dancer. Famed Sterling Mossman, too, who is a member of the Honolulu police force and dances in his off time because he loves it.

"They all love it," Joe Mogish told me. He's manager of the fabulous Hawaiian Village Hotel.

"The people of Hawaii are a happy people. They like to sing and they love to dance. Get two of them in a group . . . any time, anywhere, and you've got a party!"

Victorians Annoy Special Guests

Well, we had a party last night. There was no doubt of that . . . and everyone enjoyed it.

Mayor Percy Scurrah, wearing a ginger flower lei and smoking his big cigar, kept time to the scintillating music with quick nods of his head; Mrs. Scurrah also had a ginger flower lei and carried a long red ginger flower in her hands.

Commodore and Mrs. Budge and Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Jack Fawcett clapped their hands in time to the intoxicating songs; Dr. David Turner has his share of leis, as did his wife; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Evans were at a table with other travel agents, all wearing the colorful badges of Hawaii. Rev. William Hills' clerical collar was completely hidden with several handsome leis.

Aloha shirts and grass hats worn by male members of the Hawaiian delegation attending the convention and the attractive floral gowns worn by feminine members of this delegation added to the picture.

When Webley Edwards concluded the show with some of the words he has made familiar—"Aloha . . . aloha to you!"—it was hard to come back to reality and to realize we were not actually in Hawaii.

FIFTY YEARS OF MARRIAGE

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Venables, who will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Venables will entertain at their home, 2832 Rose Street, on Wednesday, from 2 to 4 p.m. and again from 7 until 9 p.m. Mr. Caleb Venables came from Hornchurch, Essex, Eng., to Canada in 1904 and Mrs. Venables (Clarice) from Chadmore, Staffs., Eng., to Fernie, B.C., in 1905. They were married in the Salvation Army Citadel in Fernie in 1907 and moved to Victoria in 1935. Mr. Venables has been a member of the Salvation Army since 1891. Besides their son David and his wife, the couple have two granddaughters, Lynnette and Annette of Saanichton.

Former Senator Wants Statehood

By KITTY DIXON

She's a travel agent now, no longer a Hawaiian senator, but Mrs. Mary K. Robinson is still fighting for Hawaii's statehood.

Attending the Ninth Annual Western Regional Conference of the American Society of Travel Agents at the Empress Hotel this week, Mrs. Robinson has 31 years of government service behind her.

Also attending the conference is Mrs. Claire Hillyer, who has seen every country in the world but Russia during her 25 years as a travel agent.

Moscow is next on her list of pleasure jaunts (which usually combine a little business) but right now she is preparing to fly to Brussels and Madrid, "strictly on business."

"It will be a 10-day trip to attend the International ASTA Convention in Madrid," said Mrs. Hillyer, whose home town is Yakima, Wash.

She will stop in Brussels to preview the International Fair.

"Of all the places I've visited, I love Switzerland and Hawaii most," said travel-wise Mrs. Hillyer, who is a former physical instructor.

Interest in travel runs in the family. Her daughter, Mrs. Theo H. Mays is Mrs. Hillyer's assistant and has also travelled extensively.

In Madrid Mrs. Hillyer will rejoin many of the travel agents now visiting Victoria, including Mrs. Melita L. O'Hara of Seattle.

Lake Holiday

Holidaying at Shawnigan Lake before going back to Victoria College next week are Misses Barbara Geddes, Barbara Wallace, Janet Wallis, Jo-Anne Dawson and Sharon Plows. The five friends will return to Victoria on Thursday.

Ontario Visitor

Mrs. Stuart Forbes has come from London, Ont., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Hicks at their home on Coldharbor Road and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ross at their home on Granite Street. Mrs. Forbes expects to be in Victoria for about six weeks.

From Edmonton

Mrs. Philip Baker, Edmonton, is here to spend a few days with Mrs. W. Bradburn, Willingdon Apartments.

Dinner Party

A no-host dinner was held recently at Chez Marcel in honor of Miss Maud Burley, former chief operator of the B.C. Telephone Company in Victoria, who retired at the end of August. The guest of honor was presented with a corsage of carnations by Miss Ivy Bradley on behalf of those present. During the evening Miss E. R. Walker, district traffic superintendent, presented Miss Burley with a well chosen card with substantial enclosure from members of the traffic, commercial, plant and ex-employees. Mr. M. J. Dunlop, former district plant manager, and Mr. Percy Nevard, district plant chief, recalled some incidents that occurred during their long association with Miss Burley and related some amusing anecdotes. Later, Mr. Jack Kinsman, Mr. Nevard and Mr. Dave Wilkie showed color slides taken on vacations. Covers were laid for 40 at the dinner.

Wedding Rings Exchanged At King-Price Ceremony

In a double-ring ceremony at St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay, Frances Ellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Price, 2214 Sooke Road, and Wayne Herbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. King of Victoria, were united in marriage. Rev. H. J. Jones officiated.

The church was decorated with baskets of pink and white chrysanthemums, gladioli and carnations. R. Proudman played traditional music.

A floor-length gown of net over satin studded in rhinestones, with a fitted bodice featuring a square neckline and buttons down the back, was worn by the bride. Her fingertip veil was held by a pill box, sewn with rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of dark red roses and white carnations.

Matron of honor, Mrs. R. C. Midgley wore a pink sheath dress with overskirt of Chantilly lace extending to a bouffant bow in the back. Attendants, Misses Freda Price and Robin Price, sisters of the bride, wore identical gowns of ballerina length pink lace with matching boleros, and tiny coronets of pleated tulle on their heads. All carried colonial bouquets of turquoise-toned carnations and daisies.

Tiny Laurie Baccus, cousin of the bride was flower girl in a pink frock and carried a basket of late summer flowers.

Best man was R. C. Midgley and ushering were Alan Blair and Colin Moir.

A reception was held in the Golden Slipper where the couple cut a three-tier cake that centred a table decorated in roses and tulle. J. Aylwin proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon in Seattle, the bride donned a rose suit with brown accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. King will live in Victoria when they return.

Well-Known Chef to Cook for Queen Says Women Should Do Home Meals

TORONTO (CP) — One of Canada's top chefs feels it is an honor to be asked to prepare a dinner for the Queen and Prince Philip but says women should have the honor of cooking in the home.

Stephen Vojtech, executive chef for Toronto's King Edward Hotel, will use some of his secret recipes for the dinner for the Queen and Prince Philip, to be held in Prime Minister Diefenbaker's residence Oct. 15.

He admits, however, that few dishes prepared from the recipes, kept locked in a tiny vault in his office, are used in preparing dinner at his own home.

"My wife does the cooking at home," he explained. "Women have the honor of preparing meals for their husbands and families and to them should remain this honor."

NOT THE FIRST TIME

Cooking for the Queen and Prince Philip is not a new experience for Mr. Vojtech. He helped prepare a dinner given in the Ontario legislative building for the royal couple during their tour of Canada in 1951.

Mr. Vojtech has many recipes of his own creation, several of which will be included in the nine-course dinner for the Queen and Prince Philip.

The menu itself is still a secret to all but a few people, including members of the chef's staff, high government officials and, of course, Mrs. Diefenbaker.

Mr. Vojtech will go to Ottawa Oct. 14, taking with him Claude Chanonat, pastry chef at the King Edward, and John Tron, the hotel's night chef.

EARLY START

An official in Ottawa already has a long shopping list, prepared by Mr. Vojtech, and the ingredients for the dinner are to be at the prime minister's house no later than the morning of Oct. 15 so the chef and his staff can get an early start. It will take at least half a day to prepare the soup alone.

His secret recipes may become the possession of Canadian housewives in the next few years.

"I would like to publish a book of my recipes some day, enabling my favorite dishes to be served on tables in homes across Canada," he disclosed.

Mr. Vojtech feels that Canada and his career in the kitchen have been kind to him in the last 30 years.

"I never dreamed that when I arrived here as an immigrant from Czechoslovakia that I would some day be given the honor of preparing a dinner for the Queen," he said.

"It is a wonderful thrill."

Children Give Mite Boxes

Little Helpers held their annual meeting recently in Holy Trinity Church, Sooke. The new rector, Rev. J. C. MacDonald, took the service, which was started with a hymn, followed by a prayer and a short talk by Mr. MacDonald. Following the roll call by Mrs. E. M. Nixon the children presented their mite boxes. Mrs. A. Brooks, diocesan secretary, spoke to the children. After the service the Women's Auxiliary, under the convenership of Mrs. J. Law, served tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gates. Candies and balloons were distributed to the children and games were enjoyed.

IGNORED COURT ORDERS, SEAMAN GETS ONE MONTH

"Flagrant disregard" for court orders brought a one-month jail term for naval seaman Robert Ernest Desormeaux, who appeared in Esquimalt police court Monday on a charge of driving while under suspension.

Prosecutor William R. McIntyre said the accused had seven traffic offences against him since his driver's licence was suspended for criminal negligence in November, 1955, plus two previous convictions in April of this year for driving under suspension.

"He appears to have no concern for the orders of this court. I would suggest he be dealt with severely," Mr. McIntyre said.

ROCK 'N' ROLL OLD STUFF

If Its Rhythm Hawaii Has It

By TONY DICKASON

What's going to supplant rock 'n' roll?

Two of the world authorities on Hawaiian music agreed today it will be Hawaiian music.

Webley Edwards, who conducts the terrifically popular "Hawaii Calls" from the beach at Waikiki Saturday nights, and has been doing so 23 years, and Ray Kinney, entertainment director of the Matson Hotels—which includes the suptuous Royal Hawaiian Hotel—are the authorities.

They are in Victoria attending the regional conference of the American Society of Travel Agents. There are 65 delegates from Hawaii at the 300-person convention.

Mr. Kinney, who conducted his Royal Hawaiian orchestra in New York's Hotel Lexington for seven years, just shrugs when rock 'n' roll is mentioned.

"I listen, but I don't want to say anything."

Mr. Edwards, however, tells a longer story and Mr. Kinney agrees.

"Hawaiians have their own rock 'n' roll. They had it before it was ever heard of elsewhere. Why, the Hawaiians have at least 3,000 variations of rhythm! If it's rhythm, we've got it."

"But Hawaiian music will be the next craze," they agree.

"Hawaii Calls" is carried by 500 radio stations around the world, somewhat to the amazement of the program founder.

"I always say I started the show when I was two years old," says Mr. Edwards, an affable 50 today.

The program is so widely heard, and appreciated—it consists mostly of Hawaiian music, with the odd commentary and interview with a movie star thrown in—that a Hawaiian Club has been formed, even, in Edinburgh, Scotland. Arabia and Iceland get the program, as does Canada, over the Dominion network.

ESCAPE

Why is the program such a pull?

"Because everyone likes to feel they'd enjoy an escape to an island, even if its for a half-hour each week, via radio," said the program chief.

He is considering doing a television show, but at the moment "doesn't dare" as the picture of the Hawaiian Islands formed in the mind of listeners couldn't be duplicated in black and white TV.

"So we are holding off until color is the main thing."

NEVER BORING

For the Hawaii-phobe, Mr. Edwards mentions that his fifth long-play album for Capital Records is coming out in November.

Mr. Kinney, asked if he didn't become bored with all the whoop-la associated with entertaining starry-eyed people, gave a decided "no."

Said he: "It's part and parcel with the temperament of my people. Why, even when we fly to the other Islands to entertain, and the job is finished, we sing and play all the way back."

Mr. Edwards loves Canadians. He calls them "gracious and wholesome. They enjoy everything and are not afraid to ask questions. They are lovable, which cannot be said for some people from other regions."

Teamsters Bar Anti-Hoffa Toronto Local

TORONTO (CP) — Local 938, bargaining agent for 4,700 Toronto truck drivers, has been denied voting privileges at the International Brotherhood of Teamsters' Miami Beach convention Sept. 30, a union official said Monday night.

William Mills, president of Local 938, General Truck Drivers' Union, said he has received a telegram from the retiring teamsters' international president Dave Deck informing him the local will be unable to vote at the conference.

Mills said the local holds credentials for five delegates and plans to send two to the convention.

OWES BACK TAXES

The Beck telegram said the local is not in "good standing" because it owes about $20,000 per capita tax to the teamsters' Toronto Council 52.

In Windsor, I. M. Casey Dodds, Canadian director of the brotherhood's central conference, said the local "might as well stay away from the Miami convention."

"It's delegates will not be permitted to vote because the local union owes more than $20,000 in per capita tax."

The trouble apparently bubbled up this week as Canadian locals began proposing their preferences for a successor to Beck.

Mr. Dodds said locals throughout Canada endorsed James Hoffa, teamsters' central conference director. Local 938, which has frequently opposed Hoffa on union matters, has stated preference for Thomas J. Haggerty, secretary-treasurer of the Chicago Milk Wagon Drivers, Local 735.

Mr. Mills claims Local 938's voting powers were suspended because it does not support Hoffa. He said the decision to suspend them was a move "to brush aside any of Hoffa's opposition."

"These not in good standing notices are probably going out to all locals of which Beck is doubtful for Hoffa," he said.

How Does a Starfish Eat?

An oyster fisherman will tell you the little starfish feeds on oysters. And so he does. He will also eat clams, mussels and countless varieties of smaller shellfish found in his tidal waters. The problem, of course is, how does a soft, fragile looking starfish open a tough old oyster? We know how hard it is to pry apart the two shells of a live clam or oyster. Yet the small starfish seems to do the trick with no trouble at all.

The five arms of the starfish are far from fragile. On the underside they are fitted with little suction cups. These tube feet, as they are called, work with hydraulic pressure supplied by water circulating through the arms and body of the starfish. They enable the little fellow to get a very thorough grip on whatever hard surface he chooses. And he chooses the hard outer surface of a clam or oyster shell. He stretches his pointed arms across the two shells and grips. Then he slowly exerts pressure to pull the shells apart.

No oyster or clam can withstand this steady pull for long. Sooner or later, the two shells come apart. The soft body of a clam, a mussel or an oyster is then exposed for the hungry starfish to devour. Now we wonder, how does he get the shellfish out of the shell and into his mouth? The starfish has a very amazing stomach to do this job for him. This stomach is right in the middle of the starfish where his arms meet. And his round mouth opens directly into the stomach.

At the proper time, the starfish can turn his stomach inside out. The stomach comes out of his mouth and reaches right down into the opened shellfish. It enfolds the soft body of the clam or oyster and devours it on the spot. The starfish then unlatches himself and goes on his way.

He may find himself a few small crustaceans and devour them whole. Later, when they are partly digested, he will spit out the tough shells. But the larger shellfish, he must wrench the shells apart and devour only the soft bodied animal inside.

Actually the starfish is not a fish at all. He is a member of the Asteroidea class of animals — the star-shaped ones. Some experts think that he should be called the sea star, a name which suits him and does not suggest that he is a member of the fish family. Most of starfish have five pointed arms, a few have six and others have as many as ten. In some cases, the arms are very pointed and it is easy to see the star shape of the little creature's body. In other cases, the arms are not so noticeable and we have to look hard to see the five segments of the starfish's body.

The oyster fisherman can tell you more about the starfish. At one time, they tried to destroy the little pests in their oyster beds by tearing them in two and tossing the bits back into the sea. They discovered that, instead of ridding themselves of the starfish, they were multiplying them by two. For a whole new starfish was growing from each half of a starfish thrown back into the sea.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to John Pattullo, age 10, of Spokane, Washington, for his question:

What Is Flint made of?

Flint stone is a form of quartz and quartz is made chiefly of the mineral silica. Flint, in fact, is water formed stone made from particles of silica and some impurities. In color, flint stone is dark brown or glossy black. It is one of the hardest of natural substances. In fact, flint stone is harder than steel. A chip of flint will scratch a mark on the hardest steel. However, flint is a brittle substance and could not possibly do the work of steel.

The cave men of long ago discovered the hardness of flint. They used it to make their weapons. Arrowheads and spearheads were made by chipping stones of flint into pointed darts. Much later it was discovered that a flint rubbed against steel would strike sparks. In colonial days, the flint was the family match box.

RETIRED TEACHER WINS $250

B.C. Anthem Chosen For Centennial Year

The B.C. Centennial Committee has chosen its official anthem for 1958, the "Song of British Columbia," written by retired Vancouver school teacher Murray S. Carmack.

His anthem was chosen from among 75 entries from throughout the province and won the $250 prize offered.

The new song will be an integral part of the centennial pageant and be used as background music in the documentary film being prepared on the province's history. Arrangements will be made for everything from dance bands to symphony orchestras.

The words follow:

O land of mighty river!
O land of azure skies!
Where sun is shining ever
And tow'ring ranges rise!
O shore where men at even'
No longer roam afar!
For all who seek find haven
In British Columbia?
O land where Orient ocean,
And breeze Pacific wave,
To thee, our heart's devotion!
No other boon we crave
Than wide your wealth to measure
Than swift to ride your foam;
Your earth and sea our treasure,
Our own Canadian home!

Travel Agents 'Catch' Salmon In Ballroom

Six visitors to Victoria "caught" big salmon Monday—in the Crystal Ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

They were the lucky draw winners at the convention underway here of the American Society of Travel Agents, and they received salmon ranging from 16 to 20 pounds each.

Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle Westwood made the draw.

The salmon were presented by the Fisheries Association of B.C., and will be flown directly to the cities of the winners, who were from as far away as Honolulu and New Orleans.

Mr. Westwood, guest speaker at the dinner, drew laughing applause when he pointed out that B.C. is 100,000 square miles larger than Texas and contains at least 25,000 lakes.

He predicted the B.C. tourist trade could look forward to great expansion in the near future, and it was for this reason the department which he heads was formed this year.

CARD ACQUISITION

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pitcher Frank Barnes, owner of the lowest earned run average this season in the American Association, was purchased Monday from Omaha by the St. Louis Cardinals.

'Screaming Hordes' On Beach Protested

An impassioned letter from a Forshaw Road resident demanding that Forshaw Beach be closed to "yelling, screaming, fighting" hordes of sun-bathers was read to Esquimalt council Monday night.

K. W. Knott, 946 Forshaw, told council his home is adjacent to the beach and for the past two summers "semi-nudes" have lolled on his front lawn, picnicked on his back driveway and draped towels on his fence and back wall.

RUBBISH LEFT

Upwards of 50 children and adults stay for the entire day and leave "rubbish and debris" scattered around his home, Mr. Knott said.

The noise alone, he said, "is just about driving my wife to distraction."

Instead of an apology, he complained, the sunbathers "offered nothing but abuse and bad language."

If the situation continues, Mr. Knott stated he would appeal to the court of revision for a "sizeable" reduction in his taxes and demand that public restrooms and garbage receptacles be provided on the beach.

The "admirable" solution would probably be to "jump into the Gorge," but this, Mr. Knott concluded firmly, "we have absolutely no intention of doing."

Council referred the matter to the parks committee for action before next summer.

Hard-Hitting Hailsham Bolsters U.K. Cabinet

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan called in a hard-hitting peer Monday to give new life to his shaken Conservative government.

Viscount Hailsham was raised to the top cabinet post of lord president of the council and named chairman of the Conservative party's political machine.

The Conservatives lost thousands of votes in several recent by-elections.

The shakeup giving the 49-year-old viscount the top strategic post was Macmillan's first action to whip the party into shape for the next national election in 1959 or 1960.

The cabinet post of lord president carries few specific duties. This means Hailsham can devote his time to reorganizing the Conservative machine.

Farmer's Winnings On TV Hit $119,500

NEW YORK (UP) — Dairy farmer Harold Craig Monday night boosted his television quiz show winnings to $119,500 by outsmarting a school teacher and an editor on NBC's "Twenty-One."

Craig, of Granville, N.Y., defeated Mrs. Jeanne Jampole of New York city, a teacher, and editor William Morris of Greenwich, N.Y., to come within $9,500 of tying the all-time high set on the program by Charles Van Doren.

The 26-year-old Craig defeated Mrs. Jampole 21-14 by answering questions on famous pairs and explorers. He then downed Morris 17-0.

Next week Craig will return to face David Mayer of New York city, a psychologist.

Choir Returns From Continent

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Elgar Choir returned to Vancouver Monday after a tour of the British Isles, France and Germany.

Conductor Charles Findlater described the tour as the best yet.

The choir began making annual tours seven years ago.

The choir is made up of 26 girls and two boys aged 10 to 18. They left three months ago for the tour.

Farewell Parade Saturday ---Troops Sorry to Leave

The massed parade of Victoria's garrison of infantry, artillery and engineers on Army Day, Saturday, will be a reluctant farewell to a city they have loved.

In the words of garrison commander Lt.-Col. J. C. Cave:

"We feel it keenly—leaving this place, because they've had a wonderful time here. This is a beautiful city to be posted to.

"They're quite happy to go to their postings elsewhere, but they certainly loved it here."

Col. Cave stressed: "We are leaving the garrison as a body."

The troops going to new duties are men Victoria has grown to know well and accept as part of the city.

"The mayor has been very conscious of the army, and so are the people. They have been very kind," he said.

"Here you feel perfectly at ease in uniform everywhere you go. It's a garrison town."

And the garrison town will line its streets come rain or shine to see Second Battalion Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, 4th Light Anti-Aircraft Battery, RCA, and 3rd Field Squadron, RCE, parade to Beacon Hill Park at 1 p.m.

They will be led by QOR Battalion Bugles and the militia band of 5th Medium Battery, with QOR commanding officer, Lt.-Col. R. F. MacKay as parade commander.

GERMANY-BOUND

The riflemen are heading for duty with Canada's contingent to NATO forces in West Germany.

Gunners will join their regiment at Picton, Ont., or take postings with other artillery units in Canada.

The engineers will replace 4 Field Squadron at Camp Chilliwack.

All will have moved out of their respective barracks at Camp Gordon Head and Work Point by Oct. 15.

Before the end of October the advance party of a new battalion fresh from duty in Germany —First Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry—will arrive at Work Point to prepare the way for the rest of the unit.

The Pats, whose prewar home was Victoria, are expected to be settled in by New Year's, 1958.

ROUTE

Parading from Athletic Park by way of Cook, Pandora and Douglas, the units — some 500 strong—will arrive at the Beacon Hill Park football field at about 1.30 p.m.

On a dais at the eastern edge of the field, near the cairn marking King George VI presentation of color to Pacific Naval Command in 1939, Col. Cave will stand with Mayor Percy Scurrah and the reeves of surrounding municipalities—Reeve A. C. Wurtele, Esquimalt; Reeve Arthur Ash, Saanich, and Reeve Fred Norris, Oak Bay.

Brig. John Adam will represent 23 Militia Group.

They will inspect the assembled ranks.

The platform party will proceed to another dais on Dallas Road below Beacon Hill to take a march-past salute.

Citizens who miss the parade through town to the park may see the artillery and 5 Battery Band march back through the downtown area by way of Cook as they return to Work Point and Bay Street Armoury.

Passmore Fails To Block $500 For C of C Fete

Saanich Coun. Leslie Passmore lost a one-man fight Thursday night to rescind council's earlier decision to donate $500 for the dinner for the forthcoming national convention of the Chamber of Commerce here.

He said he had made a mistake when he voted in favor of the donation and told council "we should be big enough to admit we made a mistake."

OFF HOOK

When no other councillor would second his motion, he added "that's okay, at least I'm off the hook."

Agreeing with a letter from Victoria Labor Council that noted the donation "with regret," Coun. Passmore warned "we have created a precedent which will be hard to live down."

He pointed out that similar requests from Saanich Women's Institute and Victoria Symphony Society had been turned down and resentment would be created by carrying through the donation.

"I'm not trying to get off the hook," Reeve Arthur Ash replied. "And I'm not scared of some letters to the papers."

NEVER AGAIN?

He said the chamber's convention would bring money to the area. Cities all over Canada vied for the honor and it "may never come here again."

"I think it would be a terrible thing if it is rescinded now. The delegates would go home and say what a cheap outfit we are. This is a tourist centre and we can't afford that kind of publicity."

$14,000 GIVEN

Reeve Ash added that local members of the chamber have contributed $14,000 toward the convention arrangements.

Coun. E. J. Diespecker said: "I still believe we will get value for the $500."

The Magic Key

At the corner of View and Broad Streets there's a place that sells keys. Magic keys, these are—keys which unlock the doorway to a garden of pleasure, which make the possessor heir to age-old experiences as delightful and distracting as the songs the sirens sang.

Each key, though it fits the same door, opens the way to a different vista of beauty—for the garden which you behold is within yourself as well as outside, and you find there the joys which you particularly desire — the ones which can most surely soothe your spirit and uplift your soul.

Being magic, they do not even look like keys — they look like slips of pasteboard, covered with many a cabalistic sign, no doubt invoking the gods and thus conjuring up the marvels desired. Be not afraid to read closely—no evil attends these strange symbols, nothing but joy and gladness, goodness and golden gain.

And what rich treasures are demanded for such magic keys? Must one bring the Cyclops' eye, the Golden Fleece, vials of spikenard or great ingots of gold to exchange for such rare instruments? Indeed no — for a miserly sum (as little as $9.00 in depreciated, inflated, 1957 dollars) you too can be the owner of a true magic key—a Symphony Season Ticket.

Symphony Box Office, Main Floor, Eaton's House Furnishings Building.

6 FUNERALS

GIBSON—The little pioneer Church of St. Stephen's, in the shelter of Mt. Newton, and overlooking the waters of the Saanich Inlet, was filled to overflowing by a congregation of friends on Saturday, September 14th, who came to the Memorial Service held for Major E. Rex Gibson, President of the Alpine Club of Canada. Many members of the Alpine Club came from Vancouver, and some from even farther, and his many friends in Saanich and Victoria, and members of the Victoria Section and other clubs were represented. The beautiful service was conducted by the Rector, Dr. E. H. Lee, who spoke of the loss to the community at home, and to the Alpine Club; and of Rex's tireless energy and of the help that he gave to all. The hymns chosen for the service were some of those used in the Alpine Club camp. Rex's family would like to record their grateful thanks to the many friends who attended the Memorial Service, and all those who have helped them in their time of sorrow and loss.

INGLEDEW—On Monday morning at 10:30 in McCall Bros.' Floral Funeral Chapel in the presence of many friends, Rev. Canon F. Pike conducted funeral services for the late Mr. George Ingledew of 376 Beach Drive, Victoria. The late Mr. Ingledew, a well-known resident of this city since 1912 was held in high esteem by all who knew him. Many beautiful floral arrangements were received and the congregation sang the familiar hymn "Rock of Ages." The following gentlemen served as pallbearers: Messrs. Charles Chitty, F. Crocker, James Edward (George Ford), Capt. Percy A. Green, M.C., M.M., and C. Kinloch. Cremation services were held at Royal Oak Crematorium. Floral offerings were forwarded to the O.V.A. hospital.

8 CARD of THANKS

Mr. Seymour and family wish to thank their many friends, neighbors and relatives for their many kind expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings in his recent bereavement in the loss of his dear wife, the late Sarah Wallace Seymour. Special thanks to Rev. Wray for his very consoling words, also to Dr. Bishop and the nurses and staff of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Mrs. J. Hunt wishes to thank all neighbors and friends for their kind sympathy in her recent bereavement in the loss of her son, Kenneth Hunt.

9 IN MEMORIAM

WILLS—In memory of Dad, George Wills, passed away Sept. 17, 1954.
His charming ways and smiling face
Are a pleasure to recall.
He had a kindly word for each and died beloved by all.
—From his loving wife and family.

Asiatic Flu Spreads Through British Navy

LONDON (AP) — Outbreaks of suspected Asian flu spread today through the Royal Navy and threatened to close schools and industry in some parts of Britain.

Four ships scheduled to take part in the NATO Exercise Strikeback stayed behind when the rest of the allied fleet sailed for the rendezvous point.

The navy's worst outbreak was at HMS Ganges, a training establishment near Ipswich on the English east coast, where 631 cases were reported.

The illness also struck at crews of three destroyers in the Firth of Clyde, Scotland, and one at Chatham, in the Thames Estuary.

At the north Midland city of Derby 60 bus drivers were down with flu. At one Derby school, 129 children were ill.

★★★★ BULLETINS

Constable Worse

MONTREAL (CP) — Ronald Pitt, the police constable shot down last month in a gun duel in Morrisburg, Ont., has taken a turn for the worse in the Montreal Neurological Institute.

An institute spokesman today described his condition as "very critical." It changed suddenly Monday night.

Canyens Sign

MONTREAL (BUP) — All-star defenceman Doug Harvey and hard-shooting right-winger Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion ended their brief holdouts today and signed contracts with National Hockey League Montreal Canadiens.

Both were reported to have been granted salary boosts. They said they were happy with the new contracts.

$3,000 Robbery

TORONTO (CP)—Two men held up a branch of the Bank of Montreal at King and Market Streets in downtown Toronto shortly before noon today and escaped in a car with $3,000 in cash.

Man Loses Legs

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) —Jack Forrest, 35, who arrived from England a few weeks ago, lost both his legs after being crushed under the wheels of a freight car early today.

Police believe Forrest was riding the car when he fell onto the track in the Canadian Pacific Railway yards at Coquitlam and was run over.

His condition was later reported "poor."

AFL-CIO Set To Oust Teamsters

NEW YORK (AP) — The AFL-CIO ethical practices committee was reported today to have set the stage for possible suspension or ouster of the teamsters' union from the merged labor federation.

The committee was said to have authorized drafting of a report declaring the truck union is under corrupt influence in violation of the anti-racketeering provisions of the AFL-CIO constitution.

The committee was reported to have upheld charges of racketeering, misuse of union funds and other corruption at a closed meeting here Monday.

This development was reported shortly after Senator John McClellan (Dem., Ark.), chairman of the Senate committee investigating rackets in labor and management, announced in Washington that the committee plans to resume its investigation of James R. Hoffa, a vice-president of the teamsters. The hearing were scheduled to start Sept. 24.

Pull Out Armed Guards Mayor's Plea to Faubus

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Little Rock Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann formally appealed to Governor Orval Faubus today to withdraw armed guards from Central High School in the interest of "compliance with law and order."

The mayor's statement came in the wake of these developments in the clash over integration of the races:

1. The U.S. district-attorney's office disclosed it has drawn up a list of "about 200" names of persons who may be subpoenaed to appear at Friday's hearing on a petition for a preliminary injunction against Faubus.

2. Representative Brooks Hays (Dem., Ark.) came from a conference with the governor and said they would go on with their talks later today. Asked about the possibility of a settlement of the controversy before Friday, Hays said: "I don't think I am in a position to discuss that."

Hays is the Arkansas Democrat who helped arrange Saturday's meeting between President Eisenhower and Faubus.

The contingent of guardsmen, who have kept Negroes from entering the 2,000-pupil school at Faubus' direction, was reduced to about a dozen today.

Mothers Act To Forestall Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP)—A Little Rock lawyer sought a delaying action today that could block federal intervention in the city's embittered integration dispute for up to three months.

Attorney Griffin Smith, Jr., representing the Central High School Mothers' League, mailed an appeal to the eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis against a forthwith integration order handed down Aug. 30 by U.S. District Judge Ronald Davies.

Even though Smith said he plans to carry on "as soon as possible," he legally has 90 days from the time his appeal is filed to state his case in the appellate court.

Thus Smith's appeal could forestall any federal action to force Governor Orval E. Faubus to remove national guards troops from Central High, until the higher court hears the appeal and makes its decision.

Opening Battle Against Rocks Wednesday Night

Long Branch Pontiacs will arrive in Victoria to meet Victoria Shamrocks Wednesday night in the Mann Cup Dominion boxla finals, Canadian lacrosse officials reported at press time today.

Confirmation of the Long Branch replacement for Peterborough Timbermen stalled a last-ditch effort of the Petes to block the series

Tommy Gordon, secretary of the Canadian Lacrosse Association announced the Pontiacs would open a best-of-seven series for the Mann Cup at Memorial Arena at 8.30.

Gordon said that confirmation of the Pontiacs' arrival had come from Chuck Rowan of Dundas, Ont., second vice-president of the CLA.

At least four players with the Peterborough club have escaped suspensions.

Bert Duffus, vice-president of the Timbermen, said this afternoon that two Peterborough juniors—Ron Jay and Paul Parnell—and two replacements picked up by the club—Fliori Tomchisen of Long Branch and Doug Smith of St. Catherines—would remain in Victoria to play with the Pontiacs.

Peterborough officials, who learned of the decision in a meeting with CLA executive, also announced that the Petes would leave Victoria Wednesday, although not yet certain if trip back would be made by train or by air.

Pontiacs will replace Peterborough Timbermen, suspended indefinitely when they refused to play the scheduled opening game of the original series here Monday night.

Peterborough refused to play in Monday night's opener against the Shamrocks because scoring star Bobby Allan was ruled ineligible.

FINISHED SECOND

Pontiacs finished only two points behind the Petes in the Ontario Senior Lacrosse League this season.

Allan was declared ineligible because he signed two player forms this year—one for Nanaimo and one for Peterborough.

The game was cancelled and 3,300 fans went home angry, disappointed and confused.

Peterborough officials and players were suspended indefinitely.

While CLA officials here finalized plans for the younger Pontiacs to replace the Petes, Peterborough officials in the east started a move to block the Long Branch club from participation in the series.

The Petes, stranded here, were keeping telephone lines between their hotel and Peterborough sizzling and declining comment on their next actions.

UP IN ARMS

In Peterborough, club directors were up in arms over the suspension of the eastern champions.

A spokesman for Peterborough directors said they had been informed that Fred Conrad of St. Catherines, vice-president of the Ontario Lacrosse Association had agreed to call an OLA meeting on the matter.

Long Branch manager Frank Ruse told CLA officials he was delighted at the opportunity to play.

CLA president Ted Blair and other CLA officials in Victoria were also attempting to decide on punishment for the Petes.

Blair stated Monday night that he favored life suspensions from lacrosse and all amateur sports for club officials and most of the players.

The Peterborough club took the view that CLA officials should have asked the OLA for a replacement rather than contacting the Pontiacs directly.

CLA officials said Peterborough had been told that Allan was ineligible to play last June and again on Aug. 12. Allan was reported to have signed

CANADA-U.S. AIR DEFENCES

Hornets' Nest Ready For Enemy Aircraft

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Times Staff Reporter

SEATTLE, Washington—Should enemy aircraft ever attack the North American continent they will be in for a warm welcome.

Canadian and American newsmen received that assurance today on being shown some of the latest defence equipment now being manufactured at the Boeing Airplane Company's plant.

We are here as guests of the North American Air Defence Command (NORAD)—an organization set up to control all North America's air defence forces in wartime, with Canada and the U.S. participating as equal partners.

And NORAD officials are sparing no effort to show us how the newly-integrated Canada-U.S. air defence system would operate in an emergency.

There is, for instance, the BOMARC IM-99 pilotless interceptor, now entering on a new operational phase.

The BOMARC is the first unmanned interceptor scheduled for operational use in the North American Air Defence system. It is capable of carrying a nuclear war head and of knocking down enemy bombers flying at extremely high altitudes.

The missile has already made spectacular interceptions of drone aircraft in a continuing series of firings at Patrick Air Force Base, Florida, and it will soon be tested under actual operational conditions.

It is described as the longest-ranged supersonic ground-to-air missile in the NORAD arsenal.

It has a wing span of 18 feet, weighs about 15,000 pounds and stands at 47 feet before launching. It is powered initially on take-off by a rocket engine but, once

New UN Session Gets Underway

Smith Plans Early Statement On Policy of Canadian Gov't

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand was elected president of the 12th UN General Assembly today.

His only opponent, Charles Malik of Lebanon, withdrew from the contest.

Malik said he was yielding to Munro in the interest of harmony.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Another General Assembly of the United Nations—the 12th since the world organization was created after the Second World War—was called today for another session of dealing with global problems on a parliamentary level.

Sidney Smith, Canada's new external affairs minister, was on hand for the opening session.

After his arrival from Ottawa late Monday Smith conferred with Canadian delegation members.

Smith plans to make a major Canadian policy statement before the assembly early in session.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker is expected to arrive some time next weekend to make a brief appearance in the assembly and the external affairs minister's speech more than likely will be timed to coincide with this visit.

Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand today was making his farewell appearance as assembly president, preparatory to taking over his new task as UN investigator of the Hungarian question.

The perennial problem of a UN seat for Communist China also held interest today, but Peiping's renewed bid for membership was headed for another certain rebuff.

1 Lost in Ship Blast, Tacoma Homes Rocked

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—With an earth-shattering explosion that rocked most of Tacoma, the 800-ton fishing vessel Pacific Queen was ripped apart today and one man was believed dead in the charred hulk.

The missing man is Bill Webber, San Jose, Calif., a ship's welder.

Another man aboard the ship, Nick Medak, San Pedro, Calif., managed to escape, clad only in his shorts. He was near hysteria when he talked to firemen.

The tremendous blast occurred a few minutes after 4 a.m. as the Pacific Queen, fresh from unloading a cargo of Alaskan salmon in Seattle, was tied alongside Tacoma's old town dock.

Cause of the explosion is not known, but ammonia fumes spilled from the vessel for several hours after the blast, which was reported to have knocked out house windows two blocks away and heaved several persons from their beds.

Firemen, working frantically against the tide in the fast-sinking ship, entered the smoking hulk to search for Webber. They entered the room in which he was supposed to have been trapped, found nothing.

DIEFENBAKER NOW 'RT. HON.'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Queen has approved an order entitling Prime Minister Diefenbaker to be styled "the right honorable," his office said today.

Word had been received from London Monday that she had approved the order, a result of Mr. Diefenbaker's appointment to the Queen's Privy Council, announced by Prime Minister Macmillan of the United Kingdom Sunday.

playing forms for two teams this season.

Peterborough blamed the CLA.

"The CLA has been wrong on the Allan case for two years," said Bob Peirson, past president of the Petes. "The CLA knew Allan had no release from the Ontario Lacrosse Association yet they let him play for Nanaimo all season in British Columbia and even in the Mann Cup series. This despite their own ruling that no club could lose more than one player a season to another in branch-to-branch transfers, and Nanaimo already had Harry Whipper from us in 1956 before Allan joined him."

"Furthermore we had permission from OLA president Ted Blair this season to play Allan, and now Blair has joined western CLA officials in claiming Allan isn't eligible to play for our team. Allan signed a certificate this spring to play for Nanaimo but he was never a resident this year of B.C. and he did not receive an OLA release, so how can they claim him out there?" asked Peirson.

WON'T PAY

"It is the CLA not Peterborough or the OLA which is breaking the rules in this case," said Peirson.

Team officials here discussed means of getting the team back to Peterborough as the CLA has announced it won't foot the bill.

Dr. Epping, another past president, said he understood that other officials with the team in Victoria were to meet with CLA officials later today.

He said: "We'll get our team home, don't worry about that. There's too much civic pride in our team and the Petes are too well liked to be left stranded out west."

In Toronto, Long Branch were reported today to be seeking Ross Powless, Tony D'Amico and Gerry Fitzgerald from Hamilton Lincoln Burners.

Peterborough's refusal to play Monday night was announced after they kept 3,000 Memorial Arena fans waiting for about 45 minutes while discussions were held.

An ultimatum was delivered to the team by CLA secretary Tommy Gordon after the Pètes had been closeted far about 40 minutes.

A few minutes after the ultimatum was delivered, the game cancellation was announced to the restless fans.

CLA officials also announced they were cutting off "immediately" all payment of hotel and food bills for the Timbermen and that the team would have to pay its own way back to Ontario. The team also forfeited a $1,000 bond posted with the CLA.

Bungling by Ottawa Charged by Pastor

TERRACE, B.C. (CP) — A clergyman has charged the federal government with bungling in the opening of the new federal building here.

Following is the statement made by Rev. C. L. Collins, United Church minister:

It is the understanding of a great many people here that such a matter as the opening of the federal buildings is the concern of all the people and that all the public should be represented.

Many people believe that the Conservatives were a bunch of amateurs in charge of a professional job and that arrangements were bungled.

GREAT INCONSISTENCY

On seeing handwritten posters displayed announcing the opening and inquiring as to what arrangements were made for a religious dedication of the building, one minister was informed that "the government wishes to keep away from religion in these affairs."

There was not an invitation sent to one of the clergy of the 14 different denominations in Terrace.

It brings out a great inconsistency. Religious services are used at the openings of parliament and yet when government buildings are opened they suddenly want nothing to do with religion.

To sum it up the things which have caused much criticism in connection with the fiasco are:

There was no dedicatory service by any religious body;

The whole affair was arranged by and seemed to be in the charge of the architect;

The wrong federal minister was sent in to do the job. This was not a defence department affair (Defence Minister Pearkes officially opened the building) but was a department of public works and post office building;

The ex-member of the Skeena riding was not invited even after representations had been made by our own Conservative organization;

The Union Jack is not a decorative table cloth. It should have been hanging from the staff not draped over the table;

All organizations should have been consulted before the announcement of the opening was made;

We have a new government in Canada. They are a group of Christian gentlemen headed by a fine, sincere Christian man in charge of affairs. Let them remember that God expects these men to administer in a Christian way. We will succeed if due deference is shown him in all our undertakings.

Jet Decision Soon

speed is attained, two air-breathing ram-jet engines take over.

The ram-jet engine differs from the regular jet engine in that it has no spinning turbine blades to compress the atmosphere before it is put in motion.

Compression for the ram-jet is supplied entirely by the high-speed impact of the engine's intake.

Importance of the Bomarc in the NORAD scheme of air defence was highlighted recently by an announcement from U.S. Air Force headquarters.

It disclosed that, in spite of a current military austerity program, $139,000,000 has been earmarked for quantity production of the Bomarc.

First step in the new program is the construction of a tactical Bomarc launching site complete with all equipment and communications necessary to put the ground-to-air supersonic missile on a ready-to-fire basis.

Through practical tests NORAD will determine the tactical suitability of the ramjet-powered interceptor, its launching, guidance, support and testing equipment.

The base will also be used to train NORAD personnel in operation of the missile from field assembly to firing.

Three key staff officers from NORAD headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colorado, gave newsmen an operational briefing to show how the combined Canada-U.S. group would swing into action in event of an enemy air attack.

Air Commodore A. D. Ross, commander 5th Air Division, Royal Canadian Air Force, Vancouver, presented a report on the Canadian portion of NORAD.

Russ Jets Too Noisy

LONDON (UP) — The British government asked Russia today to keep its TU-104 jet airliner away from London airport during the night because it makes so much noise.
